AIRPLANES BOMBARD L. A.

SKY CRAFT USHER IN THIRD LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE AT DAYBREAK

Explosions of Mortars and Bombs Greet Fleet of Military Aviators from North Island Who Arrive at Dawn to Participate in Great Patriotic Ceremonies for Opening of Huge Campaign

FLYING at an altitude of from 1000 to 3000 feet, a squadron of military airplanes from Rockwell Field, North Island, piloted by Majs. Edwin B. Lyon and Henry Muhlenberg, Capt. Frederick Glass and Civilian Instructors C. R. Todd and Ira Biffle, at dawn this morning appeared over the southwestern part of the city, dropping "bombs" of Liberty Loan literature and ushering in the drive for third issue of the Liberty Loan in Southern California. The military sky craft made their first appearance just as day broke, and the whirring of the propellers of the air fleet brought the residents of the southwest to their front doors, where they observed the mammoth ships silhouetted against the rising eastern sun.

Consternation reigned in many households and many calls were sent to Police Station asking information as to the presence of the machines. Hardly had the craft made one circle of the city before mortars located on vacant lots in different sections of the city blasted forth their greeting. The noise of the bursting bombs in the still morning air added to the terror which was first felt when the planes made their appearance.

After the sky craft had maneuvered in spectacular gyrations the fleet suddenly separated, spreading fan-fashioned over the entire city, and started the duty for which they had come—to bring home to the people the necessity of making the Third Liberty Loan issue a success, and demonstrating how easily a hostile raid could be made on this or any other city of the United States, if the machinery of government is not kept in motion.

Simultaneously appeals for Angelenos to purchase bonds were distributed from the air. Due to the incessant explosions from the big mortars and the bombs that were thrown high into the air. First a gun in the center of the city could be heard to roar forth and in a few seconds the sharp crack of the explosive bomb would rent the air, followed by other and fainter explosions as each mortar belched forth its charge.

Never before in the history of the war has the conflict and its magnitude been brought home so to Angelenos as in the great demonstration. It required only a slight stretch of the imagination the turning of these peaceful craft into death-dealing machines of terror can be conceived. Imagine just such a fleet of German airplanes, flying from a German base in Lower Alsace, over the city, spreading over the city, spreading death and destruction.

TIDAL WAVE OF HUN ARMY NOW BROKEN, STATES GEN. FOCH

Commander-in-chief of Allied Army in First Interview Gives Optimistic Message; Huns Fail to Resume Their Attacks North of Montdidier but Smashes Against British are Repulsed

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Tuesday, April 4.—Gen. Foch, the new commander-in-chief, in welcoming the Associated Press and other war correspondents tonight, said he hoped they would continue to work for the interests of the common cause of the Allies, as they hitherto had done. Pointing to a map, Gen. Foch said:

"All is going well. Look at the small advances made by the boche, to call them by their real name, during the 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th. It is now the 4th of April, and it is clearly evident that the great tidal wave of the German army has been broken in spirit, evidently because it met an obstacle. Now they are against an embankment and completely stopped.

"The future will show the full measure of our success. We are going to try to do better and to get the upper hand of the boche. I cannot say what will happen, but all is going well."

Gen. Foch spoke with cool confidence. Every action, every glance portrayed a strong man, fully alive to his task, and prepared to deal with it.

SHORT-LIVED OFFENSIVE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 5.—About the time of the assault delivered today against the British on the Albert sector the Germans also sent strong forces against the defenses north of Abbainville. This offensive move was short-lived, however, for the British threw the enemy back with heavy losses.

It is believed that the German operations about Albert were undertaken mainly for the purpose of getting hold of the railway running southwest to Amiens, but that they had the additional object of straightening the enemy's lines in this zone.

The attack was launched at 8 o'clock after an intense bombardment of the defending position. Six enemy divisions were employed in the early hours of the fighting, which was exceedingly bitter. North of Albert the British clung tenaciously to their line, but just to the south the Germans pivoted out from Albert and swung their front westward from Darnancourt until it reached the railway on which the defenders were making a gallant stand.

Both these attacks today and those delivered below the Somme yesterday appear to have been

Millions of Men for Productive Labor Expected to Result from Working of New Draft

"Two Birds."

REGISTRATION TO REACH INDUSTRIAL SLACKERS.

"Purification" of Classification Lists of Those Called to Army May Solve Labor Problem.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Drastic modification of the draft classification lists which would affect in one way or another the status of everyone of the millions of registered men is proposed in a plan submitted to President Wilson today by officials of the Provost-Marshal-General's office and the Department of Labor. While the primary purpose of the new programme is the "purification" of the second, third and fourth classes of registrants who are not engaged in any productive industry, attention also would be given to lower sections of class 1 and the effect, its framers believe, would be to solve the nation's labor problem and largely increase the output of the necessities of life.

The proposal would utilize the draft machinery for putting industrial slackers to work.

It is proposed to make a most careful survey of the lower sections of class 1 and of other classes to identify those men who are idlers or who are gaining their living through undesirable or "harmful" pursuits. Under the latter head, officials suggest, might be listed gamblers, bookmakers for races, pool-room touts and others.

GIVEN CHANCE.

Formal notification would be served upon the men that unless within a specified time they obtained employment in some useful industry they would have their classified status changed so as to send them into military service immediately.

The plan is not designed to interfere in the slightest with the so-called nonessential industries.

Administration officials declare that the next step would be to obtain authority for the industrial classification of the man power of the country up to the age of 50 years.

To make the programme fully effective, it is intended to utilize the existing local boards virtually as employment agencies for their districts. When a man was informed that he must seek a useful occupation he would be told where just such a man, as his questionnaire shows him to be, was needed.

OPERATION.

The status of men on the classified lists, both in class 1 and in the deferred classes, in the opinion of the Provost-Marshal-General's office, would be improved. Delinquents who did not heed the warning would be inducted into the military service, reducing the number of men to be called from class 1. This would operate to delay still further the date when the services of men in class 2 might be needed. This fact is expected to draw to the aid of the "purification" relatives and friends of boys who are about to be called.

That determined opposition to the plan will develop in some quarters has been foreseen. The effect upon the labor market of the addition of many thousands of able-bodied workers might be to reduce the present wage scales. The economic balance will be kept even, however, according to the champions of the programme, by the reduction in the cost of life's necessities through increased output and in the improved situation of the dollar in interest exchange. No indication has been given of the attitude which President Wilson will take, though army officials are confident he will give his approval.

Texans Ask More Troops.

Resolutions of the Cattle Men Addressed to the President and Governor.

Americans Demand Protection from Frequent Incursions of Bandits.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VAN HORN (Tex.) April 5.—A resolution addressed to the President and the Governor of Texas was adopted here by the Executive Committee appointed by cattlemen and ranchers, who met here to determine upon a plan for protecting the American border from bandit raids. The resolution declared Mexican raids on American soil were growing more numerous and were becoming a great menace to the lives and properties of American citizens in the border country between El Paso and the Pecos River.

The resolution praised Col. George T. Langhorne's work in command of the Big Bend military district, but asked that more troops be sent to the border country to protect settlers here. Attention was called to the fact that the cattlemen had suffered from the recent drought and also from the Mexican raids, which, the resolution stated, "had placed a burden upon the citizens few people were called upon to bear."

NO QUARTER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VALENTINE (Tex.) April 5.—No quarter is shown marauding Mexicans who disturb the peace of the Rio Grande border region. This policy on the part of Texas Rangers and American troops was adopted recently with the result that it is notable that when engagements are had with raiding bands of outlaws no prisoners are taken. It is a warfare of extermination so far as the guardians of the frontier are concerned. Not only are the bandits to be wiped out, but the villages on the Texas and Mexico sides of the international boundary stream in which they make their rendezvous are to be effaced. The first step in this direction was taken several days ago when a detachment of United States cavalry invaded Mexico in pursuit of a band of brigands, and in the course of their good work blew up with dynamite several buildings in the town of Pilares. This destructive process resulted in routing a number of Mexican outlaws out of their secret lairs and they were killed. The American troops invaded Mexico to avenge the murder of Glenn Nevill, a young American ranchman who lived near here. Nevill was killed by a band of Mexican raiders. The pursuit of the outlaws by United States soldiers resulted in the killing of fifteen members of the raiding band.

From one end of the Rio Grande border to the other ranchmen and American citizens generally are thoroughly aroused over the frequent raids of Mexican bandits. In all of the counties home guards are being formed for the purpose of dealing with the disturbing element. The systematic way in which these raids are made is taken as an indication that they are the result of an organized attempt that has for its purpose the terrorizing of the people of the border region and thus if possible cause the keeping of a large military force upon the Rio Grande. This evident object is not to be gained, however, as the protection of the border is to be turned over to home people, and the United States troops are being rapidly withdrawn to take up service. That carefully planned German propaganda is back of the border raids is well known to United States government officials upon the Rio Grande. In order to guard against any possible communication between the German propagandists of Mexico and German spies in this country, every stranger who enters the border region is promptly taken into custody and held until his identity and the purpose of his visit is cleared up. Many arrests have already been made. All Mexicans who cannot give a satisfactory explanation of their presence in the carefully guarded territory also are placed in safe keeping. Every crossing point on the Rio Grande is guarded day and night. Orders were recently issued that river guards and customs inspectors shall fire without warning upon any person who attempts to cross the river without having first been inspected and granted a permit. The American side will be guarded by not less than 50,000 well-armed men, all belonging to the home guards, within the next few weeks. This force will be organized into companies and ready at all times for instant service. It will be largely composed of the older men of the ranches and frontier communities, practically all of whom are dead shots and hard riders.

SUPERIOR NUMBERS FAIL TO BREAK FRENCH LINE.

Reckless Use of Effectives Only Add to German Slaughter, Says Paris.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 5.—German forces continued their attacks during the night, says the official statement issued today by the War Office. Despite the superiority of the German effectives, which the statement says were spent recklessly, the Teutons were unable to reach their objective, which was the railway from Amiens to Clermont.

The French regiments by their resistance and counter-attacks, maintained the line in its entirety, the War Office announced.

The French troops conquered the greater part of Epinette wood, north of the town of Orvillere-Sorel. All German efforts to dislodge the Frenchmen were in vain.

FRENCH GAINS.

The French captured St. Aignan farm, southeast of Grivesnes, and held it against all assaults. In the north the French withdrew their positions to the west of Castel. They threw back the Germans from Arrierecour wood, west of Mailly Rameval.

The text of the War Office statement follows:

"The Germans continued their attacks during the night with undimished violence, throwing fresh forces into the battle. We have identified fifteen divisions on this part of the front, seven of them fresh ones.

"Notwithstanding the marked superiority in the strength of the enemy forces, which the Germans used up recklessly, they did not obtain their objective, which was the railway from Amiens to Clermont, as is shown by documents found on prisoners.

LINES MAINTAINED.

"French regiments, resisting step by step and counter-attacking energetically, maintained their line in its entirety and inflicted cruel losses on the enemy.

"Meanwhile, in the north, the French withdrew their positions to the west of Castel. They ejected the Germans from Arrierecour wood, west of Mailly-Rameval. Southeast of Grivesnes a brilliant counter-attack gave the French the St. Aignan farm, which they held against all assaults.

"Between Montdidier and Noyon the artillery fighting became very intense. French troops attacked the German lines and obtained possession of the greater part of Epinette wood, 600 yards north of Orvillers-Sorel. All efforts of the Germans to dislodge the French were vain.

"Further east a local operation enabled the French to enlarge their positions north of Mont Benaud, which the Germans, notwithstanding their false statements, were never able to take from the French."

At British Front.

MACHINE GUN AND RIFLE DECIMATE ENEMY FORCE.

Dense Waves of Germans Compel Slight Recessions in Haig's Line.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 5.—"After a heavy bombardment of our lines from a great concentration of his mobile artillery, the enemy infantry attacked our positions at about 7 o'clock yesterday morning," says a Reuters' Limited dispatch from the British headquarters in France. "The usual principle of attacking in dense waves was followed by the Germans. The assault was over a wide front and appears to have had for its object a converging movement on the town of Corbie.

"Along the greater part of the front the Germans were held and lost very heavily through machine-gun and rifle fire," the dispatch continues, "but in the neighborhood of Hamel, a little salient in our line was straightened out under heavy pressure by the enemy. The first counter-attack delivered by the British troops was not in sufficient weight to restore the position."

The town of Corbie referred to in the foregoing dispatch is the confluence of the Somme and Ancre rivers and is about three and a half miles west of the present line.

AMERICA RUSHING MEN ACROSS TO BACK ALLIES.

Pershing's Veteran Troops Fighting at Front; Foch Asserts Germans will not Take Amiens.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Development of the second phase of the German drive in Picardy was watched closely here today, army officers apparently feeling that the critical point of the great struggle is rapidly approaching.

Meager official reports gave little information on which to base definite opinions as to the trend of the fighting, though it seemed evident that the Germans were trying to force a foothold in strategic positions before Amiens, and at the same time to increase pressure against the junction point between the French and British armies.

Under the new policy laid down by Secretary Baker, the War Department again had nothing to add to official reports from London and Paris on the battle.

INCREASE DRAFT.

The department is forging ahead with its efforts to speed additional American forces across the water to back up the beleaguered lines. One element of the speeding up plans was learned authoritatively. The first increment of the second draft, to be summoned this month, will be 150,000 men, instead of 50,000, as previously planned. They will be the first considerable force mobilized of the 800,000 drafted men to be called out in monthly installments, the size of which will depend to some extent upon availability of shipping to transport men already in training, to the front.

There are indications that troop movements toward the seaboard of unusual proportions are already in progress. Railway passenger and freight schedules in some sections of the country have been set aside temporarily in order to give men right of way to embarkation points.

Movement of American troops already in France is screened completely behind the rigid censorship imposed by Gen. Pershing.

REGULARS LEAD.

Accounts of American movements published in England have indicated that the most seasoned veterans of Gen. Pershing's army, the men of the first expedition, are included in the units sent into the battle in Picardy. The message specified that American regulars were to bear the brunt of the first entry of the crusaders from the New World into the center of the convulsion that is shaking the Old World to its foundations.

With the increased menace against Amiens developing through the German pressure in the Albert region, officers recalled hopefully the calm confidence with which Gen. Foch, supreme commander, has asserted that the town will not fall into German hands.

RESERVES INTACT.

So far, it was said, the Allies have not been compelled to resort to the use of their reserves to meet the German effort and their additional forces are still intact, waiting an opportunity to launch a far-reaching drive.

The endurance of the Germans in this second stage of the battle is being watched closely. The French have noted that seven out of fifteen divisions hurled against their lines last night and today were newcomers to the fighting. That means that the lull which preceded this second storm was occupied by the tion in their path as they drop their deadly charges. To prevent any such a hostile attack, Liberty Loan officials emphasize that the third issue must be made a success. They are certain that Los Angeles will go "over the top" within a week or ten days, but that at any rate she must go "over the top" with colors flying before it is too late.

READY FOR CAMPAIGN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, APRIL 5.—The opening tomorrow of America's third big campaign for popular war credits, on the anniversary of the declaration of war promises to resemble Independence Day as an occasion for patriotic celebrations.

Reports tonight to headquarters of the Third Liberty Loan told of enthusiastic preparations for parades and bonfires, public meetings and loyalty speeches, to drive home appeals for subscriptions to government bonds. In many States it is a legal holiday and in scores of cities business is to be suspended part of the day to assist the celebration.

Indications tonight were that only a small part of the $3,000,000,000 war credit would be subscribed tomorrow.

SPECTACULAR.

Loan organizations probably will be too busy promoting spectacular features to actually take in subscriptions and that the real soliciting would start Monday. Small towns promise to be notable exceptions, however, for many of these are anxious to roll up their entire quota of subscriptions within a few hours after 9 o'clock, the official opening time, and thereby win for their communities the Third Liberty Loan honor flag.

President Wilson will speak at Baltimore in the evening, Secretary McAdoo at Philadelphia in the afternoon, Vice-President Marshall at St. Louis and Secretary Daniels at Cleveland.

Millions of persons throughout the country will receive their first reminder that the day is of special importance in American war history when they open their home doors in the morning and find hanging on the knob paper designs of the Liberty Bell, with the inscription, "Ring it again, buy Liberty Bonds." At the rising hour, church and fire bells in many communities will be rung and Boy Scouts will run from house to house pressing doorbells. These arrangements have been made secretly in most big cities, in order to give the citizens a surprise.

TROOPS PARADE.

A feature of the celebrations nearly everywhere will be a parade of troops. Cities located near training camps have "borrowed" units for the day, to impress the citizens who stay at home with their duty to make their dollars enlist in the Liberty war. War exhibits have been arranged in some communities, with popular speakers to emphasize the lesson of bond buying.

Airplanes from the Mineola training field will "bomb" New York with Liberty Loan literature and the "Liberty bank," a reproduction of the subtreasury, will be opened in Madison Square. A parade of citizens will march from Liberty Loan headquarters to the City Hall to be received by Mayor Hylan.

The first feature of the campaign in Washington was a play tonight under direction of the National Press Club, with Mary Pickford, Marie Dressler, Douglas Fairbanks and Charlie Chaplin taking the roles in person. The movie stars will speak tomorrow at public mass meetings and later start on tours of the country.

Fifty towns in the San Francisco reserve district tonight sent word they expected to win the honor flag before the sun goes down tomorrow.

Eighty thousand persons, including 30,000 women, are to march in a patriotic parade in Boston, with one section containing only citizens of foreign birth.

TWENTY-FIVE MILLIONS FOR A WAREHOUSE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The War Department today decided to take over water-front property between Fifty-seventh and Sixtieth streets, at Bayridge, near Brooklyn, to build a permanent $25,000,000 quartermaster's warehouse.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MENOMINEE (Mich.) April 5.—Rev. C. H. Auerswald, pastor of the German Lutheran church here, was arrested yesterday charged with making seditious remarks. The arrest of Rev. Auerswald is the fifth this week on the charge of disloyalty and making seditious remarks.

Brave Deeds of the Men in America's Fighting Service.

For gallantry in rescuing from drowning a lad 8 years of age, Secretary Daniels has commended Arthur Otto Radcliffe, a seaman of the United States Navy. Alongside of the U.S.S. Wadsworth, on which the sailor was stationed, lay a tug. A small boy played about the deck with no thought of danger. Suddenly he fell overboard. Before the warning came the child had floated seventy-five yards or more from the tug and ship. Then Radcliffe came into action. Jumping into the water he swam to the boy and brought him to safety. Radcliffe enlisted in the navy in 1915 at Des Moines, Iowa, giving as his next of kin his mother, Mrs. Bertie Radcliffe of Brownsville, Ill.

JAPANESE NAVAL FORCE LANDS IN VLADIVOSTOK.

Orientals Act Following an Attack of Russians on Mikado's Officer.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE AND A. P.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Landing of Japanese naval forces at Vladivostok to protect life and property was reported to the State Department today by the American Consul there.

The action followed an attack on a Japanese officer by five armed Russians who upon being refused money, killed one Japanese and wounded two others. The force landed was said to be small and only sufficient to prevent further disorders.

It was learned officially that the American government attaches no political significance to this incident. In other words it is not regarded as being connected in any way with the much discussed possibility of Japanese intervention in Siberia. The landing party was from a Japanese cruiser stationed in Vladivostok Harbor.

Since the return to Japan from Russia of Baron Uchida, the Japanese Minister to Petrograd, the Japanese Prime Minister has indicated clearly that Japan does not intend at present, at least, to enter Siberia in a military way without reference to the wishes of the Russian government unless some extreme emergency should arise. It has been assumed here that such an emergency would be organization of the German military prisoners in Siberia into an armed force designed to seize control of the country, or the taking possession by factions hostile to the Entente Allies of the great quantity of military stores accumulated at Vladivostok.

Neither of these contingencies has arisen at Vladivostok, and the State Department's information indicates that the trouble at that port is purely local. While the Bolshevik element predominates at the port, it never has been able to assert its authority and preserve order.

COMMUNICATION CUT.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE AND A. P.]

TOKIO, Saturday, March 30.—At the Japanese Foreign Office today it was said that no confirmation had been received of the statement published by the Nichi Nichi that the situation at Vladivostok, while not immediately critical, was becoming worse. Telegraphic communication with the Russia seaport has been virtually suspended.

The Nichi Nichi claims that the Bolshevik authorities have occupied the government offices and banks at Vladivostok. The Entente Powers, it adds have accepted the promise of the Bolsheviki to protect life and property, especially the immense supplies destined for the Russian army.

Apprehension.

GERMAN PRESS BETRAYS CONCERN OVER BATTLE.

Fear Expressed in Berlin that Promised Victory May not Materialize.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—An intercepted radio from Nauen, Germany, according to an official dispatch from France today, indicates that the Germans are asserting that the correspondents of the French and English papers on the west front are making themselves ridiculous in telling of the enormous losses the German troops suffered during the offensive.

The dispatch says what is ridiculous is the obstinacy of the Germans in refusing to recognize a disagreeable truth and recites revised figures obtained from the reports of prisoners to support previous estimates of the great German losses.

An official dispatch from Switzerland says the German press of all shades of opinion betrays the concern and disillusion of the public beyond the Rhine upon the subject of the great offensive. The Frankfurter Zeitung is quoted as saying contact has been preserved between the French and English, thanks to the intervention of Foch's army and it appears doubtful if the hope of an eventual occupation of Amiens may be still maintained.

BROLASKI PARTNER ARRESTED IN EAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—R. S. Davison, a stock broker, indicted with Harry Brolaski of Redondo Beach, Cal., and Louis D. Jennings, in connection with the sale of $300,000 of alleged worthless stock of the Standard Film Industries, was arrested here today and held in $50,000 bail for trial.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—All woolen mills in the country will be directed by the War Department today to hold their looms at the service of the government from now till July 1 in order to insure ample supplies of cloth for the army. GREATEST NUMBER ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

In Los Angeles The Times regularly prints, week in and week out, year after year, not only a larger volume of advertising, but a greater number of separate advertisements, than any other local newspaper.

This persistent day after day leadership demonstrates that The Times is far and away the most popular advertising medium in Los Angeles.

On March 31, 1918, which was another banner day for The Times, the three local newspapers printed 19,704 inches of paid advertising. Of this volume The Times columns contained 9297 inches.

The following is a tabulation of the advertising printed in the morning newspapers on the day indicated, to wit:

THE TIMES	9,297 inches
Second newspaper	6,474 "
Third newspaper	3,723 "

Of 5608 inches of popular, quick-action classified advertisements published in local newspapers last Sunday, The Times printed 3253 inches, which is 1534 inches more than the second newspaper and 2523 inches more than the third newspaper.

The foregoing facts and figures, as usual, prove beyond controversy that The Times has the greatest purchasing influence, and is used by more intelligent, discriminating and ready-buying readers, than any other one of this city's newspapers.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand copies of the incomparable Times were printed on Sunday, March 31, 1918. They were read by approximately 350,000 persons.

ALLIES SMOTHER MASSED ATTACK OF KAISER'S MEN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

IN A BATTLE which has lasted since Thursday and which probably is still continuing with utmost fury, the Germans have been hurling massed divisions against the British and French lines from far north of Albert to a short distance north of Montdidier, says the Associated Press review. Probably there has not been a more sanguinary battle fought since the beginning of the Teutonic offensive, March 21, than this, which has for its objective the driving of a wedge between the British and French armies, the cutting of the Paris-Amiens railroad south of Amiens and the capture of that city.

But, in spite of the power of the attack and the desperation of the fighting, the Eenente Allied legions have stood firm over the most of their front. At only two points have they been forced to give ground, and these seem, on the map, to be only minor successes when compared with the sacrifice of lives which they have cost. Just to the southwest

EIGHT JURORS ACCEPTED IN CHICAGO I.W.W. TRIAL.

Accused Most Unruly Lot Ever Confined in Jail, Say Officials.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 5.—Eight jurors had been tendered by the government to the defense and four of them had been tentatively accepted by both sides when the trial of 112 leaders and organizers of the Industrial Workers of the World, charged with plotting to destroy war industries by strikes, adjourned tonight.

The defense exercised the first of its ten peremptory challenges when counsel for the government asked that the first four jurors agreed upon be sworn. William Mallow of Chicago, an employer of labor, was excused.

Renewed efforts to speed up selection of a jury followed complaints from some of the 100 veniremen that their business connections make it essential that they return shortly or arrange for their absence during the trial. Night sessions may be held beginning next week.

"Judging from evidence on hand, the trial should be concluded in a month or six weeks," said Frank K. Nebeker, of counsel for the government, tonight.

WILL BRING WILLIAMS.

Benjamin H. Williams, former editor of Solidarity, an I.W.W. publication, who was arrested in Cleveland by Federal officers on the indictment returned by the Federal grand jury last September, will be brought to Chicago immediately.

"Unless Williams exercises his right of protest that the trial is already under way, he will be tried with the rest of the defendants," said Claude R. Porter, special assistant Attorney-General.

Prospective jurors examined by the government have been questioned closely as to their ancestors, the newspapers and magazines they read, their sympathies in the war before America entered and their present activities in the prosecution of the war. The government used the third of its six peremptory challenges today to excuse a veniremen whose war views did not satisfy the prosecution. Of the first seven prospective jurors examined, the government excused three because of their past or present views on the war.

EAT OUTSIDE JAIL.

For the first time in five months, eighty-eight of the defendants enjoyed their evening meal outside the County Jail. Under heavy guard, they were fed by the government at the Federal Building as a result of a petition to Judge Landis protesting against food provided at the jail.

County Jail officials said the men were given wholesome food, that in addition they received baskets of fruit and other provisions daily through the organization and that they were, as a whole, the most unruly lot ever confined in the jail.

"They have thrown bread at the guards when the entire country was striving to save bread for our soldiers," said Will T. Davis, jailer.

FRENCH GAIN GROUND NORTH OF MOUNT RENAUD

Violent Artillery Activity Between Noyon and Lassigny.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 5.—The official French statement reads:

"The Germans did not resume their attacks on the front north of Montdidier during the course of the day. Our troops have vigorously counter-attacked the enemy and have succeeded in improving their positions at several points, notably in the region of Mailly-Rameval and Cantigny, the north and west outskirts of which town are in our hands.

"The activity of both artilleries between Lassigny and Noyon has been continuously violent. A further gain of ground was realized this afternoon north of Mt. Renaud.

"Aviation: On Wednesday we brought down five German airplanes, and one captive balloon was destroyed by fire. During Tuesday night and Wednesday our bombing squadrons made numerous sorties and 23,000 kilograms of projectiles were dropped on cantonments, stations and enemy establishments. Fires were caused, notably in the stations at Laon and St. Quentin. It is confirmed that from March 31 to April 3, five other enemy airplanes were destroyed by our pilots."

merely forerunners of what may be termed the second phase of the offensive, when the Germans will strike another great blow with vast forces against some portion of the long battle front.

The engagement south of the Somme yesterday, which resulted in the British being pushed back to their defenses east of Villers-Bretonneux, was hard fought. Early yesterday morning the Germans began a tremendous bombardment of the Allied lines south of the Somme and then moved forward for the attack. The fighting continued throughout most of the day, the main weight of the enemy thrust being against the French on the right of the British. No less than fourteen German divisions were employed in this drive between the Somme and Montdidier, and three of these were famous guard units, namely, the First Guard Division, commanded by Prince Eitel Friedrich, the Guards of Essats and the Fourth Guards.

The last-named division was opposite the British on the south bank of the Somme. Notwithstanding the great advantage which the enemy had in numbers, the British flung off a succession of heavy attacks and held their own, with the exception of the sector east of Villers-Bretonneux. Here they were forced back slightly, but still retained the town.

GERMANS BEATEN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 5.—The Germans did not resume their attacks north of Montdidier during the course of the day. Our troops have by vigorous counter-attacks succeeded in improving their positions at several points, notably in the regions of Mailly-Rameval and Cantigny, the north and west outskirts of which town are in our hands, says an official statement issued tonight by the War Office.

STRONG ATTACKS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 5.—Strong attacks by the German infantry between the Somme and the vicinity of Bucquoy were delivered today, but met with virtually no success, according to the British official communication issued this evening. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans. The official statement reads:

"This morning the activity of the enemy's artillery and trench mortars increased north of the Somme and was followed by a series of strong infantry attacks all along that portion of the battle front which lies between the Somme and Bucquoy. The latest reports indicate these attacks met with virtually no success anywhere and have resulted in further casualties to the enemy.

"On the same front our troops carried out a successful attack in the neighborhood of Hebuterne. They took some 200 prisoners and a number of machine guns.

"South of the Somme there were no further attacks made on the British front by the enemy today. It is confirmed that the fighting yesterday on this front was of a most severe and persistent nature, the enemy making repeated assaults on our positions east of Villers-Bretonneux."

BATTLE NEAR ALBERT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 5.—The Germans concentrated troops early this morning near Albert, the War Office announces. British artillery took them under its fire. In the neighborhood of Bucquoy and in the Scarpe valley there was active artillery fighting during the night.

The statement follows:

"Between the Luce River and the Somme heavy fighting continued yesterday during the afternoon and evening until a late hour. The enemy employed strong forces and delivered repeated assaults on our positions. These attacks were beaten off with loss to the enemy, but our troops were pressed back a short distance to positions east of Villers-Brettonneux (about nine miles east of Amiens,) which they now maintain.

"North of the Somme the enemy's artillery has been active during the night in the neighborhood of Bucquoy and in the Scarpe Valley. Hostile concentrations early this morning in the neighborhood of Albert were engaged by our artillery."

PRESSED BACK.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 5.—The British have been pressed back a short distance on the front east of Amiens to positions east of Villers-Brettonneux, the War Office announces.

The Germans hurled large bodies of troops against the British between the Luce and Somme rivers, making repeated assaults. For the most part the enemy was thrown back with losses.

BATTLE DESCRIBED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 5.—The Germans this morning attacked the British forces on a wide front from Dernancourt, a few miles south of Albert, to Moyenneville, north of the Somme, according to a statement published by the Evening Standard.

The chief points of attack, the newspaper says, were Dernancourt, Nenin, Beaumont-Hamel, Briguery and Moyenneville.

The Germans were repulsed with heavy loss except at Dernancourt, where they made a slight gain.

There has been no attack south of the Somme so far today, the statement says.

"ALWAYS BRILLIANT," TRIBUTE TO AIRMEN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 5.—A tribute to American aviators with the British army in France who are "numerous and always brilliant," is paid by the correspondent of the Daily News. He says that American aviation mechanics also have rendered splendid aid.

Describing the air fighting on the western front, the correspondent says that never before in any army have airplanes been used in such great concentration. On one sector of the battle front as many as 300 machines are in the air at one time. The use of machine guns on enemy troops, guns and transports, by low-flying machines, he adds, has been carried to a point far beyond anything in previous experience.

ONLY TWO IN PRISON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, April 5.—Frank M. Ryan, former president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, with thirty-two others indicted in the dynamite conspiracy case, was convicted in the United States District Court here before Judge A. B. Anderson in December, 1912.

Ryan, who was sentenced to seven years at Leavenworth, and Michael J. Young, a board member of the union from Boston, Mass., are the only two of the thirty-three sentenced who are now in prison. Young was sentenced to six years.

Ryan has served approximately three years and ten months of his seven-year sentence, having been at liberty on a $70,000 bond for more than a year pending his appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The men were charged with conspiring to transport dynamite illegally. It was shown at the trial that the explosive was used to destroy structural iron construction jobs where no union men were employed in all parts of the country.

Why Germany Lost in World's Greatest Battle

"We are at the decisive moment of the war," declared the Kaiser on March 21st, as he launched his tremendous armies against fifty miles of the Allied front in France in the greatest battle of this or any war; and on the same day he declared that "the prize of victory must not and will not fail us," and announced warningly that this prize "was no soft peace but one which corresponds with Germany's interests." A week later, when the first impetus of the colossal onslaught had made a dent twenty-five miles deep in the bending but unbroken battle-line of the Allies, General von Ludendorf, who is said to be the brains of the German General Staff, announced "that victory has been won," and added significantly "but nobody can see what will result from it."

But victory was not won, as the best informed war-writers everywhere remind him. "So long as the battle ends, as there is every prospect that it will end, with our armies and those of our Allies intact and in a position as strong as they have ever occupied, Germany will have failed and failed decisively," declares Major-General McLachlan, Military attache to the British Embassy at Washington.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for April 6th deals with the terrific engagements that are raging on the Western front in France. It summarizes public opinion from all quarters on the results to date and on the ultimate outcome. Other articles of very great interest are:

PLAN REPLACEMENT DEPOTS FOR TROOPS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Plans practically approved by the War Department for a system of replacement depots where American troops will be concentrated before being sent to special training camp to be prepared for service in France to make up the wastages of war, probably will give Camp Lee, Va., over to training infantry, with the possibility of another camp later in the West. Camp Hancock, Ga., has tentatively been selected for instruction of machine gunners and Camp Meade, Md., for the Signal Corps. The engineer camp already is established at Belvoir, Va. Cavalrymen probably will be concentrated at Fort Riley, Kan., or some point near the Mexican border.

FOR COMPENSATION TO SHIP OWNERS.

CLAIMS AGAINST GOVERNMENT TO BE ADJUSTED BY A COMMITTEE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—Claims of American ship owners against the United States for compensation for ocean-going ships requisitioned by the Shipping Board and lost at sea or afterwards purchased outright by the government, are to be adjusted by a special committee of marine and insurance experts, recently named by Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board.

The committee is composed of Judge William N. Cohen, chairman; Frank S. Martin, head of the board's supervising engineers; and Robert McGregor, Geo. B. Ogden and B. Stuart Murphy. It has been officially designated as the Ocean Advisory Committee on Just Compensation, and will begin its sessions Wednesday in the customshouse here. Its work will be to hear and adjust claims advanced by owners of vessels lost through marine or war causes while in the government service or vessels to which actual title has been taken by the United States.

Awards of the committee, if not accepted in full, will be subject to appeal by the owners. Seventy-five per cent. of the award may be collected without abrogating the right of appeal, it was announced.

Between twenty and thirty claims against the government now are docketed for consideration of the committee.

CATHOLIC MESSAGE PLEDGES ALLIANCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—The Catholics of New York, through a message sent to France today by Cardinal Farley, gave voice to their indignation over the killing by means of the German long range gun of innocent persons assembled at religious services in a Paris church on Good Friday. The message also pledges unfaltering allegiance in the war for liberty and justice.

SHIP BOARD PLANS TO BUILD TANKERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Growing need for oil carriers caused the Shipping Board to decide today to begin as soon as possible the construction of a fleet of steel barges, ocean-going tugs and concrete tank steamers to replace the large number of tankers taken from the Mexican and coastwise service for trans-Atlantic trade. It is estimated that seventy-five additional steamers are required.

Three experimental concrete ships of 3500 tons each, which will be built in the government yard soon to be established in the South, will be fitted as tankers, and the experimental 7500-ton vessel to be constructed on the Pacific Coast also may be put to the same use.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OMAHA (Neb.) April 5.—William Hohenzollern was today placed on the payroll of the local Liberty Loan Committee at a salary of $1 a year. It was explained by the secretary that Mr. Hohenzollern is the best possible publicity agent for the Liberty Bonds. A check was drawn in his favor, and will tomorrow be placed in the Postoffice, together with a letter of congratulation on his excellent services.

"SOME TIME" TODAY.

Californians Should Pledge Themselves Anew, Says Gov. Stephens.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, April 5.—People of California were urged "to take some time" tomorrow, the anniversary of the entry of America into the war, "to pledge ourselves anew to the cause for which we fight," in a proclamation issued today by Gov. Stephens.

The proclamation follows:

"One year ago tomorrow the United States of America took its place beside the nations which are hazarding their existence to the end that the evils of autocracy may be obliterated. During the year we have accomplished much. We have trained and equipped an enormous army; we have taught ourselves the lessons of food conservation; but the greatest of our deeds has been the absolute unification of the patriotic spirit of the people in support of the stand the nation has taken.

"By the strength of that spirit we and our brave allies are waging this war and by that strength we will win.

"I believe that on this day we should take some time to pledge ourselves anew to the cause for which we fight and to thank God for the success we have thus far had."

COLOGNE DEATH LIST FROM RAIDS HEAVY.

BRITISH AIR BOMBS KILL 248, HALF OF WHOM ARE GERMAN SOLDIERS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

GENEVA, April 5.—The recent British aerial raids on Cologne caused 248 deaths, half of whom were soldiers, according to the latest reports received at Basel. The soldiers were in a railway train bound from the Picardy front and standing at the Cologne station.

Panic reigned in the city for twelve hours, the streets were deserted and the population hid in cellars. One report says that a major was killed.

The bodies of two Swiss, who were killed during the bombardment, arrived here yesterday and will be buried with honors.

GERMANY MULTIPLIES DEBT THIRTY TIMES.

WAR LOANS PILING UP FOR DAY OF ACCOUNTING, SAYS EDITOR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

AMSTERDAM, March 23 (by mail to New York.)—Germany's debt after the war will be thirty times what it was at the beginning, Georg Bernhard, editor of the Vossische Zeitung, declared in a lecture recently in Berlin in connection with the campaign for the eighth German war loan. The editor's speech was hardly calculated to afford his hearers much cause for rejoicing. He said that at the end of the war Germany probably will be faced with a debt of 150,000,000,000 marks as against 5,000,000,000 before the war.

ALLEGED PLOT TO KILL FAILS.

Congressman's Family Near Death from Gas.

Attempt Believed Revenge for Aid to Lenroot.

Woman, Two Children and Maid are Overcome.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) April 5.—What police and members of the family say they believe was an attempt to kill Congressman John Cooper in retaliation for his activities in behalf of Congressman Irvine L. Lenroot, successful loyalist candidate in the recent Wisconsin Senatorial election, failed last night.

Police say a fume flue in the Cooper home was disconnected, permitting fumes from a gas furnace to circulate through the house. Representative Cooper had left for Washington, but his wife, two children and a maid were overcome. Three neighbors who went to the Cooper house for a call were also overcome while they were trying to revive members of the Cooper family.

Members of the family say they saw two strange men near their home earlier last evening, and this, coupled with frequent telephone calls asking what time Congressman Cooper would return from Wisconsin, has led both the family and police to believe that the disconnecting of the flue was a deliberate attempt on the Congressman's life.

COOPER AT CAPITAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Representative Cooper has just returned from Wisconsin, where he made speeches for Senator-elect Lenroot, denouncing German sympathizers and I.W.W. Upon his return Wednesday to Youngstown, Mrs. Cooper told him a man had been suspiciously loitering about the house.

Mr. Cooper left unexpectedly for Washington Wednesday. He received word today that his oldest boy, entering the Youngstown house at 11 o'clock Wednesday night, was almost overcome by gas, and found Mrs. Cooper and four children and a maid unconscious. They could not be resuscitated for more than eight hours. Investigation disclosed that the house had been broken into and the flue pipe connecting the natural gas to the furnace had been taken down.

Mr. Cooper communicated the facts to the Department of Justice.

"I have expressed myself very freely about the I.W.W. and German sympathizers," said Mr. Cooper, "and will continue to do so," regardless of attacks of this kind. They came near killing my wife and four children, who have nothing to do with the war. I wish they would come for me—not a woman and innocent children. I'd make it warm for any one who tried to reach me in this way."

LENROOT PLEDGES LOYALTY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE, April 5.—United States Senator-elect Irvine L. Lenroot declared in a statement today that he would support President Wilson in the Senate as he did in the House in all measures helpful in the prosecution of the war.

"We are all Americans. Pull together, fight together. America must win the war," said Mr. Lenroot.

RATIFIED TREATY REACHES RUSSIA.

LIVONIA AND ESTHONIA REMAIN UNDER RUSS SOVEREIGNTY, SAYS PETROFF.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

MOSCOW, Thursday, April 4.—Peter Petroff, the Russian emissary who yesterday returned from Berlin with the ratified peace treaty signed by Chancellor Von Hertling and Emperor William, tells the Isvestia, the Bolshevik organ, that the provisions of the ratified treaty confirm the declaration of Foreign Secretary Von Kuehlmann during the Reichstag's debate that the provinces of Livonia and Esthonia, lying east of the new Russo-German frontier, are to be under Russian sovereignty.

When the correspondent asked M. Petroff for further details he declined to give them until after reporting to the government council. He expressed his personal opinion that the Ukraine, as a distinct nation, was non-existent, there being no racial differences between the people of Ukraine and of Russia.

STEEL DELIVERIES TO BE UNIFIED.

MILL AGENTS OF ARMY AND NAVY TO BE DISPLACED, IS THE REPORT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Unified direction of all steel deliveries has been decided on by the War Industries Board as a preventive of future shortages in shipbuilding or any other essential line of work. Representatives of the army and navy who have been stationed at each mill heretofore to speed the output of orders for those branches of the war work will be withdrawn and replaced by a single representative of the War Industries Board, who will be governed by the requirements division as to priorities and will see that deliveries are made before there is danger of any stoppage of work.

Chairman Baruch's plan for allocating the steel output was approved today by other government officials, who expressed the belief that future difficulties would be eliminated. Chairman Harley of the Shipping Board said he hoped that in two weeks' time the shortage of steel plates at certain shipbuilding yards would be over.

MOB STARTED IN A SALOON.

Illinois Lynchers Believed Foreign Miners.

State Officers to Attend the Coroner's Inquest.

Cabinet Fears Reprisals on War Prisoners.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLLINSVILLE (Ill.) April 5.—Formal investigation of the death of Robert P. Praeger, who was hanged last night following charges of disloyalty, will not be made until next Monday, when Roy A. Lowe, coroner of Madison county, will hold an inquest over the body. At that time representatives of the State Attorney-General and the adjutant-general will be present, prepared to carry forward any measures deemed necessary to apprehend those who participated in the hanging.

Announcement to this effect came tonight after Gov. Lowden, Atty-Gen. Brundage and United States District Attorney Knott at Springfield, Ill., had issued statements deploring the act and asking that the guilty parties be prosecuted.

Mayor J. H. Siegel of Collinsville declared he would launch no investigation on his own accord, but that he stood ready to co-operate with State and county officials.

LAWS DEMANDED.

In a statement issued tonight he asserted he had telegraphed today to Senator Overman, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, urging immediate passage of the law imposing a severe penalty on disloyalty. It is his opinion, he says, that the violence of last night was the result of a neglect by the Federal government to furnish this penalty.

"We arrested a man charged with disloyalty last Sunday," he declared, "but because of insufficient evidence under the present law we were unable to hold him. The crowd last night evidently believed that another disloyalist was about to escape and took the matter into their own hands. This deplorable act merely emphasizes the necessity for a drastic law to apply in such cases."

NO ARRESTS.

A day of investigation by county officials resulted in no arrests and none are anticipated until after the inquest Monday, according to Coroner Lowe.

So far as can be learned tonight the action of the mob was precipitous and no person as yet has stated concrete instances of disloyalty by Praeger.

It is known that he registered as an enemy alien at the office of the United States Marshal in St. Louis on June 27 last, giving his occupation as a baker. He asked for a permit to enter all barred zones to seek employment. The permit was granted. It was also discovered that he registered for the army draft on June 5 last and that in April, 1917, he caused the arrest of a man on a disloyalty charge. His friends assert he was radical in his views on Socialism, but that when the United States entered the war he declared he was "all for America."

REMARKS MAGNIFIED.

The mob idea had its inception, it was said tonight, in a saloon on the outskirts of the city, where miners from Maryville and Collinsville gathered. Many of the men were foreigners who understood little English, and it is believed the remarks of Praeger were magnified with the tragic result.

Rumors that powder had been hoarded in a mine by Praeger and that in his home were found numerous incriminating maps also, were denied tonight by the authorities.

Praeger was unmarried and so far as is known has no relatives in this country. He was born in Dresden, Germany, and came to the United States in 1905.

REPRISALS FEARED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Atty.-Gen. Gregory took to the Cabinet meeting today a report of the lynching of a German, Robert P. Praeger, at Collinsville, Ill., last night for discussion with President Wilson. The government is expected to denounce the mob's lawless act and to express the hope that there will be no repetition elsewhere.

A brief report on the lynching reached the Attorney General today from United States Attorney Charles A. Karch. Further details were asked.

Officials made plain that they deplored the incident, both because of the effect in this country and also because it is feared reprisals may be made in Germany on Americans.

Members of the Cabinet spent more than an hour discussing the Praeger lynching and on leaving the White House declared that Congress must pass laws immediately to deal with persons making disloyal statements or the people would take it upon themselves to punish offenders.

SEEK PLAN TO STOP ARMY DRUG TRAFFIC.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

Songs the Soldiers Like.

Grace Humphrey, who tells in the April Everybody's how Uncle Sam is building up a singing army, says our soldiers will have none of the so-called patriotic song that smacks of commercialism.

They used only "America," "The Star Spangled Banner" and the Battle Hymn of the Republic."

"What songs do they really like? Songs that give the feeling of brotherhood and comradeship, that express endearing sentiments of their country, and of their home life in that country. The Stephen Foster songs are perhaps the best example, and most popular. They are 'Old Black Joe,' 'Swanee River' and 'My Old Kentucky Home.' They like 'Keep the Home Fires Burning' and 'The Long, Long Trail.' Annie Laurie' and 'Auld Lang Syne' alternate with 'Over There' and 'Pack Up Your Troubles.'"

GOVERNMENT SEEKS CHEMISTRY STUDENTS.

SEVEN HUNDRED COLLEGE MEN WANTED FOR GAS SHELL FACTORY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERKELEY, April 5.—Seven hundred men are needed immediately for duty as control operatives in the United States gas shell filling plant located at Gunpowder Reservation, Edgewood, Md. The military bureau at University of California has received a call from the board of examining officers now meeting at the department headquarters in San Francisco.

Applicants for these positions should be of draft age and graduates or undergraduates of a college or university. They should have at least three years training in mechanical mining or chemical engineering. Men having three years study in technical courses including training in physics, mathematics or chemistry are eligible. The highest type of young men available is desired, for the work to be done is one of the most important functions for the prosecution of the war, and it is essential that it be carried out thoroughly and expeditiously.

Opportunities for advancement depend upon the individual. Many universities and technical training schools are permitting men in technical classes to enlist for this work with full credit on their courses for all work done in the government service. Some men responding to this call are being graduated with their regular class. Owing to the recent order suspending instructions after April 10, it will be necessary that applicants present themselves at the military bureau University of California not later than Monday, April 7. If this is impossible men desiring appointment should wire age, classification of draft board, particulars concerning education, training, physical condition.

COTTON SPECULATORS SPRING A BEAR COUP.

KNOCKING DOWN OF PRICES PRACTICALLY OVERTURNS RESULTS OF ADVANCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5.—Taking advantage of the weakened condition of the local cotton market today as a result of the recent rapid and continued advances, a report from Washington indicating the possibility of a new price-fixing attempt in cotton by the War Industries Board was made the starting point of a bear speculators' coup, which knocked prices down by from 60 to 70 points, practically overturning the results of the big advance of Thursday. The market closed barely steady at a net loss of 62 to 69 points.

The price-fixing report started with a dispatch from Washington that the War Industries Board had called a meeting for next Wednesday, with reports of the cotton goods trade to discuss prices of cotton goods on behalf of the government, which is now by far the largest buyer of cotton fabrics. This dispatch was accompanied, when it reached the ring, by statements attributed to unnamed officials that there was "a runaway market" in cotton goods, and that it was time to call a halt. The story arrived at the ring at the psychological moment, in the late afternoon, when the market was wavering. Prompt and heavy selling in big blocks led a selling drive, which swept prices before it all down the list.

NEW TRADING RULES BOOST CORN PRICE.

OATS SUBJECTED TO PERSISTENT SELLING—PROVISIONS FALL WITH HOGS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 5.—Corn today resumed the leadership of grain and advanced in anticipation of bullish effects looked for from trading rule amendments to be voted on tomorrow. Upturns in value, however, were not well maintained. Prices closed unsettled, 1-8 and 1-4 cents net higher, with May $1.26 3-8. Oats finished ½ cent to ¾ cent off, and provisions down 25 cents to 45 cents.

Belief that new-style contracts, which the proposed changes in rules would permit, might open the way for a decided advance of prices gave the corn market strength almost from the outset. Much of the buying was on the theory that the present form of contracts would rise promptly to the maximum limit, $1.26 a bushel, as soon as new-style bargains were authorized.

Oats were subjected to persistent commission-house selling after an advance due to continuance of seaboard demand.

Provisions fell on account of a sharp break in the hog market.

CREEL TALKS.

Public Information Board is not Ashamed to Reveal Its Actions.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—The Committee on Public Information has taken part in "no activity which it is ashamed to reveal," and has "sent no dollar on a furtive errand," George Creel, chairman of the committee, declared in an address here tonight before the Economic Club.

Speaking on "public opinion and the war," Mr. Creel asserted that this fight for public opinion is the business of the Committee on Public Information, and that he felt "the press is commencing to realize our honesty of purpose and the military experts are growing to have an increasing faith in the power of absolute frankness."

Referring to the committee's work in other lands, Mr. Creel said that "no paper is subsidized, no official is bought and no corruption is employed."

Meals Only Guide Posts.

A well-known banker in a downtown restaurant was eating mush and milk.

"What's the matter?" inquired a friend. "Got dyspepsia? Don't you enjoy your meals?"

"Enjoy my meals?" snorted the indignant dyspeptic. "My meals are merely guideposts to take medicine before and after."—Knoxville Sentinel.

WIN THE WAR FOR FREEDOM

German Victory Would Leave no Hope for Liberty.

Statements Given Out by Cabinet Supporting Loan.

Kaiser Plans Invasion of This Country, Says Crowell.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Germany is beaten, America's hope for no freedom—this is the note running through statements of Cabinet members given out here in support of the third Liberty loan.

Benedict Crowell, acting Secretary of War, said, in part:

"We realize the enormous task before us and we are confident of winning, but it will take the combined punch of the whole American people and will require an immense expenditure of men and money. If we are beaten in France the struggle probably will be transferred to American soil. Plans of the invasion and subjugation of the United States are now on file in the offices of the German General Staff. We know definitely. I stress this to you to buy all the Liberty Bonds you can afford, and then a few more. Remember that the Germans will take no bonds for the money they get from conquered peoples."

Secretary Daniels of the Navy said:

"Our men in the trenches and the ships are counting their every nothing and are maintaining the highest standards of American manhood and heroism. It is our privilege at home to sacrifice and suffer and sacrifice to provide the government with the means to carry the war. No man who values freedom and loves the principles on which our government was established can afford to not subscribe the limit to the third Liberty loan."

Secretary Lansing of the State Department:

"The United States has entered the war for a year. The first decision which followed the declaration that we would take up arms in the cause of liberty and humanity was, in its place the decision to come to the nation a spirit of determination and self-sacrifice. Under the influence of this spirit the republic is pressing forward to the accomplishment of the mighty task which the war has imposed upon it. Let there be the same ready response to the third Liberty loan that was made to those which preceded it."

DUTY TO LEND MONEY.

Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury:

"The least duty we can perform and we should be eager and happy to perform it—is to lend our money. Every available dollar we possess can save, to our government and to the cause for which that our gallant boys are giving their lives with all they need to make a fighting man."

Atty.-Gen. Gregory:

"To save the lives and liberties of ourselves and our children we have been forced unwillingly to take up arms. To prevail we must put forth to the furthest limit our energies. Shall we give or withhold for freedom than our enemies will for despotism? What shall it profit us if we win the war and only as slaves?"

Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture:

"If we do not win this war we shall indefinitely face the imminence of the Prussian autocracy, bear permanently the intolerable burden of militarism. To win the war we must have both men and money."

A RIGHTEOUS WAR.

Postmaster-General Burleson:

"One year ago we took up the gauge of battle flung in our faces by Germany. It is a righteous war waged by our people. No more inspiring exhibition of patriotism has ever been made than the response to the requests of President Wilson that they contribute to the support by purchasing our government's obligations. He knew not who doubts that the response will be far beyond the amount required."

Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce:

"Buying Liberty Bonds makes homes safer, our business more secure, helps maintain America's standing who mock at us as weak and think we may safely ignore the rights of others."

Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor:

"The third Liberty Loan has even greater significance than the first two. They were the acceptance of instant and responsive patriotism. This serves a grim notice on the world that America, in the defense of the lives of its people and the safeguards of barbarism, its institutions secure against the menace of autocracy, and the nation of the earth, including our own, will be assured the opportunity of living their own lives undisturbed by the menace of militarism."

The Tragedy of French Ruins.

Broken homes, ripped apart; shattered churches, violated graves—it had seemed to me we had seen all the changes on the devastated front of war. But there remained one more, the tragedy of the trees. You can rebuild houses, churches, towns—for that takes only money. But you can't rebuild orchards of fruit trees and avenues of great shade trees—for that takes time. We kept seeing them everywhere—orchards with trees that were dead, faded, shriveled bunches of dead leaves lying on their sides, or where these had been cleared away that showed nothing but the topped stumps. They say that when the war spring came, some of the orchard trees, lying on their sides, just not wholly severed, leafed out and then—just before the end—bloomed once again for Frenchmen.—[Ines Haynes Irwin, in McClure's Magazine.

The Ostrich's Only Foe.

The only creature the dreaded ostrich dreads is the dog. So fearless is he that he will menacingly attack anything else that he deems to be an enemy, no matter how formidable and strong it may be apt to class all intruders under what he considers to be his domain. Mr. Cronyright-Schreiner says that the cons of an ostrich charging a moving locomotive. Numerous instances have occurred of ostriches being kicked out of the way. But let a dog of any kind appear, and the fiercest ostrich will most invariably flee in wild dismay.—[Cassell's Weekly in Atlantic.

OUR GREAT RESOURCES JUST ENTERING FRAY.

Review of First Year of America in the War; Achievements Detailed; Our Troops in Battle Position.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5. — The first anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the war finds the great resources of the country just coming into the struggle, but rapidly being mobilized.

The achievement of the first year has been divided between the army, which has been supplying and training fighting forces; the navy, which has been hunting the submarine and transporting troops and supplies to France; the Shipping Board, which has been building a merchant marine, and the Treasury, which has been advancing credits to the Allies.

In all other departments of the government there has been a tremendous effort to bring all the forces of the country's resources and power to the aid of the actual fighting forces.

For military reasons it is not permissible to state the exact number of American troops in France with Gen. Pershing's expedition, but Secretary Baker, in recent testimony before the Senate Military Committee, placed it at a million men and said that by this year end another million would be ready for service during the year.

POSITIONS.

American troops have taken up their positions on the fighting line in France, have occupied a sector of their own northwest of Toul, and have had numerous encounters with the Germans. Official statements of British and German army headquarters have shown that certain American fighting forces were engaged in the battle brought on by the great German offensive this month, the British War Office first announcing them as fighting shoulder to shoulder with the British and Canadian troops in the vicinity of Arras.

Referring to the combined forces of the regular army and National Guard a year ago, and comparing the strength of the regular army now, the National Guard mustered into Federal service, and the results of the first draft in cantonments, it is apparent that the total number of ready fighting men has increased from a meager 200,000 to something like 1,500,000, with 1,000,000 men registered under the draft still available for calls to the colors.

Army experts have estimated that if the war be prolonged it will become necessary for the United States to assume the burden of fighting on the continent and that it would not be finished under two years. The immense and sudden growth of the army has not been without criticisms, but, it is declared, was expected in the conversion of a fighting force of a nation trained and welded to the pursuits of peace.

EXPANSION.

The expansion of the naval forces was characterized in Congress as a "shipbuilder's orgy." The anti-submarine fleet, now shrouded in secrecy as a military measure, but known that an unprecedented navy was building progressed well on the way to completion, not only to Great Britain's naval force, and that in destroyers and submarines proved and deadly weapons of the submarine—the navy will have the greatest fleet in the seven seas. Since the United States went to war, the navy has placed contracts for practically 1,000 vessels, and besides that the task of repairing the seized German and Austrian ships damaged by their crews at the orders of the German government.

The case of the great liner Vaterland, now the United States ship Leviathan, is a fair example of the efficiency and speed with which the naval engineers conducted that work. When the Germans finished their work of destruction, the Vaterland's commander remarked he would take his hat off to the Americans who could put the ship in shape in time to be of any service.

Within six months from the time his words were spoken the Vaterland was in running order and since, the navy has announced, has carried numbers of American troops and great quantities of supplies to the fighting lines in France.

By taking the ships and men of the coast guard into its fleets, by the merging of naval volunteers and naval militia, and with the growth of the Marine Corps, the navy has expanded its forces practically five times since the country went to war.

In its immense task of conveying troops there have been some losses, notably the Tuscania and the Antilles, but the losses of life have been fortunately small in comparison with the numbers of troops transported. At the same time the American destroyers, working with the British in the submarine zone, have made themselves a terror to the undersea boats. How many of these craft they have accounted for remains a military secret.

MONEY MATTERS.

The Treasury, concerned with financing the war, has raised from Liberty Bonds and War Saving Stamp sales more than $4,000,000,000, and on this, the first anniversary of the declaration of war on Germany, is launching the Third Liberty Loan. Treasury estimates put the expense of the first year of the war at about $12,000,000,000 exclusive of the advance to the Allies.

These advances to all the Allies have totaled up to the close of March $4,968,000,000. The United States has been secured with the bonds or obligations of the countries to which the money was advanced. More than $128,000,000 of the sum went to Russia before the debacle put that country out of the war. What return, the United States will get, if any, is considered doubtful.

Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board, in a recent speech in New York, at which he outlined the shipbuilding programme fully for the first time, declared the great building programme which is to make the bridge of ships to France is 15 per cent. toward completion. He pointed out the magnitude of the task by recalling that the Shipping Board is building in a year, a greater organization than the Steel Corporation has been able to build up in more than twenty years. The recent disclosure by the British Admiralty that German submarines actually are destroying the world's shipping twice as fast as it is being built is the spur which is expected to put the full force of the country at this vital task.

Beside the work of the executive departments of the government, the year has seen tremendous strides in the mobilization of labor, industry, science and invention, with the sole aim of winning the war. Hundreds of business and professional men have given up private interests to serve the government at nominal pay. Business and manufacture has given the best of its secrets. Whatever criticism has been made of the lack of co-ordination of all these tremendous resources and power, none ever has charged that private interest has withheld them.

What is expected to be one of the mightiest weapons toward winning the war is the War Trade Board, created for the purpose of cutting off supplies to Germany through the adjacent neutrals. As the war goes on, officials say, the work of this organization cannot be underestimated.

A year of war, all officials concede, finds shortcomings and defects, but it is contended no more than might have been expected from a peaceful nation suddenly reorganized to a war basis.

President Wilson in a recent declaration pronounced the present year the vital one in the winning of the war. As the resources of America now being gathered, get to the battle fronts with a mighty rush, they are fully expected to carry the Allies through to victory.

LOS ANGELES DOES BIT FOR ORPHANS.

THIS CITY STANDS FOURTH IN AID TO LITTLE ONES OF FRANCE.

Los Angeles today stands fourth among the cities in the United States that are donating their money and time to the relief of the orphans of stricken France. This was the news given out yesterday by Mr. Georges Fusenot, treasurer of the Los Angeles branch of the Society for The Fatherless Children of France, with headquarters in the Brunswig Building, No. 501 North Main street.

"Pasadena, too, is lending wonderful support to this cause," said Mr. Fusenot, "and Long Beach, San Diego, Orange, Redlands and Riverside are correspondingly enthusiastic in their interest and assistance. We feel that we have obtained gratifying results and the generous donations received inspire us to go ahead with the work. Among our subscribers are many who felt that they could not afford to take care of a child for a year and in these instances their love of the cause has been instrumental in the formation of groups of people who give their bit toward the support of one fatherless little one. Sometimes it is a club, sometimes a class in a school, that undertakes the care of a child for a year. In many instances, however, our subscribers have found it within their means to take as many as ten children."

From Paris and other points in France already there have begun to pour into Los Angeles letters of gratitude written by the mothers and children who have been made glad by the generosity of the noble-hearted people of this city. Sometimes these letters are written in French, at other times in scraggly, broken English, but always in a spirit of deepest gratitude. The following letter, written to a Los Angeles woman, is only one example of the many grateful missives that are being received in this city almost daily:

Dear Benefactress:

It is a mother profoundly touched by your generosity who authorizes herself to thank you from the depths of her heart, the generous giver that you are, who has been kind enough to take her son for a godson. Also, will you permit me to call you my friend?

My son, Rene Perraudin, was still too young at his father's death to be able to tell you what he was and what he did during this war. He left on the first day of the mobilization with the enthusiasm that gives the defense of great causes. It was full of this enthusiasm and this ardor that he accomplished, during the few months that he was under the flag of the French republic, his duty as the soldier of civilization. After having participated in the glorious battle of the Marne, he was sent, with the One Hundred Fifty-sixth Regiment of Infantry, upon Belgian ground, and it was there that on the 14th day of November, 1914, before Messines, he was hit in the trenches by the bursting of a shell which tore him away from his native country and from his affections.

Excuse, therefore, my son, Rene, still too young, for not having himself made the recital of the sad and glorious end of his papa.

It would be a pleasure great and real to send you, as often as possible, news of your little protege.

Receive, dear Benefactress, and friend, the assurance of the deep gratitude of a French mother, admirer of the noble American republic.

ASK POLICE TO AID SEARCH FOR CASHIER.

SAN FRANCISCO HOTEL'S EMPLOYEE MISSING, SO IS TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The police were requested here today to institute a search for Joseph J. Robinson, paymaster at the Hotel St. Francis, who went to a bank this morning to change $10,000 into bills of small denominations and has not been seen since.

According to the hotel management, Robinson went to the bank, changed the checks and drafts into currency of small denominations, and disappeared. He has been cashier at the hotel for the last six years and was a man of irreproachable habits, hotel officials said.

The theory that he might have met with foul play on his return from the bank to the hotel was not entertained, they said.

GERMANS REPORTED BUYING PARIS JEWELS.

EIGHTEEN DIAMOND DEALERS ARRESTED FOR TRADING WITH THE ENEMY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 5. — Eighteen Parisian dealers in diamonds are under prosecution of trading with the enemy. Important quantities of precious stones, it is said, have been sold by Paris dealers through Swiss agents to Germans, the latter explaining their extensive purchases of the gems as being due to the fact that they were easier to hide from the tax gatherers than other property.

GLASS IN BREAD TRACED TO ENEMIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—Bread in which particles of glass were found was traced today to an east side bakery, in which forty-seven of the 110 employees are enemy aliens, according to a statement by Dist.-Atty. Martin of Bronx county, where the complaint originated.

Additional complaints of glass being found in bread, ginger snaps and other baked stuffs were made today to the police of all five boroughs in the city.

WANT LANSING TO AID HINDUS.

Alleged Plotters Ask Court to Call Secretary.

Defendants Offer to Give Lives for America.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—A written plea that he use his best efforts in bringing Secretary of State Robert Lansing here to testify on their behalf was handed United States District Judge William C. Van Fleet here today by a number of Hindus who are on trial before him on a charge of conspiring in this country to overthrow British rule in India. The plea stated that if the presence of Mr. Lansing could not be secured a deposition from him would be sufficient.

Judge Van Fleet said that he would not rule on the plea until he had examined it thoroughly. He was to go to Sacramento tonight to attend a session of the District Court there, and said he would examine the document while in that city.

In the plea the Hindus said they would be willing to be hanged if such sacrifice would be for the welfare of this country "which has offered our people an asylum and liberty."

Answers to two questions are sought of Mr. Lansing, the plea stated. The questions were:

"Did the British government demand an indemnity from the American government as the result of Hindu revolutionary activities here?

"Is the British government continuing its inquiry into Hindu revolutionary activities here?"

The plea concludes:

"If Your Honor please neither our personal advantage nor the cause we represent will be best served either by an acquittal or the release of the defendants, but by bringing to light the truth, even though because of the truth, we should suffer conviction for the sake of our principles and be thrown into prison and hanged. Such punishment indeed we would gladly suffer if it be for the welfare of this country, which has offered our people asylum and liberty. We desire indeed one thing, and that is that the truth be known."

The Hindus ask also for the judge to ascertain if possible what action has been taken in regard to sending the Hindoustan Ghadr, a local organ of the Hindus, through the mails.

The plea was signed by Ram Chandra, editor of the Ghadr, and six of his co-defendants.

In addition to the Hindus, German consular agents and American shipping men and attorneys are on trial. One of these attorneys, Louis T. Hengstler, completed his cross-examination today.

Smother Attack.

of Albert, the British have withdrawn a short distance and the French have given up the village of Castel, west of Moreuil, which has been the storm center of the German assaults for the last few days. At this point the Teutons are within three miles of the Paris-Amiens road.

GERMAN CLAIMS.

The German official statement claims that successes both north and south of the Somme have been won and that the number of prisoners taken since the beginning of the drive has increased to 90,000 and the guns captured now total 1500.

It seems probable that the Entente Allies have abandoned their Fabian tactics and now are prepared to give battle to the Germans. They have fixed their lines about twelve miles east of the city of Amiens and it is evident that here they have turned at bay against the invaders. The contour of the country back of the Allied lines lends itself to defensive tactics. It is quite high and is of a character which compels attacking forces to expose themselves to concentrations of fire from artillery and infantry.

VITAL SECTORS.

It is necessary for the Germans to break through the British and French lines in this region or to outflank the Allies by a drive to the north and south of it. The fighting near Albert and north of Montdidier seems to have for its object the turning of the Allied positions. That the Albert and Moreuil sectors are vital to the Allied defense is shown by the stern resistance maintained there in the last two days.

The dawning of the first anniversary of the entry of the United States into the war finds Gen. Pershing's veterans somewhere in the battle zone. How many are there, what units have been chosen for the fight and where they will make their first appearance, is not known. It is probable, however, that an American army of some proportions is either actually in the struggle or is held in reserve immediately behind the lines.

ALLIES HIT BACK.

In spite of the terrific strain to which they have been subjected the Allies have struck back at the Germans and have regained some ground. One of these points is near Grivesnes, a short distance north-west of Montdidier and Noyon, near the village of Orvillers-Sorel. It is in this latter region that the great Allied counter-attack has been expected to be launched. So far as reported, no infantry attacks have been made on this front by the Germans, but their artillery has been very active as far east as Noyon. The line on the northern side of the salient also has been bombarded heavily.

There have been artillery engagements in various sectors of the Belgian and French fronts outside of the battle area in Picardy, the city of Rheims has again been subjected to bombardment by the Germans. In no sector, however, has there been infantry fighting of an unusual nature. In Italy there has been only the usual patrol activity.

A report from Berlin states that German and Turkish troops have forced the British infantry and cavalry to retreat in the region north of Jericho.

WHITE BREAD MAKING WILL STOP NEXT WEEK.

One-fourth Substitutes for Flour is Required After April 13.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—Baking of white bread and rolls will be discontinued throughout the United States after April 13, according to an announcement made today at the local office of the Federal Food Board. The order requiring bread and rolls after that date to contain at least 25 per cent. of substitutes for flour had not yet been issued from Washington, it was said, but was expected at any time.

The announcement was made after a meeting of bakers for the purpose of discussing plans for co-operating with the food board in the conservation of flour for war purposes. The bakers pledged themselves to do all in their power to make it possible for all bakers to meet the emergency by giving each other the benefit of formulas for making bread using a percentage of cereals other than wheat and by practical demonstrations by competent bakers in their own shops or the shops of others.

FRAUD SUIT INVOLVES VAST RANCH IN MEXICO.

A SUIT involving title to 1,750,000 acres in Sonora, Mex., known as the Rancho Llano de Dolores, was filed yesterday by Frederick C. Carlsen and Richard J. Goss against Ellen Atwell, Albert E. Lillie and John W. Scott. The complaint sets up that A. B. Atwell owned this rancho and that at his death it passed into the possession of his widow, Ellen Atwell.

A suit involving title to 1,750,000 acres in Sonora, Mex., known as the Rancho Llano de Dolores, was filed yesterday by Frederick C. Carlsen and Richard J. Goss against Ellen Atwell, Albert E. Lillie and John W. Scott. The complaint sets up that A. B. Atwell owned this rancho and that at his death it passed into the possession of his widow, Ellen Atwell.

The widow deeded the rancho on February 20, 1915, to the plaintiffs, the consideration being $30,000 gold. The original Spanish deed was translated into English and placed in the custody of George C. Otis, the Norwegian Vice-Consul in this city. Mr. Lillie and Mr. Scott, it is alleged, agreed to proceed under the Mexican laws to place the plaintiffs in possession.

For this purpose, it is alleged, the Spanish deed and the translation and other documents in the possession of Mr. Otis were delivered to them, to be returned within sixty days. It is averred that Mrs. Atwell and Mr. Lillie and Mr. Scott conspired to defraud the plaintiffs of the property and that she gave them a power of attorney to perfect the title.

The defendants are asked to surrender the deed to the plaintiffs, and a restraining order is sought to prevent them from proceeding further in the matter.

FIREMEN'S BALL NETS BIG SUM TO RED CROSS.

WITH an estimated crowd of about 12,000 people filling the Shrine Auditorium for the firemen's Red Cross benefit, and adding 10,000 more dollars to this fund, the annual ball was the greatest success that has ever been managed by the firemen. The people came and went up until the late hours of the night, and a big crowd was seen dancing until half past one. No programme of any sort except that of the Firemen's Band furnished the entertainment while waiting for the crowd.

Women in Red Cross dress were in and out the crowd selling Thrift Stamps, and Meley Flint, member of the W.S.S., gave a timely speech to the vast crowd, which cheered vigorously.

Another important feature was the issuing of uniform men at the ball, of whom twenty-five were former firemen. The Firemen's Committee wrote to Maj.-Gen. Strong urging him to let the men come to Los Angeles. He gave the men leave, and they have been in the city since last Wednesday. The soldiers were from Camp Kearny out of the One Hundred and Forty-third Regiment, Battalion A and F.

The grand march was a huge serpentine around the hall, and the line could have went around twice. All floor space that could be found was used to do the light fantasy, and the balcony was also crowded with dancers. The whole affair went off without a mishap with the big crowd.

Everything that was used for the affair was donated by the firemen, the B.P.O.E. furnishing the dance music, The Times and the Wayside Press the printing, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company and the Southern California Edison Company the lights.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

BY EDWIN F. O'MALLEY.

Once more upon the vocal chords—Angels, 11; Salt Lake, 2, and your money back in case you are not satisfied. A friend of ours once told us that if stands for stiff; we will therefore ask indulgence for it only in an instance or two. If Rube Evans hadn't appeared on the mound with nothing more than a wind-up, McCredie might have walked off the field after the game with that cutting, penetrating smile of his. Then again if, mind you, Pertica hadn't performed like an Alexander, that running start of the Killefers might not have disheartened the Mormons, and who knows but that a rally or two might have changed the whole aspect of affairs.

But enough of the subjunctive mode. Master Pertica appears to have the hall mark of sterling quality. Adroitly coached by the dean of Coast catchers, Walter Boles, he put up a swell article of the heaving art, and at no time during proceedings did he wobble in the least. For a youngster just facing the real stuff he did very well. He had a fair control with men on the bases and fielded his position like a veteran.

MYSTERIOUS.

His offerings were rather mystifying in that he mixed them up a great deal. His spitter worked to a nicety and the ball appeared to have a lot of English on it. Although he was hit for seven singles, he kept them well scattered and was best in the pinches. We are not prone to go into rhapsodies at first blush, but if this youngster hasn't the earmarks of a good pitcher, then surely our judgment has gone asunder.

The Angels drove McCredie to the dugout in the very first inning and accidentally broke up his daily session with omens and incantations around the third-base line. What they did to Ruben will herewith appear. Killefer wheedled him into an asinine Terry's cute little merries landed the boss on second. Schick darted one to Orr, who threw to third, but Red beat the ball. We thought he didn't, but Perry gave out his ukase, and the spoken word can never be returned.

"WAHOO SAM."

Crawford singled to center, scoring Killefer and putting Schick on third. Fournier fitted one into right, planting Schick on the rubber. Ellis forced Fournier at second, Crandall to Siglin. Rube stole second. Konnick's wild throw to catch Crawford at third allowed Rube to lope across the plate and Ellis to take third. Boles shot one to left, scoring Ellis. Pape fouled to Crandall. Four runs, three hits.

In the light of subsequent events, the Boss might just as well then and there have taken to the shower.

CURLY BROWN IS A SERAPH.

Curly Brown, the southpaw, and who promised to develop into an inveterate holdout, flicked in with his signature yesterday and all is now lovely in the Angels' camp. Curly is one of the best left-handers on the Coast and is sure to win a lot of games for Red Killefer this year. Brown is already in fine shape, as he has been pitching all winter and is ready to take his turn on the mound. With Curly in the fold again the Angels have an exceptionally fine pitching staff. Brown is sure to add strength to it.

Their strategy seemed to suffer an awful lapse, especially in the third inning. Either that or we are ripe food for an alienist. Evans limped to first. Farmer forced the Rube, Fournier to Terry. Siglin singled to center, moving Jack to second. Crandall banged a sizzler to right, bringing Farmer home and sending Paddy to third, but was held at first. Ryan popped to Killefer. Now comes the sad, sad tale. Sheely was at the bat, and this elongated youth can surely smear the pill at times. He is about as good a clean-up hitter as there is on the Coast. The Mormons were three runs behind.

WHEE!

Someone (it could not have been Walter McCredie) signaled a double steal. Oh, yoi, yoi—a double steal with no strikes on a clean-up hitter. Oh, Mr. Printer, play loud on the exclamation mark! That prince of finessers, Walter Boles, anticipated the blunder. He shot the ball to Terry, who camouflaged toward second. Zebbiein—bless his little heart—squared himself like the cunning little general he is, took deliberate aim and burned the sphere into Walter's yearning glove. Paddy Siglin scudded into that same glove. One run, two hits and a baseball, Joe Miller scintillating all over with fifty-seven varieties.

We can't for the heart of us imagine why the big army of local fans sulk in their tents and duck Washington Park these vernal days with a man like Sam Crawford pulling off big league stuff every day. His finesse in the third inning was worth the price of admission alone. Schick was on first and was highsigned for a hit and-run. Foxy Orr anticipated things and darted for second. Crafty Sam—a natural right field hitter—put as pretty a single just over the spot that Orr had just left as one would run up with in a month of Sundays. It was a perfectly-placed hit and worthy of Cap. Anson at his best.

FUNNY STUFF.

And now for the comedy. When a man loses his coco for a spell, the doctors call it amnesia. This is an awful thing when it comes spontaneously, something that has never happened to Paddy Siglin. When it is forced on a person it surely makes him look foolish for a spell. With Pertica on third and Terry on second in the fourth, Schick burnt the ground with one to Siglin. It was hit so fast (we mean the ball) that no one saw it. Paddy felt something run up his leg, and then his brain got twisted into sizes and sevens. In the meantime Pertica and Terry beat it for home.

Siglin looked like a pugilist taking the count of ten. He finally blinked his eyes and came to. He searched himself from stem to gudgeon, but the ball he looked for never came. Suddenly doing a Daddy Flynn squat act to strengthen the muscles of the legs, he found the pesky sphere under his foot. As long as he lives, Paddy Siglin will never be able to get those truant senses together on that play and give a solution of the matter. In vulgar parlance, he was simply knocked stiff. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Oakland played errorless ball behind Kremer here today and bunched hits off O'Doul in the first inning, winning its third straight game from San Francisco. O'Doul was wild, yielding five bases on balls, several of which were transformed into runs. The score:

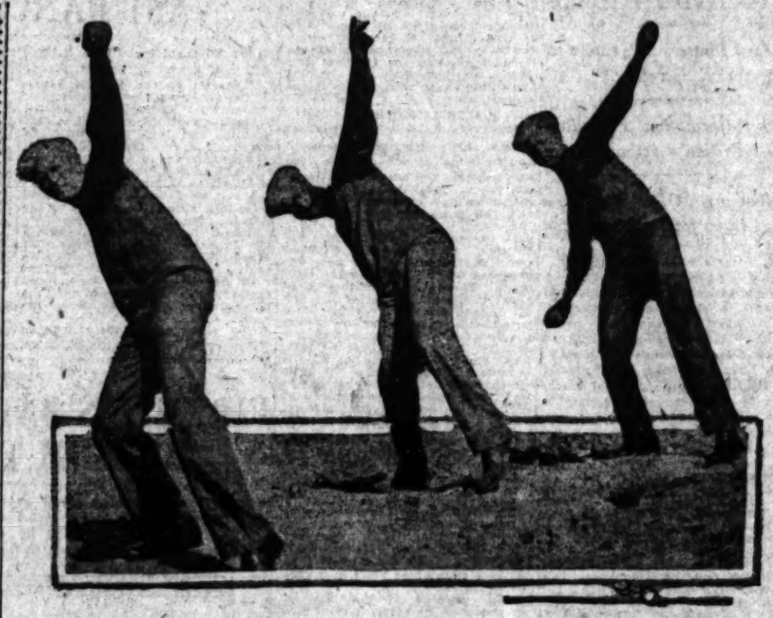
BECOMES SAILOR.

Norbert N. Murray, athletic director at the Submarine Base and formerly a well-known sportsman of Los Angeles and Pasadena, has received his commission as an ensign in the United States Navy.



Vernon Programme.

FISTIC NOTABLES TO APPEAR AT BENEFIT.

THE good old-fashioned prize-ring days will be revived in Los Angeles—or rather Vernon—for today only, when the best boxers of Camp Kearny clash this afternoon at Maier Park, on the big athletic programme. The bouts will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

The soldier-fighters will be matched with soldiers only, and some of the regular fights that have been staged in camp will be offered to Los Angeles fans.

Following is the line-up of Camp Kearny fighters, as arranged by George Blake, athletic instructor at the camp:

125 pounds—Gus Williams, One Hundred Forty-fifth Field Artillery vs. Joe Summers, One Hundred Fifteenth Signal Battalion.

140 pounds—Sammy Pelsinger, Grizzlies, vs. J. Olivares, One Hundred Fifteenth Sanitary Train.

145 pounds—Wright Morgan, One Hundred Fifty-seventh Infantry, vs. J. Comara, Grizzlies.

158 pounds—Billy Madison, Grizzlies, vs. C. Mulvaney, Headquarters Troop.

The fights will all be three rounds, with Maj. Sherburn and Capt. Bourne acting as judges. Jim Jeffries will referee.

The submarine base at San Pedro will have a number of its best fighters on the programme, while Howard Ehmke, Whittemore and Meusel of the submarine base will challenge any soldier to a hand grenade throwing contest. If the khaki-clad lads are afraid of loosing the honors to the navy men, and refuse to accept the defy, the three former baseball men will give an exhibition of hand grenade throwing.

Civilian boxers will also be on the programme, with steer lifting contests, band concerts and troops in action thrown in as added attractions.

Ad. Eddie Maier, chairman of the committee of arrangements, expressed himself yesterday, "It will be an airplane show at submarine prices."

Willie Meehan,
Coast champ, who will battle Kid McCoy in the bouts at the Vernon Liberty Bond show this afternoon. Above, a squad of Submarine Base grenadiers who will contest with a team from Camp Kearny. Howard Ehmke is on the right and Bobby Meusel on the left.

Trout Dope.

SESPE MORE DESIRABLE FOR FISHERMEN LATER.

LATE word comes to the Fish and Game Commission that the Sespe is rather a good place to stay away from just now. Several warm days haven't lowered the previously high water a bit. While there is good fishing in the side creeks emptying into the upper Sespe, and no end of fish this year, apparently, all this will keep. Fishing is bound to be quite the best in several years a little later on, unless the mysterious malady which killed so many trout there in some previous summers again manifests itself. Should it do so, an expert investigation is to be conducted to learn the cause and suggest the remedy if any be possible. Various theories which have been suggested as explaining this mortality of Sespe trout all failed to stand the analysis of the State fish culturists, who were unfortunate in not being called in until the fish had decomposed too far for accurate diagnosis. From the fact that many seemed to die in a very short time, it was suspected weather or pollution might have had some part in the mortality.

Several arrests of anglers for fishing without a license were made last week on the Santa Ynez and Ventura streams, although deputies all report that the license-law seems to be generally understood and better observed this year than ever before. They report it is now a rarity to meet an angler who "left his license in the other coat" or "at home," neither of which is any excuse in the eyes of the law. As all fish work is paid for in this State by the dollars collected from licensing anglers, every sportsman has a direct interest in seeing that every other "does his bit," hence the vigilance of wardens.

IMPROVING.

Conditions in the Ventura and Santa Ynez are growing better appreciably each day, but the best sport is yet to come. Small fish are in evidence generally, the earlier opening meaning a month less time for them to grow. There is a considerable proportion of big fish in most of the creeks, particularly those of the "worm fishermen" who get right back to "first principles" when dealing with trout early in the season under conditions of high, cloudy water. "Back East" fishermen understand "bait-fishing" better than the natives usually do. Worms are plentiful everywhere; easy to get, and in the high priced scarcity of salmon eggs, are deserving of more general use than this best of all natural baits is getting. A few hardy anglers penetrated Frazier Mountain fastnesses to the head waters of the Piru, and had a lot of hard work for their pains, but returned satisfied their rewards will come on another trip six weeks or two months later. All these streams are high, and running snow water.

There is some good fishing around Santa Paula; good considering its easy accessibility. The term "Good" as regards fishing in the near-by streams must not be confounded with what would be admitted as "good fishing" in the wonderfully stocked waters of the Eastern Sierras, where a good angler can kill his limit of whatever size fish he prefers, and on the artificial fly; may even dictate the variety in some of the better lakes and rivers.

The angler who on a week-end trip involving perhaps 100 miles of pleasant driving nearly all over cement boulevards, catches enough five to seven-inch trout for camp use, with a few to bring home, should consider himself as fortunate as the easy accessibility of the sport permits. Its popularity necessarily limits it as to number and size. Those wanting big fish in plenty can be assured of them after May 1 when Bear Lake opens. The rewards there are entirely proportionate to the skill of the angler, really good fishermen seldom failing of their limits for a day's earnest work.

SENATORS WIN FIRST BATTLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, April 5.—Sacramento took the fourth game of the series from Vernon here today by a score of 4 to 2, after eight and one-half innings of strenuous baseballing. The exhibition was easily the best show here this season. Big Dick Davis was on the mound for the Senators and during eight innings allowed but four scattered bingles. In the ninth, however, he showed the effect of the strain he had undergone and staged a typical big league blow-up. He yielded two safeties, walked two and allowed two tallies. Skipper Rodgers yanked the youngster and gave the Tigers a taste of veteran Gardner's medicine. So effective was Gardner that the next three batsmen were chalked for easy outs.

FIRST TALLY.

The Senators put their first run over in the fourth without a hit and slipped the winning stuff in the eighth when First Baseman Griggs sent a homer over the right-field fence putting over two of his teammates ahead of himself. Bill Essick's hitting Tigers made a great rally in the ninth, but the best they could do was to get two runs.

Cheek started the game for Vernon and during seven innings allowed but two safeties. Slattery followed and was touched for three perfect singles. Essick announced this afternoon that he considered Pitcher Dell his leading ace and will probably work him in the last game of the series. Hi West will be on the mound for Skipper Rodgers tomorrow. The score:

Los Angeles	1	2	.333

Lincoln	0	2	.000

Another close, ninth-inning finish broke up the game between Polytechnic High School and the Pasadena nine on the latter's field yesterday afternoon. It seems that the Mechanics are making it a habit of these last-inning rallies, this time winning the game with a 10-to-9 score when Cuddeback drove in the final run in the last inning. The Crown City youths had lots of trouble holding the pill, and various errors at critical times put them back.

Both teams used two chuckers in trying to stop the onslaught of the enemy. The Washington-street aggregation has not lost a game this season and is saving all its extra pep for the time is drawing near when Polytechnic meets old L. A. High.

The Long Beach and Whittier game which was to have taken place yesterday was postponed until Monday afternoon, when the Quakers will travel to the Seasiders' ball park and put on nine innings of real ball. The score:

Team—	R.	H.	E.
Polytechnic	10	11	1
Pasadena	9	11	1

Batteries—Hillman and Johnson; Webster, McNabb and Beeray.

GARDENA WINS INITIAL BATTLE.

Gardena High opened the Bay League baseball season yesterday by trouncing Santa Monica in a 9-to-7 game. Errors were committed liberally by both nines, the play being ragged, but interesting to watch. Strickfadden occupied the box for Santa Monica, with Winmire catching, while Olson and Wood composed the Gardena battery. The score:

Team—	R.	H.	E.
Gardena	9	12	1
Santa Monica	7	7	7

ARTISAN NINE IS BEATEN BY POMONA.

The Manual Arts nine went up to Pomona yesterday to lore a close game of baseball to the Pomona High School by a 5-to-1 score. M. Loynd, the catcher for the Loynd and Loynd battery, scored the Artisans' only run with a homer in the fifth inning. Manual's errors practically lost the game. The score:

Team—	R.	H.	E.
Manual Arts	1	4	3
Pomona	5	4	2

Batteries—Loynd and Loynd; Baugh and Youngblood.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL PURCHASES BONDS.

The Interscholastic Athletic Council of the Southern California High Schools voted at a meeting yesterday afternoon to apply $500 from the treasury to the purchase of Liberty Bonds of the next issue. It is rumored that the profits of the annual Southern California meet at San Bernardino also will be used to purchase Liberty Bonds.

DEMPSEY PARTY IN INJUNCTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) April 5.—An injunction suit was filed in the circuit court today by John J. Reisler against Jack Dempsey, contender for the heavyweight boxing championship, and John Kearns, his present manager, to enjoin Dempsey from operating under any other manager than Reisler in boxing exhibitions. Reisler alleges he entered into an agreement with Dempsey on December 18, 1916, by which he was to be the latter's manager for three years.

CLUB SWIMMER MUST RETIRE FROM PLUNGE.

Jerry Witt, the crack L.A.A.C. swimmer who was to have appeared in the junior 500 and national 220 championships April 25, has been ordered by his physician to give up swimming, and will leave immediately for Taft to take an outdoor job. "Father Time" Sylvester and W. Parker Lyons have been placed in the championship events by Vance Veith to fill the gap left by Witt.

NEW INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE ORGANIZED.

CONSERVATIVE WARTIME POLICY WILD MARK OPERATIONS OF CLUBS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5.—Remodeled along conservative lines and prepared to operate on a wartime basis, the new International League rose today from the ruins of the old organization to face one of the most uncertain years that organized baseball has ever known. Under the new arrangement the league will be composed of Toronto, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton, Jersey City, Newark and Baltimore. Four of the eight clubs are located in New York State and with the Sunday baseball law conceded more than an even chance to be passed within a week, the outlook for the new organization is encouraging.

The league will retain its classification as a class AA league, under the reorganization, and its destinies will be guided by John H. Farrell, secretary of the National Association of Professional Leagues, and one of the most capable men in minor league affairs.

It is announced that the clubs will use the double umpire system, stick to a player limit of fourteen men and adopt a schedule of 140 games, to open about May 8, and close September 15.

RAILSPLITTER FACULTY PUTS BAN ON BASEBALL.

ACTION reported to have been taken by the faculty of Lincoln High School yesterday will remove the Lincoln High baseball nine from the city league and put the Railsplitter institution out of athletics for the present semester. Trouble arose over the Lincoln-L. A. High game last Tuesday, it being claimed that Lincoln students started a near-riot by criticising Umpire Shephers, who is said to have narrowly escaped bodily harm at the hands of the fans present. During the melee Shephers was hit with a baseball, but there seems to be no evidence to show that this was done intentionally.

Southern Classic.

PREP SPEEDSTERS WILL HOLD BIG ANNUAL MEET

Two Hundred Athletes are Out to Crack Records at San Bernardino.

BY JAMES DE CAMP.

HERALDED as a sure Nemesis for a number of prep cinder-path records the annual Southern California interscholastic meet will be tripped off on San Bernardino High's field today. Approximately 200 athletes, representing about thirty preparatory temples of learning, will lacerate the Gate City's stadium with their spikes, dent the much-advertised surface with discus, shot and javelin and prod it with the vaulting pole to their heart's content.

Those who have inspected the San Bernardino course recently are confident that the condition of the turns and straightaway alone will cause a second or two to be clipped from most of the track events. Marks of long standing are expected to topple into oblivion and new heroes to snatch chaplets that have become dusty from repose on the classic brows of ancient heroes.

CLOSE.

With so many institutions in the running it is practically impossible to even guess which delegation will come out on top in the number of points garnered, but it is thought that the largest bagging will be made by Pasadena or one of the city institutions. The sprints are expected to resolve into a four-cornered scrap between Paddock of Pasadena, Schiller of Poly, Hendrickson of Chino and Huddleston of Lincoln. Paddock holds the present record for the 220 of 22 1-5s, but Schiller and Hendrickson are serious comers and Huddleston is promising. With all this competition in sight the Pasadena phenom should be forced to open up to the last notch.

Because of the scarcity of javelins the shaft hurling event will be an exhibition affair only, although medals are at stake. All who indulge in this stunt will be required to furnish their own javelins. The customary eight track events and five field contests will be put on with nine preliminary heats to be conducted in the morning.

SEASON'S MARKS.

Saunders of Pasadena has the high mark so far this year in the 880, making the distance in 2m. 4 1-4s. San Bernardino is depending on Cook in the dashes and the relay and Draper in the high jump, who, it is believed, will clear more than six feet. Ingles of Redlands has the high water mark so far the season in the low hurdles, 25 4-5s. Levering is expected to place in the half-mile and Knowlton and Strang in the mile for Redlands.

Hendrickson of Chino has the best time in the 220 dash, 23 2-5s. Hawkins of Fullerton has the best time in the 440, 53 1-5s. Knight of Long Beach has covered the mile in 4m. 47 4-5s, but this is considered slow. Raney of Santa Ana has the best time in the high hurdles, 17s. Schiller of Poly has made 20ft. 3 2-4in. in the broad jump. In the high jump Cory of Chaffey has made 6ft. 11in. In the pole vault Leadingham of Manual has made 11ft. 5 1/4in. In the shot put, Sentous of Hollywood has done 43ft. 9 1/4 in. and in the discus, Boyle of L. A. High has done 114ft. 8in.

Want City Water.

A delegation representing the Angeles Mesa Business Men's Association, headed by W. J. Thomas, its president, visited the Public Service Commission yesterday to urge that if the Angeles Mesa district votes bonds for the construction of a water system to be connected with the city system, assurance be given that these bonds will be paid off from the water revenues of the district. As a legal question is involved, the subject was referred to the special counsel for an opinion. The average cost per lot, if a direct assessment in taxes is made to pay for the proposed system, is also to be determined, and reports on both matters are to be presented at the meeting of the board next Friday.

PARIS BOMBARDMENT HALTED BY FUNERAL.

KAISER WRITES LETTER OF APOLOGY FOR KILLING OF SWISS COUNSELLOR.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

AMSTERDAM, Thursday, April 4.—A Berlin official statement today says that the bombardment of Paris was suspended Wednesday because of the funeral of the Counsellor of the Swiss Legation in Paris.

M. Strohelin, Counsellor of the Swiss Legation in Paris, was one of the worshippers in the Paris church struck by a shell from the German long-range gun on Good Friday and with many others was killed by the explosion. Germany has already expressed regret for the death of M. Strohelin to the Swiss Foreign Office at Berne.

If there was a suspension of the German bombardment because of the Counsellor's funeral it was not one which included the entire day of Wednesday, as Paris dispatches reported the resumption of the bombardment Wednesday morning.

KAISER WRITES APOLOGY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 5.—The Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Amsterdam reports the German newspapers as announcing that Emperor William has sent a personal letter to the president of the Swiss confederation apologizing for the killing of the Counsellor of the Swiss Legation in Paris during the bombardment of Good Friday.

LEWIS REPRESENTS PERSHING.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Thursday, April 4.—Gen. Pershing sent Brig.-Gen. Lewis, commander of the American troops in Paris, to represent him personally at the funeral services today for the four American women killed in a church during the German bombardment on Good Friday.

The women were Mrs. Marie Grinnet and Mrs. Edward H. Landon and Mrs. Landon's daughters, Mrs. Ralph Speed and Miss Ruth Landon.

LOAN MASS MEETING PLAN IS REJECTED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OMAHA (Neb.) April 5.—A suggestion that a great mass meeting be held Saturday noon, April 13, to raise $5,319,000, Omaha's quota of the Liberty Loan, in an hour and the news telegraphed throughout the nation has been unanimously rejected by the local committee as an unwise move.

"Omaha's quota could be raised in such a fashion," explained Thomas C. Byrne, chairman of the State committee, "but it would defeat the purpose of our government, which is anxious for a wide distribution of the bonds and it would not give all our patriotic citizens an equal chance."

CHICAGO VICE RAIDS; MANY WOMEN CAUGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 5.—Several hundred women were arrested in scores of raids on houses, flats, saloons and cheaper cabarets, as part of the government's campaign to eliminate vice conditions menacing soldiers and sailors. The announced purpose of the drive was the suppression of disease. Those found physically unsound will be held for medical treatment.

Rushing Men Across

Germans in replacing worn-out units and rushing up from far in the rear men who had been held there for just this emergency. Successful defense of the Allied lines will gradually wear away this massed reserve and the use of every new division is welcomed by observers here as indicating the terrific cost of the enterprise, to the Germans.

Under the unprecedented use of reserves, the Germans are making, they can endure the struggle just so long and no longer. Their resources in men are limited. Already there have been signs all along the rest of the front that the lines were being thinned out to supply additional reserves for the effort in Picardy.

KING GREETS WILSON ON WAR ANNIVERSARY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 5.—King George has sent greetings to President Wilson on the occasion of the anniversary of the entry of the United States into the war.

King George's telegram follows: "On the occasion of the anniversary of the momentous decision of the United States to enter into this war for the safeguarding of international right and justice, I desire to convey to you, Mr. President, and through you to the American people, the friendly greetings of the entire British nation.

"At this critical hour, when our enemies are sparing no sacrifice and are counting no cost to achieve victory, the French and British troops stand united, as never before, in their heroic resistance to these endeavors. They are buoyed up with the thought that the great democracy of the West, in the same spirit and with the same object as their own, is putting forth every effort through its supreme force into the struggle, which will once for all decide the destinies of the free nations of the earth.

"The gallant deeds of Americans on land and sea have already indicated to the enemy that his hope is vain. Every day that passes, as American troops pour in ever-increasing numbers into France, diminishes the chances of his success.

"The American people may rest assured that the British empire, now tried by nearly four years of war, will cheerfully make yet further sacrifices. The thought that the United States, under your leadership, are with us, heart and soul, emboldens us in the determination, with God's help, finally to destroy the designs of the enemy and to re-establish on the earth the rule of right and justice.

[Signed] "GEORGE, R. I."

LUMBER CONCERNS ORDERED TO DESIST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Federal Trade Commission today ordered ninety-seven lumber companies in the West to desist from unfair methods of competition. The order applied also to Luke W. Boyce, a Minneapolis detective.

Procuring by bad faith or subterfuge of information intended only for bona-fide customers of mail order houses, furnishing to Platt B. Walker of Minneapolis, Minn., publisher of the Mississippi Valley Lumberman, of names of persons selling to mail order concerns to enable him to interfere with the free purchase of supplies by those concerns, the employment of Boyce to obtain the business secrets of mail order firms and the following of salesmen to embarrass them in their dealings were forbidden in the future by the commission.

Walker and the Lumber Publishing Company recently signed a stipulation of facts in cases against them, and an order was entered requiring them to cease and desist from practices complained of.

Included in the companies affected is the Deacon Lumber Company, Lemoore, Cal.

Most of the firms are in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and other Middle Western States.

GAS WELL BECOMES FLAMING TORCH.

BAKERSFIELD (Cal.) April 5.—Bursting into flames immediately after being brought into production early this morning at Fellows, near here, gas well No. 1, on section 2, 31-32, owned by the Doheny-Pacific Petroleum, is now a flaming torch 300 feet high.

The well was being drilled by J. N. Hutchins and R. D. Kirk as drillers with J. S. Dougherty as superintendent. All efforts of these men and a crew of several hundred to quench the flames and save the gas have thus far been futile.

It is estimated that the well is giving forth about 700 cubic feet of gas per second or 60,000,000 cubic feet per day, which now is a total loss.

COMMISSION ORDERS PETROLEUM INQUIRY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—A general investigation of railroad freight rates on petroleum and petroleum products was ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The investigation was decided on in view of wide differences in the amounts and percentages of recent rate increases sought by the railroads. It appeared, said the order, that an equitable adjustment of rates could be effected only by a general investigation covering the whole situation.

HENEY ATTACKS HOOVER; IS OUSTED

Democratic Candidate Governor Minus Job

No Longer Counsel for Federal Trade Commission

Is Thought to Have Lost President's Displeasure

[BY PIERCE WIRE—EXCLUSIVE.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5.—Francis J. Heney is believed to have been forced out of his position as counsel for the Federal Trade Commission because of pressure in the investigation of the packing situation. Heney's employment by the commission ceased April 1, it was learned tonight. Chairman Harris, chairman of the commission, however, denied that there was trouble over the affair.

In spite of Mr. Harris' statement the report was current tonight that the administration was displeased at the manner in which Heney conducted the investigation.

Although, under the direction of Congress, and by the action of the President, the Federal Trade Commission was to make a general investigation of the packing situation, Heney made the latter his particular target.

He held hearings in a number of different cities without warning the packers to be represented by counsel or to explain statements obtained from their records read into the record. In the course of the investigation Heney announced his candidacy for Governor of California, and the charge was made that he was playing to the galleries for political support.

FLAGRANT OFFENSE.

The most flagrant offense, from Heney, from the administration viewpoint, is believed to have been his attack upon the Food Administration.

E. C. Lasater, Texas rancher, who for a time was one of President Wilson's administrator Hoover's advisers in the West, but resigned after Mr. Hoover had ordered the wheatless day, is one of Heney's associates. Heney made much of the fact that several men connected with the packing-houses have occupied various advisory positions with the Food Administration.

It was regarded as significant that Heney, practically an employee of the President, should have come out in public hearings, in a most indirect manner, facts tending to reflect upon Mr. Hoover, the personal appointee of the President. These facts, it was evident, could not have been obtained by Heney from the Food Administration. Heney, however, failed to produce witnesses with first-hand knowledge.

HOOVER DISTURBED.

It is known that Mr. Hoover was disturbed by Heney's activities, and is believed to have expressed his feelings to the President, although there is no direct confirmation, the impression being that the President let it be known to the Federal Trade Commission that Heney had gone too far.

Heney was employed on a per diem basis. The arrangement, it is believed, was made to enable the packing interests to be represented by counsel if they so desired, and to make it easy for the commission to dispense with his services.

The appointment by the commission of a committee to investigate the meat situation and the question of whether the packing plants should be taken over by the government probably has a bearing on the situation. This committee, which includes, among other members, Harris, as chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, was appointed at Mr. Hoover's request.

Mr. Hoover is understood to have become tired of being annoyed by charges in the packing controversy, and Heney, Mr. Lasater and others figuring him of favoring the packers and with the packers is suspected to be in accord with his policies.

Democratic Candidate for Governor Minus Job.

No Longer Counsel for Federal Trade Commission.

Is Thought to Have Incurred President's Displeasure.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 1.—Francis J. Heney is believed to have been forced out of his position as special counsel for the Federal Trade Commission because of overzealousness in the investigation of the meat situation. Heney's employment with the commission ceased April 1, it was learned tonight. William S. Harris, chairman of the commission, however, denied that there was any trouble over the affair.

In spite of Mr. Harris's positive statement the report was current tonight that the administration was displeased at the manner in which Heney conducted the inquiry.

Although, under the authorization of Congress, and by the direction of the President, the Federal Trade Commission was to make a general investigation of the meat situation, Heney made the packers his particular target.

He held hearings in a half-dozen different cities without permitting the packers to be represented by counsel or to explain numerous letters obtained from their files and send into the record. In the course of the investigation he announced his candidacy for Governor of California, and the charge was at once made that he was playing to the galleries for political effect.

FLAGRANT OFFENSE.

The most flagrant offense, Heney, from the administration viewpoint, is believed to have been his attack upon the Food Administration.

E. C. Lasater, Texas cattleman, who for a time was one of Food Administrator Hoover's agriculture assistants, but resigned after a row with Mr. Hoover of favoring the packers, was one of Heney's star witnesses. Heney made much of the fact that several men connected with Chicago packing-houses have occupied various advisory positions with the Food Administration.

It was regarded as strange in Washington, Heney, practically an appointee of the President, should seek to bring out in public hearings, in a most prominent manner, facts tending to reflect upon Mr. Hoover, also a personal appointee of the President. These facts, it was evident, could not have been obtained by Heney's inquiry from the Food Administration, however, failed to materialize with first-hand knowledge.

HOOVER DISTURBED.

It is known that Mr. Hoover is disturbed by Heney's attacks and it is believed to have communicated his feelings to the President, although there is no direct confirmation, the impression has gone abroad that the President let it be known to the Federal Trade Commission that Heney had gone too far.

Heney was employed on a week to week basis. The arrangement apparently left it to his employment apparently left it easy for the commission to dispense with his services.

The appointment by the President of a committee to investigate the meat situation and the question whether the packing plants should be taken over by the government probably has a bearing on the case. This committee, which includes, among other members, Francis J. Harris, as chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, was appointed at Mr. Hoover's request.

Mr. Hoover is understood to have become tired of being made the target in the packing controversy. Heney, Mr. Lasater and others, in forcing him of favoring the packers and with the packers, in turn, objecting to his policies.

Food, Clothing, Farming Tools.

OUR FIRST SHIP TO BEAR REAL AID TO FRANCE.

"Los Angeles" Designated by Head of Shipping Board to Carry Our Help to Stricken People.

The "Los Angeles," first locally built ship, will carry California food and clothing, portable houses, farming tools and medical equipment to the battle-torn civilians of the devastated north of France. This is the gift of Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the Federal Shipping Board, to Los Angeles on the anniversary of the entrance of this country into the war for the preservation of their liberty.

Lucien N. Brunswig, a leader of the local French colony, is the man who succeeded in getting the head of the Shipping Board to designate the first Los Angeles ship to be a messenger of comfort, cheer and practical help now at the time when the souls of the surviving civilians need strong support and real assistance to keep life in the body and hope in the soul.

Representing the Alliance Francaise, the French Red Cross, the Homeless Children of France and a number of other French societies and with the support and approval of the French Embassy and the French High Command, Mr. Brunswig eloquently appealed to Mr. Hurley the real need of giving to French civilians not only hospital dressings, bandages and shoes. He explained that the people of Southern California are giving of their plenty to the stricken people and convinced Mr. Hurley that there could be no more fitting manner to transport the goods than by the ship about to be built for the government in Los Angeles.

He showed the chairman of the Shipping Board that the bonds between the two countries in the days of the Revolution could be strengthened by the wish of Southern California that the ship may have practical and really useful help now. He pointed out that while their tenancy of the despoiled areas of France might be brief and that the invading army might cover the ruined lands with new shell craters, that the kind of help Los Angeles is to send would be to sustain life and plant new hope where great despair has almost come to dwell in the hearts of the brave women and children of the smitten republic.

Mr. Hurley gave directions that so much space as need be in the good new ship, which is to steam away from Los Angeles harbor May 15, shall be reserved for the gifts of food and clothing, bedding and bandages that the people of California may provide.

Mr. Brunswig, who had previously taken the matter up with the Food Administration, was told that there would be no delays on their part to collection and transmittal of these gifts.

HINTS HE WILL KILL HIMSELF.

Missing Investment Company Head Leaves Note.

Concern's Funds Said to be Short by Big Sum.

Three Thousand Dollars Gone from Postoffice.

The peculiar case of Samuel W. Thomas, missing postmaster of the Garvanza substation, was further complicated yesterday by the discovery that more than $10,000 of the funds of the Garvanza Investment Company, of which Thomas was president, are missing, in addition to about $3000 of postoffice funds. He is also charged in warrants, issued for his arrest, with having forged deeds to houses and lots and negotiable instruments.

His former associates are wondering if there is anything significant in the fact that Thomas made his exit from the city on April 1.

Thomas drove out of Los Angeles Monday night in a Ford automobile bearing California license No. 349673. He took Mrs. Thomas along with him, and as they departed they dropped into a downtown mail box an unstamped letter dated the first of April, addressed to Mrs. E. L. Warren, No. 4500 Huron street, vice-president of the Garvanza Investment Company, in which he intimated that he intended to end his life. A portion of the note follows:

HINTS AT SUICIDE.

"I have come to the parting of the ways. The liabilities of our corporation have got the best of me. I am unable to go further and I now expect to end it all. The overdraft from all sources will run about $5000. If you can arrange to take care of this and keep up the interest on all indebtedness you can make some money out of it after awhile."

In a statement last night Mr. Shepherd who is in charge of the company's affairs, said: "So far as the business of the company is concerned the institution is solvent and has sufficient assets to bring everything through. There is considerable valuable real estate in Wilcox, Ariz., and I have no doubt the losses will easily be repaired by careful management."

UNUSUAL SYSTEM.

The business methods of Thomas were unusual. He acted as postmaster in Garvanza and at the same time conducted a sort of building and loan business. He was once a Los Angeles Railway Company employee, it is claimed, and among his patrons in business were a number of street car employees from whom he borrowed money to loan and to whom he sold homes.

He succeeded in making his big haul by a system commonly known as "check kiting," according to the investigators. He had accounts at the First National Bank of Hollywood, the First National Bank of Glendale, the First National Bank of Tropico and the Central Bank of Wilcox, Ariz. He would deposit a sum ranging from $500 to $1500 in the Glendale bank, give the Tropico bank check against it for $500 or so, send the Hollywood institution a check against Tropico, and finally transfer a large amount from there to Wilcox, Ariz., either by check or money order. Then in settling accounts with the Postoffice Department, he would issue his check on the Wilcox bank.

Similarly he managed to realize cash on quite a number of notes and mortgages. His sudden flight was apparently precipitated by the discovery of a forged note for $1500 which bore the name of William Woods. This piece of paper was converted at the Glendale bank where, by the merest accident, an official chanced to call Mr. Wood's attention to the fact it held his note. His prompt denial started an immediate investigation. At about the same time the postoffice authorities discovered that a Thomas remittance by check on the Wilcox bank had been returned marked "no funds." This shortage to the postal authorities amounted to $2960. Before the machinery of the law was thrown in motion Mr. and Mrs. Thomas had driven away.

FORGERIES, TOO?

Attorney Shepherd is authority for the statement that the First National Bank of Tropico now has a Thomas note for $500 which bears eight signatures, all of which are

First American Cantonment Baby.

Miss Mary Sunshine Webb,
And her parents, Corp. and Mrs. W. Loyd Webb. Mrs. Webb was Miss Alice Clarke of this city, prominent in musical circles.

Born in Camp.

"MARY SUNSHINE" FIRST DAUGHTER OF DIVISION.

SEVEN pounds of femininity are causing quite a stir at Camp Kearny. Her name is—or is to be—Mary Sunshine, and she is the daughter of the Sunshine Division, for she is the first baby to be born at the cantonment. Not only that, she is the first baby to grace the confines of a National Army camp in the United States, it is believed.

Everything was arranged for Sunshine to be born at Miramar, where the father, Corp. W. Loyd Webb, and Mrs. Webb had made their home during the training period of the division. The father is with the Headquarters Troop, and is a Los Angeles man. The mother was Miss Alice M. Clarke, 21 years old, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Clarke of No. 546 West Eighteenth street, Los Angeles, and is well known in musical circles, being a violinist of the Woman's Symphony Orchestra of this city.

Apparently the fates, however, had decreed that Sunshine should be born at the camp, for a week ago Wednesday, when Mrs. Webb went over from Miramar with her husband, a nonstop run was made for the nearest medical attention, which happened to be the base hospital. It was there that Corp. Webb paced the floor and finally was informed by a smiling nurse that he was the father of the first baby of the division.

Mary Sunshine is said to have a right to her name, for she radiates the same sunny smile as does the commander of the division. She is rather secretive and refused to be interviewed by newspaper men, making a noise that was interpreted as, "I have nothing to say, but please go away and let me sleep."

Sunshine's father was once a lifeguard at Venice, and he met his wife at the Los Angeles Polytechnic High School, where he was studying and she was taking up architectural drawing. Mrs. Mary A. Clarke, grandmother of Sunshine, is known to inmates of the County Hospital, where she has done many deeds of charity.

The mother, who is happy and contented at the nurses' home at the base hospital at Camp Kearny, had the matter of a name all arranged, but the "Mary Ruth" she had chosen was given up for "Mary Sunshine," the name given by the Red Cross nurses who administered to the mother.

J. A. Aldritt of No. 1619 Kenmore avenue, died suddenly at the Sisters' Hospital yesterday, from cerebral hemorrhage. He had been ill for several days, but his condition had not been considered critical.

Mr. Aldritt was a native of Ireland, and 46 years old. The family had lived here for sixteen years. Until five years ago, when he lost his eyesight, he was a floor superintendent in the Broadway Department Store. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Mabel G. Aldritt, and a son, Cyril Aldritt, who attends Hollywood High School. Arthur Letts was a brother-in-law of the deceased.

M., of which Mr. Aldritt was a member, will have charge of the service at Hollywood Cemetery. The pallbearers will be Messrs. Arthur Letts, J. G. Bullock, W. A. Faris, Arthur Strasburger, W. H. WILL CONTEST ENDED.

Estate of Mary S. Honsinger to be Distributed as Provided in Testament.

The will of Mary S. Honsinger was admitted to probate by Judge Rives yesterday, bringing to a close a contest over the disposition of the $25,000 estate. The court fixed the bond of the executor at $38,000. When the case was called yesterday it appeared that the contest instituted by Ida Canaven, a sister of the deceased, had been dismissed.

Under the will, E. Richmon Honsinger, a step-son, was given $600; a trust fund of $4000 was provided for the benefit of Mrs. Canaven during her lifetime; the residue of the estate was bequeathed to Marjorie Honsinger Rodecker, a step-daughter.

In her contest, Mrs. Canaven set up that at the time the will was executed, her sister was of unsound mind.

Dies in Pasadena.

BARON VON KOSHKULL VICTIM OF POISONING.

BARON WILLY REICHEL VON KOSHKULL, former Berlin banker, secretary and business manager of the late Baroness Rosa von Zimmermann, died yesterday morning at the Pasadena Hospital. He was 59 years old, and had been in this country sixteen years. He took out first naturalization papers eleven years ago, but never became a citizen. Several years ago he became a victim of pyorrhea poisoning from the effects of which he lost one eye two years ago. It was of complications brought on by this disease that he died. The immediate cause of death was ulceration of the stomach.

During the lifetime of the Baroness von Zimmermann, Baron von Koshkull had practical charge of her estate, valued at over $3,000,000. This was the estate, the disposition of which caused much discussion in the local courts, as most of it had been willed to three sisters in Germany. Baron von Koshkull received a bequest of $40,000, and Attorney Walter F. Haas of this city and Joseph Friedlander of San Francisco similar amounts.

When the will was probated wide interest was aroused over the question of Beatrice Danton, the 9-year-old ward of the Baroness. Finally Miss Mary Ardis Schnebley of Pasadena was appointed her guardian. The little girl was not mentioned in the will of the Baroness, but receives $30,000 through a contract found among the Baroness's papers. She is now in Berkeley.

Baron von Zimmermann, who died in 1901, owned a large tool and implement factory in Germany. He received his title for services in the Prussian war. The Baroness came to America the year after his death, bringing Baron von Koshkull with her to manage her affairs, which he did up to the time of her death last April.

Baron von Koshkull was a writer on occult science, author of "The Occultist Abroad" and other works that have been translated into English.

His will is to be filed Tuesday by Attorney Walter F. Haas, who was named as executor. His entire estate, amounting to $100,000, is left to his children, Alfred Reichel, 25, and Letta Reichel, 27, at this time in Germany. He was a widower when he came to this country.

7 to 5 for Acquittal.

JURY IN THE ELEY CASE DISAGREES; DISCHARGED.

AFTER balloting more than forty times without a single change in a 7-to-5 vote for acquittal the jury in the embezzlement case of Fire Chief A. J. Eley was dismissed by Judge Craig at 5 o'clock last evening, following a declaration that the members would be unable to agree on a verdict.

Attorney M. F. Shannon demanded an immediate second trial for Mr. Eley, which was convened to be reset Monday morning, following a short conference with Asst. Dist.-Atty. Selph.

The jury retired at 10:20 o'clock yesterday morning and returned to their seats at 4:50 o'clock without reaching a verdict.

Eley was charged with embezzling $500 appropriated May 3, 1916, from the police and firemen's fund for the benefit of T. F. O'Neill, a firemen now deceased. At the first trial three months ago Eley produced two receipts alleged to have been signed by O'Neill in receipt for the money. The prosecution attempted to prove these receipts forgeries.

At the recent trial, although these selfsame receipts were placed in evidence, there was no attempt on the part of the District Attorney's office to revive the forgery question. The trial consumed almost a week.

Honeymoon at Sea.

DON LEE HAS BRIDE AS WELL AS MOTORS NOW.

DON LEE of Los Angeles and San Francisco, one of the best-known distributors of motor cars on the Pacific Coast, was married at Riverside, last Monday, it was announced yesterday. His bride is Miss Isabel Fulmer of Philadelphia. They arrived in San Francisco yesterday and are leaving today for a yachting honeymoon in Mr. Lee's yacht, the Glorians. They expect to be gone about two months.

It was about seven months ago that Mr. Lee and Miss Fulmer first met, and their meeting occurred in Los Angeles. It was a swift-moving romance which brought Mr. Lee south on a business trip recently and culminated in a hasty wedding.

Mr. Lee is California distributor for the Cadillac Motor Company. He has branch agencies in Fresno, Oakland, Sacramento, Pasadena and Los Angeles, the main office being in San Francisco. He has lived in California for thirteen years, the last five of which have been spent in San Francisco.

Are You Ready?

FLYING START TODAY FOR THIRD LIBERTY LOAN.

"Southern California Over the Top in Record Time!" is the Appeal of Campaign Chairman.

LOS ANGELES will open her third Liberty Loan drive and celebrate the first anniversary of America's participation in the world war today with perhaps the greatest military demonstration ever arranged as a public spectacle. The day will dawn to find the Liberty Loan Committee ready for the greatest financial effort that the community has ever been called upon to make in a limited length of time, and there is every prospect for a triumphant conclusion of the campaign.

The parade will consist of thirty-five divisions which will be made up of thousands of soldiers, sailors, marines, Red Cross workers, Red Star campaigners, Liberty Bond drivers and civilians. There will be three big military bands in the demonstration.

As arranged by Bernal H. Dyas, who is to act as grand marshal, the parade will start from the corner of Ninth and Hill streets at 1 o'clock sharp. The explosion of a single bomb will signal the moving of the line five minutes in advance, and two explosions will be the signal to proceed east on Ninth to Spring, north on Spring to First, west on First to Broadway, and south on Broadway to Ninth and Tenth, where the divisions will be disbanded.

Police Chief Butler has arranged for an extra detail of officers to patrol the parade district between 1 and 2 o'clock, but he requests people to each assume a share of the responsibility and endeavor to so manage the traffic that there will be no serious mishaps during the day.

AT MAIER PARK.

After the gigantic spectacle of the early afternoon the public will be given an opportunity to witness an extraordinary programme of athletic events at Maier Park. This will consist of boxing exhibitions by the champions from Camp Kearny. There will be no less than ten boxing matches. These will be referced by James J. Jeffries. A feature of unusual importance will be a short go between Kid McCoy and Willie Meehan. The latter is now a second-class seaman in the navy, having recently resigned his position as boxing instructor at the Center Club in San Francisco to serve his country. He has long been rated as the Pacific Coast heavyweight champion.

Corp. J. W. Pickering, Private W. M. Brown and Sergt. M. Shaw of Camp Kearny have been selected to oppose Howard Ehmke and others from the Submarine Base, in a hand grenade-throwing contest. These men are old ball players and are specially trained in the art of bomb warfare as it is practiced in France. The rivalry between them is keen. This will be the first opportunity that Los Angeles people have had to see grenade warfare.

The Los Angeles Railway has arranged to have a large number of cars on hand at the Seventh-street intersection of Main and Spring street to convey the crowd out to Maier Park immediately after the big parade. This insured good transportation facilities and will doubtless add greatly to the enjoyment of the afternoon. The receipts from this programme of sports will be used by the Liberty Loan Committee in paying the expenses of the parade and other celebrations which will be held here while the big drive is in progress.

During the parade the Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare Commission will have ambulances stationed at points on Hill near Ninth, Eighth near Broadway, Seventh near Spring, Sixth near Broadway, Fifth near Spring, Fourth near Broadway and Third near Spring street. These will be attended by Boy Scouts.

During the forenoon, in celebrating the first anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the world war, 3000 Boy Scouts will visit 75,000 residences in the city and hang Liberty Bells upon their door knobs. This will be done to impress people with the urgent necessity of subscribing for Liberty Bonds early in the third drive, and to stir up interest in the sale of Thrift Stamps.

HOW TO PAY.

It was announced last night by Henry H. McKee, chairman of the Southern California Liberty Loan's State Central Committee that the Third Liberty Loan campaign will begin today and continue until May 4. Mr. McKee says he has just received advice from Washington that on Liberty Loan subscriptions, an initial payment May 9 of 5 per cent. will be required, a second payment May 24 of 20 per cent., a third payment July 15 of 25 per cent., and a fourth payment August 15 of 40 per cent. on all bonds taken.

The Third Liberty Loan Bonds will pay interest at 4 1-4 per cent. and be in the nature of gold bonds, payable 1938. Interest upon these bonds will date from May 9, 1918, and applications must be accompanied by the payment of 5 per cent. of the amount of bonds applied for or by payment in full. Bonds will be in the same denominations as the last loan—$50, $100, $500, $1000, $10,000 and $50,000.

EVERYTHING READY.

R. H. Moulton, executive chairman of the Liberty Loan Campaign Committee, makes the following statement:

"Complete trips to every county have just been finished, and everything is in readiness. The one aim which is dear to the heart of

One of the most notable patriotic demonstrations that has yet occurred in Los Angeles is expected to develop in the great patriotic rally to be held at Shrine Auditorium at 2:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, the 14th inst., as a part of the patriotic programme of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The affair, while arranged for by the Methodists, will be interdenominational in its character. Its sole purpose is to kindle to more glowing flame the fires of American patriotism, and it is one of a series of such rallies to be held throughout the entire Union.

Gov. Stephens will preside, and the chief addresses will be made by Bishop Homer C. Stuntz and Bishop Adna Wright Leonard, the latter being the resident Methodist bishop for the Pacific Coast. Patriotic music will be rendered by the Twenty-seventh Coast Artillery Band and Ysias Brothers' Mexican Band; Madame Ellen Beach Yaw will sing, and Prof. Carl Bronson will direct a chorus of 100 voices in patriotic choruses.

Reservations will be made for large delegations who reach the auditorium by 2:15 o'clock, and these can be arranged for by telephoning Dr. Byron H. Wilson, 60088, or Broadway 6427, before Saturday, the 13th.

A similar great rally has been arranged for San Diego on the 10th inst., to be followed by another at Fresno on the 17th.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.
BRIGHT SIDE OF THE WAR.

Dr. Hugh K. Walker has been preaching a series of sermons in the First Presbyterian Church, Twentieth and Figueroa streets, on "The Bright Side of the War," his purpose being to cheer up and hearten those who are inclined to see only the dreadful side of the great world conflict, and to strengthen the faith of those who believe that this is God's world and that "the best is yet to be." Tomorrow night the subject will be "The Exiling of the Half-Gods." The ludicrous defects of some modern popular deities will be pointed out, and the influences created by the world war, which are likely to drive them into permanent exile, will be described. The closing sermon of the series will be delivered on the following Sunday evening on "The Reconstruction of World Politics." Dr. Walker is the present moderator of the presbytery of Los Angeles and will preach a patriotic sermon at the opening of the spring meeting of the presbytery at Long Beach on Tuesday evening.

TRINITY AUDITORIUM.
"AFTER THE WAR—WHAT?"

RALLY FOR MISSIONS.

Several of the national officers, who are returning from a trip to Honolulu, will be present. Mrs. May Leonard Woodruff, sister of Bishop Leonard and national corresponding secretary will speak. This society last year raised and disbursed $1,000,000, and is now supplementing the work of the Red Cross at cantonments and in providing homes for European orphans. The Southern California auxiliary, which is one of the strongest financially and in numbers, is doing a large local work in the support of seven institutional homes.

Rev. E. H. Kellar, world traveler and student, and now pastor of the Western avenue Christian Church, Thirtieth street and Western avenue, will begin tomorrow evening a series of Sunday-night sermons on "How to Win the War." He especially asks the attendance of any who have pro-German tendencies, and gives the opportunity for questions. His subject tomorrow night will be "Understand the Issue and Fight." This church has furnished forty-nine Liberty men, and Mr. Zeorian is the first one to die in the service of his country. The memorial service will be patriotic in character, and the Baraca double quartette will sing. Dr. William Ker will give a patriotic message on "The New Calvary." In the morning he will speak on "The Problem of Moral Evil."

NEW PASTOR.
EAST HOLLYWOOD CHURCH.

Dr. Lewis Thurber Guild will begin his pastorate at the East Hollywood Methodist Episcopal Church, Normandie avenue and Hollywood boulevard, tomorrow. He will speak in the morning on "The Keys of the Kingdom," and in the evening on "Armageddon: What of the War?" In the evening sermon he will state some plain but neglected facts which give added importance to the present conditions. Dr. Guild has been speaking for the Red Cross under the Redpath Bureau's direction. He comes to this pastorate from editorial work for the past four years, previous to which he was pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, Toledo, O., and for five years was pastor of the First Church of San Diego. In that city he directed the building and financing of the fine $120,000 edifice now occupied by First Church. He was also at one time pastor of Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church of Minneapolis, where his successor was Dr. (now Bishop) Matt S. Hughes. Dr. Guild has been so warmly commended by the denominational leaders that the church is intensely interested in his coming.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE.
CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY.

The anniversary of the entry of the United States into the great war will be observed with patriotic services tomorrow at the Church of the Epiphany, Sichel and Altura streets, Rev. Lawrence S. Shermer, pastor. It will also be the birthday of King Alfred of Belgium.

Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell will be present in the sanctuary, and this will be his first meeting with the Syrian Catholics of this city.

Father Sawaya has a growing congregation of Syrians, who are among the most industrious of the city's foreign population, and who make good American citizens. In their native land they suffered for centuries the tyranny of the Turkish rule, and they appreciate the blessings of political and religious liberty.

FIRST METHODIST.
MONTHLY QUESTION DRAWER.

Dr. Charles Edward Locke will preach on the subject "Add to Your Faith" tomorrow morning in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Sixth and Hill streets. In the evening Dr. Locke will open the monthly question drawer, and, among others, will answer the following questions:

"How far does crushing the Kaiser depend upon the American army?"

The service at night will be of a patriotic character, marking the first anniversary of this country in the great war. Dean MacCormack, who has been engaged in work at the army camps at San Diego, will be back, and will speak on "The Experiences of Twelve Months of War." The congregation will sing patriotic hymns and the "Star Spangled Banner," and thanksgiving will be offered for the heroic and victorious resistance of the British and French armies against the onslaughts of the Huns.

SOUTH PARK CHURCH.
ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

One year ago the South Park Christian Church, East Forty-second street and South Park avenue, was reorganized, after it had reached a precarious position through the defection of a large portion of its membership and Scott Anderson, then its minister. The reorganization was effected with seventy members. Tomorrow the first anniversary of the reorganization will be celebrated. During the year, under the pastorate of Dr. Bruce Brown, the membership has grown to 200; payments of $1700 have been made on the indebtedness, all bills have been promptly paid and there is money in the treasury.

A Red Cross auxiliary of more than 200 members has been organized, and meets weekly in the church; the Sunday-school has almost trebled in numbers, and four Christian Endeavor societies have been organized. Plans are being made to complete the church building within the present year. An evangelistic campaign will begin in May.

Tomorrow morning at the anniversary service Dr. Brown will preach on "The Pre-eminence of Christ," and in the evening he will conduct evangelistic services, giving an illustrated sermon on "Conversion." Special music will be rendered at each service.

This church will send twenty delegates to the annual meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of Southern California, which comes off at San Bernardino next Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday the regular monthly all-day meeting of the missionary and church work societies will occur at the parish house, when reports will be given from the San Bernardino delegates. In the afternoon Mrs. Ida Voss Woodbury of New York, national field secretary of the American Missionary Association, will speak. Mrs. Woodbury is an unusually gifted speaker, and frequently occupies the leading pulpits of the denomination. Her work takes her to remote parts of the home mission field—to Porto Rico, Hawaii, Alaska and Mexico; and she is equally at home when speaking before college students or in the humble tepee of the Indian, where she has done a wonderful work among the tribes of the Northwest.

More than sixty ministers in the Southern California Congregational conference have spent the week at Catalina Island attending the sixth annual retreat. Representatives were there all the way from Bakersfield to San Diego.

Reeder of Persia, and W. M. Danner of Brazil, who will tell of their varied experiences in the field. Dr. R. A. Torrey, pastor of the Church of the Open Door and director of the Bible Institute Auditorium, will preach in the morning on "The New Birth," and in the evening will be "The Undoubted Cause of the War, and Who is to Blame?" FLY THE FLAG.

Today will mark the endeavor of the Liberty Loan Campaign Committee to have a new American flag in the window of every home and business establishment in the city.

Famous men will tour California in behalf of the Liberty Loan campaign. In a communication received by the local headquarters it was stated that Ralph Connor, in real life, Maj. Gordon, author of "The Sky Pilot" and other well known books, will be one of the Southern California speakers. T. P. O'Connor, the Irish orator and statesman, is another expected visitor to this section of the State. On his tour he will include talks on both the third loan and the Irish question.

A. Mitchell Palmer, former Congressman and custodian of alien property in the United States, is to be in this city next Friday, although his other speaking dates are not announced. Senator Kenyon of Iowa and Bainbridge Colby will, in addition, be included among the Liberty Loan speakers to tour California. Dates and places of meeting will be announced as soon as definite information arrives from Washington.

When "Hearts of the World," the war's film masterpiece, is presented in New York, Frank C. Vanderlip, chairman of the National War Savings Committee, will decorate David Wark Griffith with the honorary chevron in behalf of the great director's services in Los Angeles this week for Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

Councilman Conaway endeavored to have the Council adopt resolutions asking Gov. Stephens to proclaim today a legal holiday, but the majority of the members said it was too late and that it would not be expedient at this time to compel workingmen to lose a day's work.

WOMEN READY FOR BIG DRIVE.

Instructions are Given for Liberty Loan Campaign.

Five Hundred Workers Attend Enthusiastic Meeting.

Daily Reports to be Made at City Hall Headquarters.

Five hundred women who will take active part in the third Liberty Loan campaign yesterday attended a meeting in the Alexandria and listened to H. S. McKee, chairman of the Southern California Liberty Loan Central Committee; John T. McBean, assistant county chairman of the War Savings Committee; R. H. Moulton, campaign manager of the Liberty Loan Committee, and Mrs. J. T. Anderson, chairman of the Los Angeles City and County Women's Liberty Loan Committee, tell what was expected of them in the soliciting of loan subscriptions.

"It is the desire of the Liberty Loan Committee that the women solicit subscriptions from women only," Mr. McKee said. "The names of 12,000 men have been compiled by Mr. Haldaman, city manager of the Liberty Loan Committee, and beginning next Monday an intensive six-day drive will be started to cover this list. It comprises those who are financially able to take large amounts."

TO CANVASS CITY.

"Under the direction of James S. Riley, thirty men have been chosen who will cover the entire commercial, industrial and professional lines. These men will visit every establishment in Los Angeles and organize smaller Liberty Loan organizations.

"Under Mr. Ballard, vice-president of the Southern California Edison Company, the city has been divided into precincts and a list of 125,000 heads of families has been compiled. Every one of these homes will be visited in the evening by a group of men working under him.

"Former Senator Motley Flint has organized 150 of the most fluent speakers in Southern California, who will make speeches in every meeting, and gathering in this section during the drive, and if necessary he has 200 more to call on."

Mr. McKee also said that there was to be made a list of everybody in Los Angeles who was able to buy a Liberty Bond and did not, which would be put on public record.

AFTER SLACKERS.

"There is a slacker element in this city as well as in other cities," he said. "However, after the Vigilance Committee gets through with a few of them I am sure there will be few men in Los Angeles who will not have taken at least a $50 bond."

Mr. McKee was followed by R. H. Moulton, who explained to the women the method of filling out an application for the purchase of Liberty Bonds.

"The government has said that the initial payment may go as high as $10,000. This can be taken at once, but if any one desires, however, to take out a larger amount, it will be necessary that they make it on the installment plan," he said. In explaining the giving out of window signs and buttons, he said that the Treasury Department had made a rule that no one but banks would have the handling of them. That no button would be given unless an initial payment had been made at the bank.

Daily reports of the amount of bonds which the women of Los Angeles sell will be made to Mrs. J. T. Anderson, in room No. 12, City Hall.

NO OBJECTORS.

Ordinance of Intention for Opening and Widening of Hill Street is Adopted by Council.

The ordinance of intention for the proposed opening and widening of Hill street, between Washington street and Santa Barbara avenue, was adopted by the Council yesterday. The petition asking for the improvement was signed by 78 per cent of the property owners within the proposed assessment district and the Council enacted the ordinance without any discussion.

It is the first time in years that an improvement of such magnitude and of so much importance has been instituted with so large a percentage of the property owners favoring it. Because of the fact that few, if any, objections are expected to be raised, those behind the project said yesterday that they feel the improvement will probably be made before Broadway is opened.

Property owners on either side of the street from Santa Barbara avenue to Fifth street and those on side streets will be assessed for the improvement.

MRS. TAYLOR DIES AT SANTA BARBARA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, April 5.—Mrs. Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor, wife of the author, died here tonight.

Mrs. Taylor was the daughter of the late Senator Charles B. Farwell of Illinois, and the wife of Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor, noted author and former Consul of Spain at Chicago, holding Spanish decorations and member of Chicago and New York clubs. The family home is at Lake Forest, Ill., and Far Afield, Montecito.

Mrs. Taylor was operated on at the Cottage Hospital last Saturday for appendicitis and gall stones. For a time she rallied, but double pneumonia developed and for days her life hung by a slender thread. On Thursday hope for her recovery was practically abandoned, though the fight for her life continued bravely. Dr. Harlan Shoemaker of Los Angeles and C. S. Stevens of this city having continued with her continuously for the past forty-eight hours.

Mrs. Taylor was known as one of the queens of American Society and had traveled in all the countries of the globe, being well known socially in London, Paris, Berlin, Madrid

FRENCH GENERAL HERE ON A VISIT TO KEARNY.

BRIG.-GEN. HENRI CLAUDON, second ranking French officer in the United States, accompanied by Capt. George de Courtrivron, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, stopping for a day before proceeding to Camp Kearny, where they will inspect the Fortieth Division at the national cantonment this Saturday.

Gen. Claudon, wearing the medals of the Legion of Honor, Croix de Guerre, with two palms, and the Croix de Guerre of Belgium, said last night at the Clark that the American soldiers were the surprise of the French and English people.

"When I first saw them at a distance I thought they were rather slender, but when I went among them and felt their muscles—'woof!' they were there, as you say in this country.

"I had the pleasure of being detailed as adjutant to your Gen. Pershing when he arrived in Paris. Such a welcome! The sight of those khaki-clad men set France wild with joy. Nothing was too good for them, and this did not turn their heads, for they are doing wonderful work at the front in the sector they are holding."

When asked what he thought of the recent drive of the Germans, he said that he believed it to be the final, supreme effort on the part of the Kaiser to win a military finish.

"But they will never get through," this veteran of Verdun, Argonne, Meuse and other battles said with a laugh. "Never, and the French people are confident in the ultimate outcome."

Capt. George de Courtrivron wears the medal of the Legion of Honor, Croix de Guerre, with three stars, and the French lifesaving cross. During the course of the conversation Capt. de Courtrivron said that this was the first time the general had allowed a picture to be taken of him or granted an interview to the press.

The French officers leave today from Camp Kearny, after which they will visit Camp Fremont, Palo Alto and the Presidio at San Francisco before returning to Washington.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The Friday Morning Club.

C. Upson Clark, American educator, long resident in Rome, gave the Friday Morning Club yesterday one of the most concise and informative war talks it has yet heard. His subject was Italy's part in the war, and his narrative of conditions within the Triple Alliance before the war—that alliance to which Italy has been accused of being faithless—was replete with facts of definite treachery on the part of Germany and Austria. He said that actually the Triple Alliance was broken when Austria annexed Bosnia and Herzegovina and when Italy refused to uphold Austria in war upon Servia two years before. He told how Italy had really been at war since 1911, the present conflict following upon the heels of the Tripoli campaign.

Dr. Clark gave some instances of German spy work when the want ads in the newspapers were used to convey information, and thus cheated the drastic censorship of the Italian government. He told of German propaganda, which was really responsible for the ghastly reverse suffered by the Italian army, and of the almost superhuman heroism that finally held the line, a line composed almost wholly of 18-year-old boys.

Dr. Clark has a mildly caustic manner of saying many things that give them greater significance. For instance, "It will be five years before a German will dare walk in the streets of Paris, ten years before he can safely appear in London, but it will be twenty years before he can walk in Vienna."

Prior to Dr. Clark's speech, the club heard a rousing Liberty Loan talk by Marshall Stimson and a first-class food conservation speech by Mrs. Robert J. Burdette. Mrs. Burdette told of the wheat shortage—only 17,000,000 barrels to last us to the next harvest five months hence, when our usual consumption is 40,000,000 in that time.

"It has come to a question of white flour or red blood," she said, as she urged the women to make "a voluntary offering, not a sacrifice," by refraining from the use of white flour for the next few months. "For food in the stomach is the basis of morale," she said, "and morale must win this war."

Three election board officers were elected by unanimous vote—Mmes. Ernest Miller, Katherine Kimball Forrest and Jules Kauffman.

There will be no Saturday dance for the enlisted men at the club today, as they will all be preoccupied with the Liberty Loan parade.

Next Friday's programme will be a recital by Mme. Eugenia Arglewics-Bem, who plays with "masculine force and feminine tenderness," a star pupil of the great Belgian master, Eugene Ysaye.

CHILDREN'S MATINEES AT KINEMA THEATER.

This morning, at 10 o'clock, the Kinema Theater inaugurates a one-year campaign of children's matinees, the entire receipts accruing every Saturday morning to be given to some charity. This morning the opening programme will include a Mary Pickford picture, "Rags," two reels of "Abraham Lincoln, the Son of Democracy" and a travelogue, "A Trip through Holland." The admission fee to children under 14 will be 5 cents, parents and guardians being charged 10 cents.

The gross receipts of today's children's matinee will go to the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum in Boyle Heights. One Hundred of the kiddies of that institution, under the guidance of Sister Cecilia, are to be honor guests of the Kinema management.

The Kinema organists and operators are co-operating with Manager Kehrlein by giving their services on alternate Saturday mornings gratis.

Dr. Maude Wilde and several members of the executive board of the Mothers' Educational Center conferred at length with Messrs. Kehrlein and LeBerthon of the Kinema at the theater yesterday morning. An announcement is expected to come any day now from the Kinema that should startle the photoplay-going public. The Kinema management expects to co-operate in a huge government measure which will result in the Children's Matinee becoming a great factor as a philanthropic institution.

FOR ANOTHER WEEK.

The clever little dancer, Lois Thompson, 9 years old, who has been making a hit at Grauman's during the past week, has scored so greatly that she is to be retained yet another week at that house. The little girl has proven one of the child sensations of the past few months in her dancing efforts, her appearance at Grauman's being her first public performance.

SCHOOL RAISES BIG SUM FOR AMBULANCE.

CARNIVAL NETS LARGE AMOUNT FOR FUND TO HELP THE FRENCH.

Buying everything in sight, swatting the face of the Kaiser, and dancing furious and often, the students of the Los Angeles High School raised $665.10 for the purchasing of a French Red Cross ambulance at the school carnival yesterday. The penny dance was the main feature of the day and with a "jazz band" and the big high school stage as a dance hall, this concession made $156 alone.

This is the second entertainment that the school has given and with this money and the receipts which were raised from the play, "A Star in Her Service Flag," the total amount for the ambulance now amounts to $924.10.

It was first planned that the money would be used to purchase an American Red Cross ambulance but when it was found that the government had more ambulances than they could ship "over there" the student body committee immediately set about for other plans. They finally reached the conclusion that the money would be forwarded to Paris, France, and there the people could purchase their own ambulance.

A big entertainment at one of the local theaters will be given at a future date, and Ray Van Cleve, faculty manager of the project, hopes to get the total amount of $2000, and make the last entertainment the final wind-up.

ATTORNEY RESIGNS.

W. M. Bearman yesterday resigned his position as Deputy City Attorney, and will engage in private law practice.

Romantic.

FILM PLAYERS' SECRET WEDDING IS REVEALED.

THAT little boy Cupid certainly is a prankish kid when he comes romping in among the film folk. Now it's one of the handsomest and best-liked of picture actors and one of the loveliest of film actresses, who have just been stung by his darts. The word "stung," of course, being used entirely in its artistic and metaphorical sense.

The contracting parties, as the society editress says, are none other than the handsome and much-liked George Larkin, at present playing in a Pathe serial, and Olive Kirby, former Kalem star, and one of the fairest of film favorites. The wedding took place early this week at Santa Ana, the Gretna Green of film lovers.

The marriage is supposed to be a secret, partly because the romance was a rather sudden-blooming affair. The way of it was this: The two had known each other in the East, while working in pictures, but they had not seen each other, though ...however, it is claimed, they really cared for each other. Then suddenly the other day Mr. Larkin got a telegram that Miss Kirby was coming West, and would he meet her at the station?

Now, Mr. Larkin being a picture actor and therefore a man of action, didn't wait for the gram to grow under his feet. Not only would he meet her, but he would meet her all prepared. When he greeted the smiling Miss Kirby he must needs have his little joke, though—so he told her he was sorry, but would she excuse the looks of his old car? Yet, she would — and right there proved, of course, that she really loved him. Instead of putting her into an old car, however, he led her to a beautiful new shiny roadster, and informed the young woman the car was hers! Sweetness and light!

And then, just like young Lochinvar, Mr. Larkin leaped into the machine beside her. "Where are we going?" asked Miss Kirby.

"To the minister's—away down at Santa Ana," quoth he, just like that.

And having time to think the matter over in the thirty-mile drive ... Kirby decided that "Darkie was

POOR TOTS TO SEE "BLUEBIRD."

Special Showing will be Given by Sid Grauman to Children.

This morning at 9:30 o'clock 250 poor children will proceed to school at Seventh and Mill streets as usual, but not to study. Instead of pouring over 'rithmetics and readers they will pour into three big auto trucks, one each furnished by The Times, the Mack Motor Truck Company and the L. A. Ice and Cold Storage Company, and be whisked to a special morning matinee of "The Bluebird" at Grauman's Theater.

Miss Alma M. Thomas, first grade teacher at the Seventh-street school, was instrumental in obtaining this favor for the children from Sid Grauman.

BELGIUM'S WRECKING TOLD BY ARCHITECT.

STATES NOT ONE ARMY BUT FIVE DESTROYED HIS NATIVE LAND.

"Not one army but five different armies destroyed Belgium," said Victor Horta, the distinguished Belgian scientist, scholar and architect, who is here from San Diego as the official representative of the Belgian government and head of the Belgian Commission on the Restoration of Old Buildings, as he addressed the local branch of the Archaeological Society of America last evening in Symphony Hall.

M. Horta, one of the world's greatest architects, told of the way the Germans carried on their propaganda in their own country and in Belgium for two years before the war.

"Germany carried on a propaganda to convince the people to something they did not understand. The result was that the people were thoroughly in sympathy with their Kaiser, although entirely ignorant of the aims of their government. Cartoons for two years before the war pictured the most outrageous lies, and so, when it came the time of rape and plunder and murder the German people felt themselves fully justified in their acts of violence. The Germans were convinced that killing is a virtue and that not to kill a sin. The pre-war German press, with their propaganda and their cartoons, have made the German common people feel fully justified in their devastation."

In addition, M. Horta said that most of the destroyed Belgian monuments and buildings are beyond reclamation, but that an effort is being made to save all of those possible. He says that Germany has been ruthless in destroying all the relics of ages. In some cities, Ghent, Brussels, Bruges, many historical buildings of great value were only preserved because the Germans did not think it worth their while to destroy them.

TOO TONIC.

Von Hindenburg has ceased to toot, "On to Paris." The bear which impelled him to boast that he would be in Paris by the first of April was altogether too tonic.

AMERICANISM VS. SOCIALISM.

The Socialists expected to sweep the boards at the recent election in Chicago, but not a single Socialist alderman was chosen for office. In other words, the voters in "vice-ridden Chicago" are mostly good American citizens.

NEVER AGAIN SO GOOD.

Billy Sunday closed his Washington engagement with contributions $16,000 less than enough to pay expenses. Too many in that town working the same side of the street. Billy's business has seen its best days. The War Spirit is the stirring Revivalist.

OPTIMISTS AND PESSIMISTS.

Are you a heaven-maker or a hell-maker? Heaven means harmony. Hell in old English means to build a wall around; to be helled was to be separated. The helled man is shut in and his vision is darkened by ignorance. He can see but from one point of view. He is a pessimist.

The heaven-maker sees things in their right relations and in their entirety. His vision is illumined by wisdom and it encircles the horizon. He is an optimist.

A NATION OF THIEVES.

Lord Robert Cecil, in a recent interview, made reference to the spread of dishonesty and immorality generally in Germany. Every class appears to have lost all sense of restraint and pays no attention to the patriotic appeals or to government regulations and orders. Everywhere profiteering, thieving, bribery and corruption are rife, and everyone is striving to make a fortune at the expense of everyone else. Herr Polthaff, writing in Die Hilfe, said: "There is no one left in Germany who, strictly speaking, has not earned imprisonment."

INEVITABLE PROGRESS.

The postmasters of Chicago and St. Louis are arranging details for the airplane mail route soon to be started between those two cities. A few years ago dreamers were laughed at when they dared to assert that the time would come when passengers and mail would be transported by air vessels and that airships would even be used effectively in war—if another war should ever come! The world has not been wise enough to keep out of war, but it has perfected the flying machine to such an extent that now not only passengers and mail but thousands of tons of war supplies are carried through the air daily. When the last vandal nation shall have been wiped from the face of the earth men will have an opportunity to go upward and onward in the peaceful paths of science; but until Prussianism has been crushed every device invented and every discovery made by man must be utilized for the purpose of necessary destruction. However, progress is inevitable—it is not in the power of Germany to stop it, though she should destroy all the material works created by the best brains of the world. All that humanity is learning today and all that has been discovered in the past is indelibly imprinted upon the minds of many men of genius and nothing that has been learned will ever be lost.

AN APPEAL TO YOU.

The Times is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Georges Fusenot, treasurer of the Los Angeles branch of the Society for the Fatherless Children of France, in which communication this paper is requested to aid in giving publicity to the cause of finding homes and food for the starving orphans of brave and bleeding France. There is an old missionary song, the refrain of which runs:

"If you cannot cross the ocean
And the heathen lands explore,
You can find the needy nearer;
You can help them at your door."

Today, however, with the increased facilities for ocean travel, it is not necessary to cross the ocean in order to render direct aid to the sufferers who reside beyond the sea. Today distance means nothing, either in spirit or actuality, and the children in France and Belgium are virtually at our very doors. This appeal is to you, Mr. Man, whoever you are—especially to you who are fathers and to every woman whose heart has known the ineffable joy of motherhood. If a little child, regardless of race or color, should come to your home tonight begging a crust of bread, you would not only feed the tot, but you would house and protect it until a permanent home could be found for it—and if you failed to do so you would be the most selfish, heartless creature in this beautiful city. If you are not donating some portion of your good fortune toward caring for the homeless little ones of France today it is because you have not yet awakened to the fact that these children are YOUR NEXT DOOR NEIGHBORS and that while you live in luxury with your own happy family, thousands of fatherless babies of France lie sick and dying for want of just a little easy sacrifice on your part.

THIS ANNIVERSARY DAY.

Next to the Fourth of July the day destined to be most widely celebrated by our children and our children's children will undoubtedly be this sixth day of April. Today we celebrate it as first anniversary of the date of our entry into the great war. In the future our children will honor it for a loftier and sublimer reason.

When the mists of obscurity are swept aside and all peoples get a clearer perspective of the momentous era through which this world is passing, the Sixth of April will be hailed as the Easter Day of civilization. Not because on this date an American Congress made a larger Declaration of Independence that involved the most peaceful of nations in the most unwarranted of world wars, but because by that declaration the coming generations were saved from lapsing into a black era of alternate tyranny and revolution, an unbroken nightmare of wars and threats of war and preparations for war, a feverish sequence of militarism, massacre and anarchy.

WHAT A HAPPY COINCIDENCE THAT SOME OF THE BEST NEWS OF THE WAR COMES THIS MORNING!

The Sixth of April will be one of the most notable dates in the calendar as long as civilization endures, not so much for marking America's entry into this passing war, but as for determining the world's entry into the coming peace. For had Congress and the President, backed by the public sentiment of the United States, refrained from taking the resolution they took just one year ago today, orderly freedom would have been swept away, while Prussian autocracy and the anarchy of the Bolshevik alone would have remained—the two surviving forces on the face of the planet—to fight out the final battle for supremacy.

Things have happened during the last twelve months beyond the belief or comprehension of far-seeing citizens. A new America had been created. The Sixth of April is as truly a national birthday as the Fourth of July. Bright fires of patriotism have been kindled that are melting all the dross of selfishness and narrow nationalism from the ore of American life and leaving behind only the true and tested gold of mutual helpfulness and universal brotherhood. As American citizens we not only know one another better than we ever have done before, but we have learnt besides to appreciate the sterling qualities in men of different ways and customs and languages, but making common sacrifices with ourselves in the same religious cause. And this new transcendent spirit that has welded the American people into a solid nation and transfigured and purified even the grim aspect of revolting war was created by the act of Congress on the Sixth of April, just one year ago today. For every mighty consequence of that act we have good reason, in spite of the sorrow and suffering that must intervene, to thank God for the goal to which it pointed us.

Many illusions we once held have been dissipated forever. Chief among them is that one of rock-ribbed antiquity that in the prosecution of war autocracy must inevitably be able to forge more efficient weapons than even the strongest democratic nation. Germany had no doubt on this point; a year ago America, too, thought there was some truth in the belief. It was a common expression on the streets, speaking of military efficiency and the power for dealing conclusive battle blows, "We must hand it to Germany."

What has the last year demonstrated? In twelve months the free spirit of democracy has built up a military machine and is already transporting its units to fields 3000 miles away across a Hun-forbidden ocean; and in that twelve months democratic America has accomplished more than autocratic Germany effected after forty years of concentrated and continuous organization. And—we are about to hand it to Germany! Last Sixth of April has justified our belief that true democracy can rise to the height of any occasion.

But outweighing every other change in the life of our American republic a new religious spirit has arisen to bind the Christian world together in ties that shall never again be broken. On the Sixth of April America wrote across her new declaration of universal freedom the words of the Sermon on the Mount. That vile creature of kings and would-be conquerors—Secret Diplomacy—was dragged out into the light of heaven and given its death-blow. Altruism and an enthusiasm for personal sacrifice became the rule and not the exception with millions of men and women never before called upon to practice long and increasing self-denial. The best illustration of the new spirit born in America is seen in this: when our government finds it necessary to curtail any of our old-time liberties or privileges, it doesn't have to COMMAND, it merely has to ASK the people for the needed help; and the spontaneous response of democracy makes the "verboten" system of the Prussian overlords look like a rod of glass in the hand of a paralytic. This incredible change, that has spread from America into the ranks of our Allies and so dissipated the last doubts as to the result of the war, dates from this anniversary day that we have every right to honor and observe.

And so, in the years to come, under a newer and nobler civilization, when Germany has been purified and Russia redeemed, when France has been rebuilt, Belgium restored and every unjust sufferer in the reign of fury restituted and recompensed, after time has obliterated from the war-scarred earth the fearful traces of the struggle, a better governed and better understanding world will inscribe this date upon its calendar in letters of gold.

"A MAD LOVE."

It seems that "the law of custom" as interpreted and enforced by a local judge outweighs romance. A young husband, recently brought into court to show cause why he should not support his wife, proved that a prenuptial agreement had been made whereby he was absolved from caring for his wife or for the child that might be born to them. Shortly after marriage came the separation and then, although wife needed something besides love, hubby did not lose any sleep on account of his marital responsibilities. However, when the case came to court the judge decided that the prenuptial agreement was vicious and against public policy and ordered the party of the first part to pay the party of the second part $7 a week for six weeks and $6 a week thereafter. But does she really deserve it?

LORD DELIVER US

From the hysterical, publicity-seeking "regulators," male and female, good Lord deliver us! If the Lord doesn't do it, perhaps the Kaiser will.

They are placing Uncle Sam in the attitude of a hen running around with her head cut off.

Let us grimly settle down to the BUSINESS of raising the money, the food and the men to FIGHT this war.

It is no time to try sensational experiments and visionary fads and schemes fostered by an ambition to get into the limelight and make a loud noise.

Grant us, O Lord, more common sense.

GUNS AND GODMOTHERS.

A hard-working grenadier of the One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Regiment at Camp Kearny has written to The Times five pages of explosiveness on godmothers in general and picture-queen godmothers in particular.

He admits that he was in particularly ferocious mood, having had a recent dose of godmothers and the concomitants that go with the vogue. Here are some of his sarcastic remarks:

"Godmothers are more important than guns."

"A war for ideals! Pshaw! A war to advertise the movies, you mean."

"Half a dozen men choose godma, and 3000 of us have to shout for her. And the public thinks it the finest thing in the world."

"If we have regiments we must have godmothers, and if we have godmothers we must have a movie. God help us!"

"The American people seem to delight in kissing Sammies and otherwise doing the merry war stunt, but their hearts are with Mary Pickford and Theda Bara and Doug Fairbanks."

Those are fair examples of his trascible explosion. Now, of course, France really started the godmother idea—and no one can accuse France of not taking the war seriously. But France favors individual godmothers for individual soldiers, whereas the United States has gone in for the trade, wholesale. And, really, when you come to think of it, a Mary Pickford or a Theda Bara would be rather a superlative sort of luxury for any single soldier to be able to boast. Besides, our men have their individual godmothers, too—as usual, America merely goes one better.

Our friend also waxes sarcastic anent "knitting slobbers" and "candy makers" and "Red Cross carnival gigglers" and obviously feels injured by a sense of any obligation to them. This soldier certainly had a wholesale grouch on when he let loose on that letter. But he wasn't quite fair. He may have a soupcon of logic in his complaint, but that is the fault of conditions, of circumstances, rather than of the heart of the nation.

Since, for instance, the Red Cross work is a voluntary affair, since this vast and important branch of war service is left in the hands of amateurs, male and female, dependent entirely upon the love and charity of the people, it must be admitted that it is a glittering success, an almost miraculous achievement. And it is a moot point whether it could ineed be more satisfactorily achieved by paid workers, financed by direct taxation and maintained as a strictly official branch of army work. And even if it were, countless thousands of good people, with full hearts and tears very near the surface, would lose the precious sense of personal service, of loving sacrifice, of taking an integral part in their country's trials and triumphs. We may laugh at the knitters, jeer at the sometimes irrational effervescence, call it slobbering and "Sammy-kissing" as we will, the fact remains that all these people are doing all that their hands find, to do and are doing it with all their might—and reaping much honorable satisfaction in the doing. Not all the men who enlist as soldiers are perfect soldiers any more than all amateur workers are good and efficient workers, but one does not judge a regiment by its incompetents; and to judge the great army of voluntary helpers by their few ineffectuals is equally unjust. Not all the soldiers in the army are fine, disinterested patriots; not all of them are guiltless of a forgivable little weakness for self-advertising; but where is the man who would belittle Uncle Sam's army of glorious manhood because of the vanity of the few?

In the case of godmothers, the picture queens cannot honestly be accused of using the war for self-advertising. They were famous and beloved before the war and, owing the public their wealth and happiness, they are but sharing their success with these our soldier men.

And this godmothering a regiment is quite expensive. But they perform it magnificently. If they happen to get a little advertising on the side, why begrudge it them? It doesn't do anybody any harm. To talk of "some little film actress being allowed to patronize 3000 fighting men" is paltry. She is merely being gallantly allowed to do in a large way, as celebrities must, what thousands of obscure women are doing in a small way. And if, indeed, beauty is the first duty of woman, it must be conceded that every picture-queen godmother is doing her duty right royally.

It is true the public DOES love the picture folk; that, in the immediate life of many of them, "godmothers are more important than guns." But the work is wisely divided—the soldier takes the responsibility for the guns, and the public accepts the responsibility for the soldier's welfare. Does our friend really suggest that this vast army of loving amateurs should start tinkering with guns? That is the work of the professional war worker. The public should be commended for its faith in them, its confident dependence upon the trained war wagers, its wisdom in as little noninterference as possible.

The cynics love to wax caustic at the expense of the social and entertainment side of Red Cross work, at the competitive offerings, the multitudinous interests. But those, too, have the virtues of their faults. For in that way every little circle of noncombatants is roped in; every individual enjoys a sense of personal service; and, pitiful as it often seems, these events do swell the grand total of the sums voluntarily raised for the essential Red Cross work. Taken singly on their own merits they are insignificant; but—

"Little drops of water, little grains of sand,
Make a mighty ocean and a pleasant land."

"Hoot, mon, dinna fash ye'sel'. We canna wield a goon, but we're muckle spry in bringing in the sillo."

SHAKESPEARE DESCRIBES KAISER.

"Thou sets the wolf where he the lamb may get;
Whoever plots the sin, thou pointest's the season;
'Tis thou that spurn'st at right, at law, at reason;
Thou mak'st the vestal violate her oath;
Thou blow'st the fire when temperance is thaw'd;
Thou smother'st Honesty, thou murder'st Truth;
Thou foul abettor! thou notorious bawd!
Thou ravisher, thou traitor, thou false thief,
Thy honey turn to gall, thy joy to grief!
Thy secret pleasure turn to open shame;
Thy private feasting to a public fast;
Thy smoothing titles to a ragged name;
Thy sugar'd tongue to bitter wormwood taste.
Thou grant'st no time for charitable deeds;
Wrath, envy, treason, rape and murder rages;
Thy heinous hours wait on them as their pages.
Guilty thou art of murder and of theft;
Guilty of perjury and subornation;
Guilty of treason, forgery and shift;
An accessory by thine inclination
To all sins past and all that are to come
From the creation to the general doom."

Possibly Henry D. Baker, brother of the Secretary of War, was sent abroad with the latter on account of his surpassing unfitness. He browsed around in the footsteps of Robinson Crusoe House. But why should not one take care of one's brother?

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE WAR TRADE.

Before the boons of peace return, those boons so long mislaid, our Teuton foes will have to learn that war's a beastly trade. In times of peace they armed and drilled, with war their end and aim; a million gents have since been killed, and they are all to blame. "Oh, it is well to plow and sow," their rulers used to say, "and it is good to ply the hoe, and put up stacks of hay; it's wise to make our liverwurst and dyes that will not fade, but war is always best and first the Teuton's honored trade. We like to see the farmers raise their rows of sugar beets, and labor through the summer days providing wholesome eats;
we praise the man who earns his board with plowshare, scythe or spade, but most of all we praise the sword, and war, the Teuton's trade." And when this weary war is done, the Teuton must admit that other tools than sword and gun are billed to make a hit. If he goes back to arm and drill, with energy insane, if he goes back to learn to kill, the scrap is all in vain. Before the scene of war we leave, and sheathe the gleaming blade, we have to make the Tout believe that war's a beastly trade.

WALT MASON.

WHEN LADIES GO LIBERTY LOANING.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The third Liberty Loan campaign opens today and femininity palpitates with patriotic ebullience which they propose to elucidate and display in the form of sales of Uncle Sam's first-class bonds.

When some masculine demons for efficiency suggested to Secretary McAdoo that the campaign be merged into one big effort, male and female co-operation, he looked the committee in the eye and murmured: "Not so, my friends, not so. These ladies are going to do prodigious things, as they proved very conclusively in the two previous drives, and, believe me, they are going to have all the credit that is coming to them," or words to that effect. And the financially-inspired ladies smiled sweetly and whispered, "Sure! I should say so."

Hence they took the compliment with calm assurance when word reached them a few days ago that all accounts were going to be kept strictly separate and the country is going to know just how good women salesmanagers can be.

The Women's Liberty Loan headquarters, in a modest little room on the fourth floor at the Alexandria, just bristles with efficiency on its own account. With Mrs. E. R. Brainerd for State chairman, a canny Scottish-American with a positively Glasgowan appreciation of the sinews of war; Mrs. Fred Hickok, vice-chairman, a youthful American matron whose feminine charms cover a world of shrewd capacity; with Mrs. Samuel B. Thomas, Junoesque, Titian-headed and positively unsquashable; and Miss Mary Foy, whose calm logical brain cannot be scrambled by anything less perturbing than a gas bomb, you will appreciate that this office means business. Then there is Mrs. J. T. Anderson, chairman for Los Angeles city, who will be found quite equal to her immense responsibilities.

Each lady has been given a certain defined department, and by a clever co-option of the ready-made organizations everywhere it will be a slick slacker dodger indeed who will escape purchasing at least one Liberty Bond for her credit's sake.

Mrs. Hickok has been handed the women's auxiliaries of the multitudinous secret orders—345 branches of 'em—and she has appointed subchairmen and subcommittees at every one of 'em, with the stern reminder that Uncle Sam expects every chairman to do her dashedest. Mrs. Thomas has the country clubs—reeking with nice, rich golfers—forty-eight of them in the State and everyone inspired to cut out the others with generous responsiveness. She, too, has appointed subchairmen—Miss Katherine Mellus, for instance, has that luscious field of promise, the Los Angeles Country Club, with a thousand affluent members, and Mrs. E. R. Williams has the Midwick, which is replete with rich Pasadenans.

And Miss Mary Foy has a prodigious field to cover—all the women's clubs and schools in the State, and everyone of them working for her and for the Allies—tooth and nail.

And the supreme feminine head of this California Women's Liberty Loan Committee is that graceful, dignified woman, Mrs. E. S. Baldwin of San Francisco, chairman of the Federal reserve district on this coast.

There will be something doing in the State this week.

And while the ladies won't necessarily decline orders from masculine buyers, it is the women they are depending upon to swell their grand totals. For instance, Mrs. Mary Banning Norris gave the committee its first order on Wednesday—$10,000 worth, if you please, and that goes on Mrs. Thomas's account.

I am not sure that these Liberty Bonds are not going to clinch the feminist movement. When a woman is once a bondholder she feels the equal of anything in trousers on earth. The clinging attitude vanishes the moment she gets that important-looking government document proving her capitalist stability. And every coupon she tears off swells her sense of independence and well-being. There isn't a man alive who can patronize a lady bondholder with any degree of success.

And, by the way, the government auditor has paid a compliment to our State Women's Liberty Loan Committee. He says their accounts of the last drive were the only ones that did not have to be sent back for elucidation. He was positively staggered with female efficiency. The men's accounts were altogether too casual. If they could do that in their novitiate stage, while still learning how, on the first two drives, what won't they achieve on this one, mellowed with experience?

As an evidence of the Thomas method of doing business, Attorney Shepherd says that Thomas negotiated with Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Then he forged a deed to the property and sold it to another party, in the meantime keeping up regular installment payments to keep Mr. and Mrs. Webb from becoming suspicious of his dealings.

E. L. Davis, treasurer of the Garvanza Investment Company, has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Thomas, charging him with forgery, and embezzlement. Postoffice Inspector Ranger has flooded the country with photographs and printed descriptions of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas.

James M. Sheridan was first retained by Mr. Phillips, but the lawyer was called to Washington on war business. Then former Judge Fuller of San Diego was employed to represent Mr. Phillips, but he died after his appearance in court.

Curious.

POISON CHARGE WITNESS GONE.

Woman Who Accused Husband of Plot Vanishes.

Anonymous Telephone Call Adds to Mystery.

Defense Lawyer Declares It's Blackmail Scheme.

The mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Josephine Barrett, coupled with an anonymous midnight telephone call for Attorney Frank Dominguez and an unexplained visit to the County Jail of a young woman yesterday, wove a veil of mystery around the case of C. N. Barrett, charged with having administered poison to his wife.

Barrett was released on his own recognizance yesterday afternoon and the case continued until Tuesday by Justice Palmer after he had waited practically the entire day for Mrs. Barrett to put in an appearance.

Mrs. Barrett was last seen at Sixth and Main streets at 4 o'clock Thursday evening, at which time she faithfully promised her attorney, Mrs. Florence L. Stephens, to be in court yesterday morning to testify against her husband.

At that time, according to Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Barrett was accompanied by her young daughter, Margaret, and was leaving ostensibly for South Pasadena, where she was employed at the home of Mrs. E. F. Hobart. Mrs. Hobart stated in court that neither the woman nor her daughter appeared at her home Thursday night.

The disappearance of Mrs. Barrett is further enlivened by information that she accompanied Mrs. Stephens Thursday afternoon to the Santa Fe depot to meet the incoming San Diego train, on which her young 11-year-old son, Charles, was expected, but who failed to arrive.

THINKS WIFE IN SOUTH.

Following his release from custody yesterday, C. N. Barrett, the husband, volunteered the information that he believed his wife had gone to National City, where she had previously resided.

When the case was called yesterday morning, Attorney Frank Dominguez, representing Barrett, declared that at Thursday midnight he received an anonymous telephone call from a woman who refused to give her name, but who asked Dominguez if he was representing Barrett. When the woman refused to talk further Dominguez hung up.

"I wish to state, Your Honor," said Dominguez, "that this case has all the embellishments of blackmail. I trust the Court will not permit this defendant to remain in jail, while certain women are making up their minds whether or not to prosecute him."

It developed yesterday at the hearing that Grace Miller, employed by the Gorham Fire Apparatus Company, and a mutual friend of the Barretts, visited the County Jail late Thursday afternoon and conferred for an hour with Barrett. When questioned in court by Attorney Dominguez relative to this visit, Barrett asserted she brought him absolutely no information from Mrs. Barrett, nor did she act as a go-between, as was suspected.

FRIENDLY VISIT.

"She simply paid me a friendly visit, that was all," Barrett explained to the court.

It was divulged that Mrs. Barrett is a direct descendant of John Wilkes Booth, the man who killed Abraham Lincoln. Her maiden name was Josephine Booth, and she has an aged mother, Margaret Booth, living in Alhambra. The family came to California from East Gary, Ind.

Barrett formerly owned three restaurants in Los Angeles, but through a freak in fortune lost these and is now employed as a waiter in a downtown hotel. He was arrested several days ago in San Diego by attaches of the District Attorney's office, on the charge that he had surreptitiously mixed antimony in a cream emetic which Mrs. Barrett partook of, and became so violently ill, it is said, that she was near death. The contents of two bottles analyzed by Dr. Arthur R. Maas, professor of chemistry in the University of Southern California, disclosed the presence of antimony in quantity, he testified yesterday.

DENIES CHARGE.

Barrett denied the charge against him, asseverating that Mrs. Barrett had attempted to poison him on several different occasions. On October 15, last, Barrett said, he returned to the apartment-house in which they were living, at No. 420 West Jefferson street, feeling somewhat sick. Mrs. Barrett and Miss Eleanor O'Neill, a friend, were in the apartment, he said, and the former mixed him a drink which resulted in his being sick throughout the night.

The Barretts have been married twelve years, and according to Barrett, their marital career has been a troublous one. Mrs. Barrett was first married to James Fildew, and obtained a divorce from him twelve years ago in Detroit. According to Barrett, his troubles were due to the entry into his married life of a man employed in the Hercules Powder Plant at National City.

The District Attorney's office, through Deputy District Attorney Fricke, who is handling the case, is endeavoring to find some trace of the present whereabouts of Mrs. Barrett.

FOR FILM STUDIO ZONES.

The Public Welfare Committee of the Council heard more arguments yesterday in connection with the proposed ordinance for the establishment of motion picture studio zones. The Hollywood Board of Trade asked that the zones described by the Chamber of Commerce be diminished, but did not ask that any of the studios now existing be abandoned. The committee arrived at no conclusion and postponed definite action until next week.

Wins His Commission.

Word was received yesterday of the promotion to a first lieutenancy of George W. Cohen of the Quartermaster Corps, stationed at Fort Sam Houston, by his mother, Mrs. W. Cohen of No. 907 Fedora street. Lieut. Cohen was formerly a student at the Los Angeles High School and in 1917 graduated from the University of California at Berkeley as president of the senior class. He enlisted in the army soon after.

BUYS PENNILESS COUPLE LICENSE.

Judge and Lawyers Start Man and Woman in Married Life.

Considering that the best welfare of the couple demanded that they be married, and discovering that the groom, M. R. Ponce, had no money, Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court yesterday produced a silver dollar and handed it to Bailiff Reeder.

"Take Mr. Ponce and his bride-to-be to the marriage license bureau and pay for a license," the court said.

"I'll have to have another dollar," explained Mr. Reeder.

Judge Reeve gazed pensively at Deputy District Attorney Joos and Attorney William Clary.

Mr. Clary fished up 85 cents and Mr. Joos 60 cents.

Then Mr. Ponce and the mother of his children were married.

FACES JAIL TERM FOR SEDITIOUS REMARKS.

CONVICTED OF HOT ATTACK ON THIS NATION'S ENTRY INTO THE WAR.

That he had made derogatory remarks about President Wilson and expressed the hope that "those ——— American transports will be sunk by submarines," was the testimony introduced against August Rothenpiler of No. 2007 South San Pedro street at his trial before Police Judge Chesebro yesterday. Rothenpiler was found guilty, and will appear before Judge Chesebro at 11 o'clock this morning for sentence.

The war argument that led to the charges against the man took place in Rothenpiler's home last Decoration Day, the prosecution charged, when the man became enraged at remarks made by Mrs. Mary Cane of No. 3515 South San Pedro street, and denounced the Allies and America's entry into the war. Mrs. Cane was the chief witness against Rothenpiler yesterday.

The defendant denied he was disloyal, and admitted he expressed a regret at that time that the United States was drawn into the war. Aside from that he said he did not remember saying anything that would reflect on this country or the President.

In finding the man guilty, Judge Chesebro stated he regretted the charges were not brought any sooner, but felt that under the circumstances, and in view of the testimony, the man was guilty. The charge on which Rothenpiler was taken into court was that of disturbing the peace.

STILL WRESTLE OVER FINANCES OF CITY.

MANY LICENSE CHANGES ARE PROPOSED IN ORDER TO MEET DEFICIT.

Keener competition among plumbers will result if the Council adopts a recommendation made yesterday by the Finance Committee. At present, contracting plumbers pay $60 a year as a license fee, the payments being semi-annual. The Finance Committee recommends that the total be unchanged, but that the payments be made monthly.

"This will permit the little fellow to take a contract," said Councilman Mallard. "Now a man who does not do much business can not afford to pay the semi-annual license fee. If he does, he can not bid low enough to get a job."

That this recommendation will be stubbornly resisted by the Master Plumbers' Association is believed.

Solicitors not having a regularly-established place of business in the city must pay a license fee of $10 a month, according to the recommendation of the Finance Committee.

Other fees fixed by the committee, which is trying to devise a plan for meeting the deficit caused by the elimination of the saloons, are as follows:

Soda fountains, not serving lunches, $6 a year; soap manufacturers, $60 a year; skating rinks, $20 a month; sausage manufacturers, $20 quarterly; salvage and house wrecking, $25 quarterly; dry storage plants, $60 annually; candy stores, $5 a month; root beer stands, $5 a month; lunch wagons, $10 monthly; news stands, $3 a month; trade schools, $10 per quarter; telescopes, $5 monthly; transient dealers, $20 a month.

It was suggested that retail cigar dealers be taxed $40 a year, and that stores using the coupon system be charged $50. Action on the suggestion was postponed.

CLOTHING THEIR LOOT.

North Main-street Tailor, Two-time Victim, Loses Twenty Suits.

A gang of active clothing burglars yesterday made J. J. Parra, a tailor at No. 628 North Main street, their victim for the second time in a few months. Breaking the door of his establishment with a rock, they gained entrance and escaped with twenty suits of clothes and everything portable inside.

The last visit paid to Parra's store was when someone entered the place and using a razor cut thirty suits of clothes into shreds. Detectives working on the case at that time declared their belief that Parra was a victim of a gang whose enmity he had incurred in some manner.

Yesterday morning's burglary was one of the many withing the last few days. In all instance, the doors were forced open with large rocks and clothing and valuables

AGED ALLEGED BIGAMIST HELD FOR HIGHER COURT.

AFTER his two alleged wives had taken the witness stand in his behalf, Henry McCall, alias "Mike" McConoley, was bound over to the Superior Court for trial in $1000 bail by Justice Hinshaw yesterday afternoon.

The 66-year-old alleged bigamist sat crumpled and with bowed head as Mrs. Mary McCall, to whom he has been legally married thirty-three years, spoke of her husband's peculiarities and recited specific actions of his that bordered on childishness.

Attorneys for the defendant disclosed by their manner of questioning witnesses that they will attempt to prove McCall of unsound mind.

Mrs. Sadie Miller, whom McCall wooed and won under the name of McConoley, living with her three weeks at her home, No. 118 North Avenue 18, testified that she first met him a year and a half ago when he first called as a solicitor and then continued to call until his visits became of daily frequence. They were married, she said, on the evening of February 15, the Rev. James T. Myers, a Christian church minister, officiating at his home on North Hill street. The minister corroborated the statements on the stand.

Edward McCall, a son, residing at No. 1954 Wall street, testified to having heard a confession from the lips of his father to the effect that he had taken to himself another helpmeet. Mrs. Ilia M. Buckbee, pretty daughter of Mrs. Miller, bore out her mother's statements as to McCall's action immediately prior to the alleged second wedding. McCall did not take the stand.

"UNUSUAL; SURPRISING."

Characterizing, in an accompanying letter, the raid by the police "gambling squad" on Eagles' Hall early Sunday morning last as "showing unusual and surprising circumstances" in that but four arrests were made although several hundred visitors were grouped around the gaming tables, Dist.-Atty. Woolwine yesterday sent to Chief of Police Butler, at the latter's request, a transcript of the grand jury testimony in the case.

SCHOOL CADETS IN CAMP AT ARCADIA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, April 5.—Lincoln High and South Pasadena High, 250 strong, pitched their tents at Camp Arcadia this morning and settled themselves for a five-day period of maneuvers, drill, tactics, setting-up exercises, etc. Under command of Maj. Harry Wishard the boys will live the lives of soldiers for nearly a week, and during that time will be instructed by regular army officers and non-coms.

The students are a fine, enthusiastic lot and move with a snap and precision that shows the value of the military training they have had already. The battalions from the two schools now in camp are the last of a crowd of 1600 Los Angeles county high school boys to spend their spring vacations in a military camp. They will leave for home next Monday.

"Spirit of '76."

"PRO-GERMAN!" SAID CENSOR.

So Says Witness in Trial of Robert Goldstein.

Tells of Talk with Chicago Film Scrutinizer.

Also Objected Personally to Brutal Scenes, He Says.

Testimony before United States District Judge Bledsoe and a jury, yesterday, involving the charge against Robert Goldstein of violating the Espionage Act in the exhibition of the motion picture, "The Spirit of '76," was devoted, for the most part, to the showing by the government that the film was changed, presumably by Goldstein, between the time of the preshowing of the picture at Clune's Broadway, previous to its showing at Clune's Auditorium, Thanksgiving afternoon and evening of last year. At the conclusion of the day's proceedings an adjournment was taken until Tuesday morning, when the government will conclude its testimony.

The first mention of Joseph Scott, the attorney, in the affairs of the Continental Producing Company, appeared in the testimony of J. E. Ransford, an automobile man of Hollywood, who invested and lost $5000 in "The Spirit of '76," he said. In August, 1917, when the creditors of the corporation took possession of the film, the stockholders having become weary of fighting debts, Mr. Scott, Mr. Ransford said, was made a member of the board of directors, with Messrs. Binford, Bettinger and Dunlap. It did not appear in the testimony, but the statement was made that Goldstein insisted upon Mr. Scott being made a member of the board, as Mr. Scott at that time was Goldstein's personal attorney.

After Mr. Ransford became interested as a stockholder, he testified that he insisted that Goldstein eliminate certain gruesome, salacious and anti-British portions of the picture, but Goldstein refused to cut them out, he declared, saying that the picture must have a "punch" if it was to be made a financial success.

He stated that he saw the picture when it was run in Orchestra Hall, Chicago, during the pending proceedings there in regard to the permit, and the objectionable scenes had been cut out. At that time he had an interview with Mal. Funkhouser, the Chicago censor, he said, who gave one of his reasons for opposing the issuance of a permit. This was that the scenes complained of were pro-German in character.

Charles E. Toberman, who was secretary of the corporation for about three months, said that Goldstein had piled up debts to the amount of about $30,000 in Chicago, and this did not include a fee of $10,000 that he was to pay a firm of attorneys for securing the permit from the city authorities. The witness said that Goldstein had secured some money on the picture in New York.

E. J. Van Vort testified to having seen the preview of "The Spirit of '76," when the objectionable pictures were not shown, and having attended the public performance at Clune's Auditorium, when they were, he said. Other witnesses along the same line of evidence were introduced by the government.

"CHINESE TODDLE" DANCE TOLD ABOUT.

ONE OF SEVERAL ALLEGED INCIDENTS THAT LOSE MAN HIS WIFE.

"Don't let her know you are my wife," Delbert M. Brubaker, a husband with many alleged love affairs, is said to have cautioned Mrs. Janie Brubaker when she answered telephone calls from other women. This and other things caused Mrs. Brubaker mental anguish, and she sued for divorce. In Judge York's court yesterday she was given a decree, particularly after Fay Stockman told how Mr. Brubaker made love to her.

She said he represented himself as an unmarried man and asked her to marry him. She discovered that he had a wife and told him so. His reply, according to Miss Stockman, was:

"That makes no difference, as I am going to get a divorce."

Miss Stockman did write an affectionate letter to Mr. Brubaker and identified certain notes. The affectionate letter Mrs. Brubaker found in her husband's pocket.

Detectives told the court they saw Mr. Brubaker dance the "Chinese toddle" with another woman in front of a cafe early one morning. Mrs. Brubaker also told how she had trailed her husband to an apartment-house late one night. Charging him with the visit the next morning, he told her it was none of her business.

WOULDN'T BE NO. TWO.

Woman Obtains Annulment of Marriage When First Wife Appears.

When Mary Arons, who was born in Rumania, but went to Canada in 1912, met and married Louis Arons, she did not know that he had a wife in Russia. When the first wife arrived at her home, wife No. 2 was indignant. Mr. Arons tried to argue that the first marriage was not legal and that the second marriage was binding. He also attempted to keep both wives in the same house.

Wife No. 2 packed up her goods and left. In Judge Valentine's court yesterday she was awarded a decree of annulment.

Rev. Mr. Judd was invited, and was astonished when a birthday cake was brought in with ninety-one tiny candles alight. HOTELS URGED TO BAR WHEAT.

National Association Appeals for Adoption of Plan.

Merritt Explains Halting of Pledge Campaign.

All of the leading hotels in Los Angeles received yesterday a bulletin from the National Hotel Keepers' Association requesting that they follow the resolution adopted last week at a meeting of that organization in Washington, when 500 members pledged themselves to keep all wheat products from their menus. It is believed that most of the hostelries of this city will adopt this suggestion, which has already been put into operation in many of the San Francisco hotels with excellent success.

Mr. Cole, City Food Administrator, said yesterday that the telegram from the office of the State Administration at San Francisco, temporarily holding in abeyance the pledge campaign for the non-use of wheat products did not mean that the government did not look kindly on the idea.

"I am a great believer in the patriotism of the rank and file of America," he said. "All of the requests of the Food Administration have met with wonderful co-operation on the part of everybody, and I believe that a person's verbal word is as good as his written word in this matter of food conservation. The wheat situation is serious enough. All that is needed is to make the people realize this seriousness, and they will respond heartily."

In explaining the reason for the stopping of the non-use-of-wheat pledges, Mrs. J. T. Anderson of the Fair Price Committee, made public yesterday a telegram received by Mrs. Robert Burdette, chairman of Woman's Work on Food Conservation, from State Food Administrator Merritt. This read, in part: "Every loyal American is joining heartily in the programme of saving more than half the usual amount of wheat consumed in this country between April 1 and September 1. In view of the forthcoming Liberty Loan campaign I have decided that the signing of pledges is to will be postponed, lest the attention be diverted from the importance of the Loan."

Wilbur Chapman, the moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church, will visit at Redlands on April 24, and the local Presbyterians are making plans for a big union meeting here at which he will be the speaker. Dr. Chapman will be accompanied by Mrs. Chapman and the Rev. William Hiram Foulks.

A conference of the church people will be held in the afternoon to be followed by a supper for the visitors. After this there will be a union meeting at which Dr. Chapman and Dr. Foulks will speak and tell of the work that is being done by all the churches in the cantonments here and in France.

Dr. Chapman has visited Redlands several times and has many friends in this city.

FORMER PROFESSOR HELD AS ENEMY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO (Cal.) April 5.—Robert Scheel, former professor at Stanford University and the University of California and at present a resident of Pacific Beach, is held in the County Jail and is being investigated by Department of Justice agents because he failed to register as an alien enemy, according to department announcement today.

Scheel maintained that he had twice approached the Pacific Beach postmaster with the purpose of registering and that the postmaster had delayed action. The postmaster denies the statement. Scheel has been in the United States for fourteen years, and took out his first papers in 1914 at Sacramento. He is said to be rated high as a professor of the German, French and Spanish languages.

FOR RED CROSS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SATICOY, April 5. — The Red Cross is the gainer by about $1400 as the proceeds of a big "Camouflage Carnival" which entertained about 1000 persons from all sections of the county, one night this week. The affair was entirely the work of local people.

Enterprise.

NEW AMUSEMENT PARK PLANNED

Hundred Thousand Dollars to be Spent on Project.

Long Beach to be the Coney Island of the West.

Silver Spray Pier to be the Site of Carnival Center.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, April 5.—To equal, if not surpass, any similar enterprise on the Pacific Coast, plans have been completed and work is expected to commence next week on a $100,000 amusement project that will make this city, the "Queen of the Beaches," the Coney Island of the West.

Fortune Lanier, representing the Friedlander Amusement Bureau, of Los Angeles, was in Long Beach today, closing negotiations for the installation of the big proposed carnival center on the Silver Spray pier.

SCORES OF DEVICES.

To spring up as though over night, it is planned to erect the park and its scores of amusement devices in the short time of one month, in order that the concessions may be ready for the coming summer season.

Among the main features planned for the pleasure walk will be a new dance hall, equipped with a negro jazz orchestra, a modern cafe, 600 feet of concessions, including ten shows of various descriptions, an art gallery, in which will be on display the $35,000 painting "Vision of My Youth," a merry-go-round, monoplier, house of mirth, ferris wheel and derby racer.

A forty-piece band will give two concerts daily and there will be free exhibitions of a high-class nature on the pier both afternoon and evening.

FOR STATE SOCIETIES.

Special inducements will be offered to the various Southern California State societies for the holding of their picnics on a special promenade and picnic grounds to be provided for on the end of the pier. It is planned to offer free hot coffee to all organizations holding picnics or reunions on the Silver Spray pier.

On one side of the new park scores of bathing booths will be erected for surf plungers. There will also be several showers and modern comfort stations.

There will be a grand entrance from the Pike, lighted by incadescent bulbs amounting to more than 10,000 watts. Negotiations closing the contract for the new amusement devices are expected to be effected tomorrow afternoon at a meeting of representatives of the Friedlander Amusement Bureau and the stockholders of the Silver Spray Pier Company.

SUITS SETTLED.

With the exception of one damage suit for $18,000, the litigation against the city of Long Beach resulting from the Empire Day disaster May 24, 1913, was ended today when the City Commissioners authorized City Attorney Hoodenpyl to settle twenty-four actions. The aggregate amount of the suits filed was more than $3,000,000, the city finally settling for 11 per cent. of the total.

Detectives of both Long Beach and Los Angeles have been asked to assist in the hunt for two diamond rings, valued at $500, lost by Mrs. R. V. Phillips, of Hotel Virginia, while the officials of the Japanese warships were being entertained at the local hostelry last night.

NEXT FALL.

For the benefit of Southern California realty dealers, who have been submitting prospective sites by the scores, Robert McKay of Winnipeg, who has arrived at the Palace apartments, this city, to conduct a Canadian Red Cross drive, announced today that owing to the fact that the present Dominion winter was drawing to a close no definite action would be taken until the coming fall toward establishing a convalescent home in the Southland for returned wounded Canadian soldiers unable to undergo the rigors of the Manitoba cold season. The proposed home, which will be financed by Manitoba business men for the returned soldiers of that province, has been sanctioned by the Canadian government, and will be in charge of a skilled medical staff. It will probably be located in or near Long Beach or Los Angeles.

Mr. McKay will receive Canadian Red Cross subscriptions at the Palace apartments April 9, 10, 11 and 12, the dates on which a big Red Cross drive will be held in Manitoba Province, Canada.

LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE TO OPEN WITH RALLY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ANAHEIM, April 5.—Details of the plans for the holding of the biggest patriotic celebration ever held in Anaheim have been completed and from the minute the soldier boys of Co. L, of the One Hundred and Sixtieth California Infantry arrive at 5:30 o'clock Saturday evening, until late that night a rousing rally will be in effect and Anaheim will usher in the second year of America's participation in the "War for Democracy" jointly with the opening of the third Liberty Loan drive.

The Liberty boys from Camp Kearny will be met at North Los Angeles street and Broadway by a monster Reception Committee, the Malvern Hill Post G.A.R., the Liberty Loan Committee, Boy Scouts, High School cadets, Anaheim chapter of the Red Cross and the Anaheim Band, and impressive flag-raising services will be held on the library grounds after which a parade will be formed which will march through the business section to the Masonic Temple, where the ladies of the Eastern Star will serve a sumptuous banquet to the boys from Camp Kearny.

MANY SPEAKERS.

The evening will be spent in rallies in the theaters and at designated points where speakers will urge the purchase of Liberty Bonds. A big arch has been placed across Center street, bearing a statue of Liberty and a huge clock, the hands of which designate the amount of Liberty Bonds sold. The hands of the clock are to be moved forward as the sale of bonds increases.

Anaheim is going to make a desperate effort to sell her quota of Liberty Bonds the first day of the drive and utilize the remainder of the time putting the Mother Colony "over the top" of her maximum quota.

PRAYER FOR VICTORY.

Commencing Saturday and continuing until peace has been declared, citizens in all walks of life in Anaheim will pause at noon each day to offer a prayer for the victory of the cause of democracy. The tolling of seven strokes of the City Hall bell at noon each day will be the daily reminder.

BANKER'S HOME ROBBED.

One of the boldest daylight robberies ever committed in Anaheim was perpetrated yesterday afternoon when entrance was gained to the home of John Harting, a retired banker, and $500 worth of jewelry was stolen, among which were several articles highly valued as heirlooms.

WARM POLITICAL FIGHT.

One of the hottest city election campaigns ever waged in Anaheim is in full blast today as a result of the injection into the race of an anti-administration ticket. The people claiming that the city's affairs have been dominated in an arbitrary manner by four members of the Board of Trustees, have put up a "Good Government" ticket composed of F. A. Backs, Jr., R. J. McFadden and F. N. Gibbs, which is opposed by George Dutton and Walter Amstutz the choice of the administration backers. However, this is the first election held in Anaheim for several years in which the "wet" and "dry" question is not an issue.

NEW STAGE LINE TO OPEN SATURDAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MEXICALI, April 5.—The first stage line to run between Mexicali and Ensenada by way of Tecate and Tia Juana over the new military road built by Gov. Esteban Cantu of the northern district of Lower California will leave Mexicali next Saturday.

The Sutherland Stage Company has secured the concession from the Mexican government and promises to place six large autos on the run. Daily trips between Mexicali and Ensenada will be made, the manager promises. The roads are now in as good a condition as those on the American side between El Centro and San Diego, it is declared, with the exception of a short stretch between Tecate and Tia Juana, and this portion of the road is passable.

According to the reports, the merger will take place shortly, the new institution to retain the name of the First National Bank, but to occupy the present location of the Claremont National Bank.

OPEN-AIR MARKET FOR RED CROSS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, April 5.—The open-air market of the Bay Cities Chapter of the Red Cross opens tomorrow. This original idea for obtaining funds for the Red Cross, which originated with the women of the local chapter, is expected to be a great success. Today more than twenty big cars, driven by women interested in this branch of the work, scoured the country for contributions, which were generously given. Plants from local nurseries, grape fruit, lemons, oranges, beans, and garden truck from the adjoining ranches, and jellies, jams, preserves and cooked foods from the housewives of the Santa Monica Bay district, were included in the quantities of good things loaded into the motor cars until they could hold no more.

WETS TO MAKE FIGHT.

Saloon Interests to Make Desperate Effort to Carry Municipal Election Monday.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

IMPERIAL, April 5.—The saloon interests will make another fight to enter Imperial Valley Monday, when the city election is held. A count decision a month ago ousted all liquor-selling establishments from this city.

The drys and the wets each have a set of candidates for City Trustee on the ballot. In addition there are two propositions which would sanction the sale of liquors; one which would place the city back where it was before John Barleycorn was banished, and the other would strictly regulate the sale of liquors.

The prohibition candidates for Trustees are W. O. Hinderks, Allison Peck, Charles W. Waite and George E. Heber. The wets have nominated John R. Flynn, Otto Lindeman, Edward F. Neelon and Martin E. Brown.

Charges that the liquor men have attempted to throw as much of the farmers' trade as possible to El Centro during the past few weeks have been made. The saloon men are claiming that business has been decidedly dull since the saloons closed, but the prohibitionists are pointing to greater bank deposits and more women and children on the streets.

ARIZONA SENATORS OPPOSING CONTRACT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, April 5.—President Leroy Holt of the irrigation district wired from Washington today that Arizona Senators were vigorously opposing any contract with the Imperial district for a canal connection with the Laguna Dam that did not specify a prior right to all the water Yuma might need from the dam in the future.

The Imperial district proposes to pay $1,400,000 for a diversion right and build its own diversion and desilting structures and connecting canals. Director Davis of the Reclamation Service has sanctioned a contract giving Yuma water for a maximum of 120,000 acres and right to one-quarter of the available water. Rather than yield the point the Imperial district will not connect with the Laguna Dam, but will seek to have Congress approve a bill making Imperial, Palo Verde, Yuma Valley and other Colorado River projects part of a large reclamation project, each system to have equal rights.

TENANT ON LAND HAS NO REDRESS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HOLTVILLE, April 5.—That a tenant on land in the Imperial Irrigation District has no redress against mutual water companies for failure to deliver water was held by Superior Judge Cole in deciding the suit of sixteen lessees of land in No. 6 district against the water company for damages resulting from water shortage in 1915, when the company rebelled at charges made by the then Receiver W. H. Holabird, and was in consequence without enough water for its stockholders.

TRADING NEAR STANDSTILL AS GERMANS RENEW DRIVE

Record for an Abnormally Dull Week is Broken in Wall Street.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—The stock market was at virtually a standstill during the greater part of today's session, exceeding all previous days of an abnormally dull week in its unparalleled apathy. Total sales amounted to 145,000 shares, the low record since August, 1916. Resumption of the German drive in France accounted for the further cessation of operations, even the trading element taking no interest in the courses of prices.

Declines of a point among investment shares and as much as two points in a few specialties resulted from sheer indifference or inertia. The market seemed so thoroughly liquidated that no pretext for pressure existed.

The decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission to inquire into the petroleum freight rates and institute a physical valuation of various telegraph and cable companies caused scarcely a ripple among the shares of the properties most concerned, such action having evidently been discounted.

Other domestic developments were along more constructive lines, mercantile trade advices offering further encouragement and bank-clearing holdings well up to recent high levels.

More time funds were available at the long prevailing 6 per cent. rate, but the immediate future of the money market hinges largely upon requirements incidental to the third Liberty Loan.

Liberty issues again furnished an overwhelming quota to the day's dealings in bonds at slight fractional recessions. International issues were variable, French municipals hardening. Total sales, par value, aggregated $5,250,000.

United States bonds, old issues, were unchanged on call.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Corn meal has made another advance per 100 pounds. White is now selling at $6.25 and yellow at $5.55. Milo hominy is selling at $7.15. Dividends on the rains are being received by cattle and stock men in general on account of grass and lower prices on alfalfa, same having declined from $2 to $5 per ton.

Fish prices remain firm. An occasional heavy catch of rock cod causes a temporary flurry, but in the end has little effect on the markets. Fishermen and fish are both scarce these days, especially the former. The United States government has forbidden Austrians, of which a considerable number were working around San Diego and San Pedro, to go out, on account of the easy accessibility to the coast of Mexico, where a great deal of fishing is carried on. On account of these conditions and the easy manner in which a catch can be disposed of to the canneries at good prices, local dealers are paying 12½ cents for barracuda, and large halibut, f.o.b., San Diego, and from 7 to 11 for round halibut from one to three pound.

Butter dropped 1½ cents per pound yesterday; receipts at the Produce Exchange were as follows: Four hundred and ten cases of butter, 17,700 pounds of butter, 5000 pounds of cheese, 2150 pounds of Pacific cheese, 534 sacks of potatoes and 46 sacks of beans.

PROGRESSIVES TO GREET HAYS.

None but Two Republicans on Reception Committee.

Former Lieutenant-Governor Gets Appointment Plum.

Visitor will Talk Liberty Bonds, Little Politics.

BY THE WATCHMAN.

Plans are being perfected for the entertainment of Will Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who is scheduled to arrive here on the 15th inst.

Yesterday the personnel of the local Reception Committee was announced. It comprises three persons who have been actively engaged in Progressive politics for years. The all-and-out former Progressives are former Lieut.-Gov. A. J. Wallace, Marshall Stimson and Mrs. Frank Gibson. The others are former United States Senator Frank P. Flint and Mrs. R. W. Richardson, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee.

It is said that A. J. Wallace named the committee and that he was instructed to do so by Chairman Benjamin of the State Republican Central Committee. Mr. Wallace is a vice-chairman of the State organization; so is Mrs. Gibson.

Whether Mr. Wallace consulted with William Crocker, California's national committeeman, is not known.

It is planned by the Reception Committee to hold open house at the Alexandria all day the 15th inst., and in the evening Mr. Hays will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given at the Broadway Department Store.

It is stated that Mr. Hays will make several addresses here, all in the interest of the Liberty Loan drive, accepting the speech at the banquet, which will be political.

SUITS CONSOLIDATED.

Sixty-nine Separate Actions Against Loan Concern Combined in One.

Acting under the recent ruling of Judge Valentine that separate suits aggregating sixty-nine in the justice's court against the Arnold Company, were a clog to the courts and a harassment to the defendant corporation, Dan Cohn, assignee, filed a single suit in the Superior Court yesterday against the Arnold Company. He lumped all the various justice court suits in an attempt to recover $3693.17, representing alleged excess interest on loans.

The complaint contains 140 counts, representing the various loans upon which alleged excessive interest was charged. The complaint was filed through Attorney F. W. Allender. The trial of the suit will go into the merits of money lending, it is said.

CONTRACT BRIDE SUES HUSBAND'S PARENTS.

Agreed not to Ask Support, Now She Wants Heavy Damages.

Following on the heels of a disrupted prenuptial agreement, one of the most remarkable that Judge Wood has had to deal with, Mrs. Anna Mae Kayler Caliva, yesterday filed through Attorney B. E. Lewis a suit for alienation of the affections of her husband, Salvidore Caliva, and demanded $10,000 damages from his parents, George and Jennie Caliva. She charged that the defendants maliciously induced her husband to leave her.

The agreement relating to property was that the husband was not to take care of his wife or their child, shortly expected to be born. The husband's father agreed to receive the child of the young wife. Judge Wood, in alimony proceedings on Monday, denounced the agreement and refused to approve it. He ordered Mr. Caliva to pay his wife $7 a week for six week and $6 a week thereafter pending the trial of Mrs. Caliva's suit for separate maintenance.

Salvidore Caliva is only 17 years old.

gifts. Detailed instructions to carry out this order of the chairman of the Shipping Board are being prepared at the office of the Shipping Board.

This brings to a victorious conclusion a campaign for this desired service by public-spirited citizens of the city of Los Angeles. Some time ago Paul Shoup, president of the Pacific Electric; Harry M. Robinson of Pasadena, Isidor Dockweiler of Los Angeles and Clarence Matson, traffic director of the harbor and Senator Phelan and Congressman Osborne presented the matter to the Shipping Board. At that time the conditions were not such as to permit a definite answer, and Mr. Brunswig went from this city to carry the negotiations on to a successful conclusion. In this he was greatly assisted by the enthusiasm and sympathy and the approval of the French Ambassador and the head of the French high command, M. Tardiu.

CITY "FIRES" PRO-GERMAN.

Accountant for the Harbor Department Discharged.

Case of Accused Policeman Under Advisement.

Witnesses Tell of Alleged Disloyal Remarks.

One city employee was summarily discharged yesterday for having uttered seditious remarks, and the case of another was taken under advisement.

After reading a complaint covering sixteen pages, presented by a representative of the Department of Justice, the Harbor Commission dismissed Hans Max Wegener, formerly an accountant of the Harbor Commission. Patrolman Jacob Hartnagel was given a hearing by the Police Commission but that body decided to lay the evidence before Mayor Woodman before passing judgment.

PLACE IN GERMANY.

While the evidence was not submitted officially to the Harbor Commission, it was learned yesterday that Wegener made application to a city official, just prior to the date the United States declared war against Germany, for amistance in getting a passport to Germany. The official said he refused to assist the man. Wegener is alleged to have asserted that his place was in Germany; that it was his fatherland, and as his brothers and other relatives were there, he should be there too.

Probably the most damaging testimony was given by F. W. Frame who said he had a conversation with the officer in an oil station on North Main street. He said Hartnagel told him he did not blame the boys for being slackers and said: "I would not arrest a slacker."

"NO BUSINESS" IN WAR.

Motorman Larson told of an argument on his car one day in which Hartnagel and a man whose name he did not know engaged. He said the unidentified person said he had paid $4000 to get his boy out of the army.

"I answered that I had a boy in the army and would not give 15 cents to get him out; that I believed Uncle Sam needed him worse than I did," said the motorman. "Then Officer Hartnagel got on the car and I, turning to him, said, 'What do you think of this?' Here is a man who said he paid $4000 to get his boy out of the army and I told him I would not give 15 cents to get mine out.' Hartnagel said to me, 'I don't agree with you. We had no business getting into this trouble. We were not consulted. Let the people who started the war fight it out.'"

The motorman said he talked with Hartnagel upon another occasion. It was at a confectionery stand. He said the officer poked fun at the United States, said George Washington only had a couple of wooden guns when he fought for our liberty and that Germany would win the war because it is better prepared.

"I just let the remarks pass at that time," said the motorman. "If the times had been as they are now, it would have been different." He said he reported the officer, however, to the sergeant on the beat.

W. S. McKay of the drug firm of McKay & Monkman said Hartnagel came into his store one day and asked him how he was getting along without German-made drugs. Mr. McKay said he told him American drugs are just as good and the store did not miss the German-made stuff.

"Hartnagel said we should never have gone into the war, that we never should have entered the war zone and he took issue with me when I said the sinking of the Lusitania was sufficient cause for us to enter the war," said Mr. McKay.

Conductor Bradley said Hartnagel told him, 'The Kaiser can whip the world, we should never have gotten into it."

The officer, who was represented by "Judge" W. S. Baird, denied all of the accusations and testified that he had arrested four slackers. He said he had bought $55 worth of Thrift Stamps and would enter the war in defense of the United States.

Asked if the men who testified against him had reason for holding a grudge against him, he said he believed they had. He said Mr. McKay was sore at him because he called his attention to the fact that the lights of his automobile were out and that Mr. Frame was angry because he insisted upon him (Frame) taking out a new oil station license.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Deputy City Prosecutor Pendegast said that while the evidence might have failed to show grounds for interning the patrolman, he is not a suitable man to be wearing the uniform of a policeman.

STAR SHELLS ILLUMINE KEARNY'S NIGHT BATTLE.

By Rockets' Red Glare, Sunshine Men Annihilate Enemy Horde.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CAMP KEARNY, April 5.—War-like activities of various units of the Sunshine Division today gave the camp full semblance to a sector of the battle front in France. With the Eightieth Infantry Brigade camped on the San Dieguito Rancho, in battle practice, various units of the Seventy-ninth Brigade popping Germans on the rifle range, the student officers of the officers' training school conducting the first night fire of artillery, and units of the Sixty-fifth Artillery Brigade theoretically annihilating Huns, in maneuvers, every branch of the service was busy.

According to officers here, the night firing conducted by the artillery battery of the training school was the inception to every training last night. With war regulations in force, the student officers directed the firing of shrapnel at night by the light of rockets, star shells and other means of throwing confusion into the ranks of the Huns.

In anticipation of the experimental work, about 500 persons, mostly officers, with a few civilians, gathered to witness the battle with an imaginary foe in the dark of night. Those who approached the gun emplacements with lights afiare on their autos were soon told that the work was being done under battle conditions and that lights have no place on a battle front, especially when field guns are located in anticipation of an attack on the "enemy."

For about half an hour the spectators shivered in the biting night air. The air was made all the colder by the waiting and the fact that no one but the officers knew exactly what was taking place. Telephone buzzers awoke all to anticipation. Messages began to be exchanged between a bombproof dugout 400 yards from the prospective targets and the officers in charge at the guns.

Then out of the night a rocket shot up from the dugout, coming from a mortar, the elastic weapon of the trenches. It was like a July Fourth celebration. Thirty seconds later a star shell was shot up and hung in mid air, lighting up the targets as if in daytime. More rockets lighted the skies, and then the field guns began to bark in rapid succession. From the dugout came a message from Lieut. L. F. Grosden, liaison expert with the division, that though the shells had burst near the dugout, the lead pellets had done no injury.

While messages were being sent back and forth by telephones and rockets, the student officers directed the firing of the field guns, and with such an accurate aim that the result was surprising to the instructors. A lot of dummies represented a German infantry battalion, and these were punctured with the lead pellets from the shrapnel.

POSITIONS WIPED OUT.

It was the same way with the artillery targets further up the hill, where supposed gun positions were wiped out, and dummy Germans, supposed to be manning the guns were also punctured. In most cases the shrapnel burst at the proper distance in the air and scattered the pellets on the "enemy." But in some cases the shells passed through the targets and exploded on the ground, creating havoc.

These artillery ranges were not cleared until after 11 o'clock, although the actual firing lasted only a short time. The night firing completed the work of the artillery cadets on the range, there still being two weeks of training before they will know about their commissions.

While the firing problem was conducted by the cadets, those in command of the night's operations were: Capt. H. W. Enefer and Capt. F. H. Hover, Lieut. H. N. Martin, who commanded the illumination party as ammunition supply officer; Lieut. J. C. Clayton, safety officer; Lieut. J. B. McDougall, range officer; Lieut. L. S. Nordstrum, signal officer in charge of searchlights, and Lieut. W. Blumert, communication officer.

A TASTE OF WAR.

The Second Battalion of the Utah Regiment, camped in Poway Valley last night and got a taste of war conditions and restrictions. The battalion is in command of Maj. Kneas. Last night Brig.-Gen. Leroy S. Lyon, commander of the Sixty-fifth Brigade, and a party including Maj. Devereaux, Capt. Wesley King, Lieut.-Col. William C. Webb, commander of the Utes, and Lieut. Armsby, aide to Gen. Lyon, paid the camp a visit. The general had supper of bologna, "hot dogs," boiled spuds, gravy and a can of fruit, and he declared it the best meal he had had for some time. The Utes went through a battle problem, but had to maneuver with care, for in peaceful California, crops cannot be destroyed as the Germans do in France.

The hike to the camp and back this afternon had to be made under war conditions, scouts, flankers and pointers, or men far in advance, had to be sent out for a possible enemy.

The work is partly in preparation for the battalion and regimental firing problems which will begin on Monday for units of the Sixty-fifth Brigade. The three-inch guns will first be fired by battalion and by regiment. This will bring in new conditions for the artillery men, who heretofore have only fired battery problems. The new work will be done subject to war restrictions.

REGIMENTAL PROBLEMS.

Towards the end of a tenday period, the 4.7-inch field guns will be brought into play for the first time. After a few days firing of the larger guns, the two field pieces will be fired together in regimental problems.

The One Hundred and Forty-third Field Artillery also got ready for Monday's programme. Maj. E. Van Vranken was in command of the maneuvers today, including men from both the First and Second Battalions and officers of the Second. Capt. Walter Petersen was in command of Battery A; Lieut. Williams, Battery B; Lieut. Hawley, Battery C; Col. Ralph J. Faneuf directed operations and Brig.-Gen. Lyon acted as observer.

The Grizzlies likewise went through battle maneuvers in battalion formations today. The Grizzlies will handle the 4.7-inch guns in the field, the One Hundred and Forty-third the 3-inch, and Utah 4.7 inch.

Maj.-Gen. Frederick S. Strong and other officers today visited the camp of the Eightieth Brigade, commanded by Brig.-Gen. Herman Hall. They watched the placing of outposts by the two regiments in the brigade and the Machine-gun Battalion. This is equivalent to occupying a sector at the front and is similar to the "going in" process of the trenches.

ALL RULES OF WAR.

Machine guns were placed, outposts established and snipers' nests located. All rules of war applied. In Gen. Strong's party were Lieut.-Col. John W. Gulick, chief of staff; Maj. V. E. C. Dashwood of the British mission; Capt. L. P. Loriot of the French mission, and Maj. F. H. Farnum, assistant chief of staff.

The work of the Eightieth has had a "toughening" effect on the men, so far as being able to withstand the rigors of war is concerned. Ill-nature is even suppressed. One man discovered what he declared is a calamity. He is considerably over six feet tall and found that he can lie on his bed in his "pup" tent and let his head stick out one end and his feet the other. His sleep was disturbed today when some peppery young men discovered the feet sticking out and paddled 'em with a board. He arose in mighty wrath, his long frame getting taller as he spoke, but at last he got down and laughed.

WHET POLE AXES FOR BLIND PIGS.

Police and Courts to Give 'Em no Quarter.

Big Bail and Bigger Jail Freely Promised.

First Case up for Violation of the New Law.

Chief of Police Butler, in co-operation with the police judges, yesterday tightened the screws on the Los Angeles "booze" lid by issuing orders and announcing measures calculated to strike terror in the hearts of bootleggers, potential and present.

A minimum bail of $1000 for each person arrested on charges of violating the Gandier ordinance, further preparations for a strong offensive against "blind-piggers," a mailed fist for professional bondsmen and other legal allies of dry law violators, and definite promises of limit jail sentences for all offenders, were the day's developments following the first case under the new ordinance to come up in the Police Court.

Chief Butler's order to desk sergeants placing the minimum bail of $1000 in cash came following his conference with police judges. A pledge not to reduce the bail set by the police was made by the magistrates, and an agreement about a policy to be followed was reached, Chief Butler announced.

"There will be absolutely no let-up in enforcing the new ordinance, and bootleggers, blindpiggers, professional and straw bondsmen, fixers of various degrees, and all their kind will receive no mercy from the police or the courts," the Chief said.

"There is no doubt of the sentiment of the people as expressed in the last election, and there will be no doubt in the way we are going to enforce the law and suppress every attempt to tilt the lid."

Police Judges Thomas P. White, George S. Richardson and Ray L. Chesebro, who participated in the conference, were unanimous in their promises of stern treatment for violators of the liquor ordinance.

"In all cases where the offenders are proven guilty, I shall impose a sentence of 180 days in jail and an additional heavy fine," was the statement of Judge White following the conference. "The limit the law will allow, so as to act as a warning to others, is my plan," said Judge Richardson. "There will be no trifling with blindpiggers—no fines, that will amount to a licensing of those places. A jail sentence is a good reminder that the law has been violated," declared Judge Chesebro.

It was before Judge Chesebro that the first case under the new ordinance was called. Robert Johnson, manager, and John Scott, member of Porters' and Waiters' Social Club, at No. 1201½ South Central avenue, who were arrested in a purity squad raid shortly before midnight Friday, and charged with violation of the Gandier ordinance, were the defendants. Both men entered a plea of not guilty. Their cases were set for April 12, and bail was set by Judge Chesebro at $2000 each. In default of bail Johnson and Scott were taken back to the City Jail.

With the division commanders in possession of Chief Butler's drastic order, and every member of the police department instructed about his part in the big "drive," preparations to quietly and promptly swoop upon the first "blind pig" brought to their attention, are being continued by the officers. According to Chief Butler's order, every patrolman is to be held personally responsible for the conditions on his beat.

GIRL ON "VACATION" FAINTS OF HUNGER.

A romantic vacation by Myrtle Burrows, 18 years old, began last Monday, with 90 cents in her pockets, no friends in the city, and without work or home, yesterday came to an abrupt ending when, weakened by three days' hunger and aimless tramping through the streets, she fainted at Fourth street and Grand avenue, and was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

The girl was turned over to the juvenile department and will be cared for by the police until some action can be taken in her case.

JAILED FOR DISLOYALTY.

Remarks Denouncing President Bring Man Trouncing and Ninety-day Sentence.

Disloyal remarks charged to Sam Jesky of No. 1589 Henry street, yesterday had their second echo in the Police Court, with the result that Jesky was found guilty of disturbing the peace and was sentenced by Police Judge Ray Chesebro to serve ninety days in jail or pay a fine of $200.

The first result of the alleged disloyal utterances charged to the prisoner was when W. M. Ponet, of No. 1539 San Pablo street, took exception to the statements made by Jesky and severely trounced him, was the testimony brought out at the trial. It was then that Jesky was charged with having rushed into his home and brandished several weapons. He was arrested on the charge of disturbing the peace, and after pleading guilty was given the
